Useful constructions/extensions: company event, public event, sporting event, social event, major event, current events, in the event of, in any event, in that event, event organizer, event venue, event-driven, event handler

Part of speech: mainly noun (名詞) / related adjective and adverb forms (相關形容詞及副詞)

Your passage contains:

> “One of the most challenging things I have ever done was giving a formal presentation in English at a company event last year.”

Meaning in this passage

Here, event means:

an organized occasion or activity that people attend, usually planned for a particular purpose, time, and place.

In your context, it was a company event involving:

- * around two hundred colleagues;
- * several senior managers;
- * a formal presentation;
- * a work-related setting.

Meaning: A planned occasion or activity organized for people to attend or participate in.

繁體中文: 為特定目的而預先安排、在指定時間及場合舉行，供一群人出席或參與的活動／場合

中文翻譯:

> “One of the most challenging things I have ever done was giving a formal presentation in English at a company event last year.”

「我做過其中一件最具挑戰性的事情，就是去年在一個公司活動上用英文作正式簡報。」

So:

company event = 公司為員工或相關人士安排的活動／場合

1. event = organized occasion/activity (有組織的活動) — 活動; 場合

This is the exact meaning used in your passage.

Meaning: A planned occasion at which people gather for a particular purpose.

Practice 1 — Original

> “I gave a formal presentation at a company event last year.”

「我去年在一個公司活動上作了正式簡報。」

Practice 2

> “The charity is organizing a fundraising event.”

「這個慈善機構正在籌辦一個籌款活動。」

Practice 3

> “More than five hundred people attended the event.”

「超過五百人出席了這個活動。」 event = 為某個目的而預先安排、讓一群人出席或參與的活動／場合

Common:

- * company event
- * corporate event
- * public event
- * social event
- * charity event
- * networking event

2. event = something that happens (發生的事情) — 事件; 事情

This is a broader core meaning.

「冠軍賽是今晚的*主賽／壓軸賽事*。」 main event = 一系列活動中最重要、最受期待或最核心的一項

This can be literal in sport or figurative elsewhere.

10. event = occurrence in a sequence(過程中的一次發生) — 一次事件; 一次發生

This sense is common in science, engineering, computing, and analysis.

Practice 20

> “Each failure was recorded as a separate event.”

「每次故障都被記錄為一個獨立*事件*。」

Practice 21

> “The system stores the time of every event.”

「系統會記錄每個事件發生的時間。」 event = 在某個系統、過程或時間序列中可以識別的一次獨立發生

11. event(computing) = detectable action/change (電腦系統事件) — 事件; 觸發動作

An important modern technical meaning.

Meaning: An action or change detected by software, such as a click, key press, message, or system change.

Practice 22

> “Clicking the button triggers an event.”

「按下按鈕會觸發一個事件。」

Practice 23

> “The application records user events such as logins and purchases.”

「應用程式會記錄登入、購買等使用者事件。」 event = 軟件或系統能偵測並作出反應的一次操作、訊息或狀態變化

Common examples:

- * click event
- * keyboard event
- * login event
- * system event

12. event handler(事件處理器) — 處理事件的程式／函式

A useful technology compound.

Practice 24

> “The developer added an event handler for the button.”

「開發人員為按鈕加入了一個事件處理器。」

Practice 25

> “The event handler runs whenever the user clicks the icon.”

「每當使用者按下圖示時，事件處理函式就會執行。」 event handler = 在特定電腦事件發生時自動執行相應操作的程式碼／函式

13. event-driven (事件驅動的) — 由事件觸發的

A common technology/system-design compound.

Practice 26

> “The application uses an event-driven architecture.”

「這個應用程式採用*事件驅動架構*。」

Practice 27

> “In an event-driven system, actions occur in response to specific events.”

「在*事件驅動系統*中，特定事件發生後才會觸發相應操作。」 event-driven = 系統行為主要由特定事件的發生來觸發和控制的

14. event (probability) = possible outcome/set of outcomes (概率事件) — 事件

An established mathematics/statistics meaning.

Practice 28

> “In probability, an event may contain several possible outcomes.”

「在概率論中，一個*事件*可以包含多個可能結果。」

Practice 29

> “The probability of the event occurring is 0.5.”

「這個事件發生的概率是 0.5。」 event = 在概率模型中, 由一個或多個可能結果構成、可以計算發生概率的情況

This is technical but important for academic learners.

15. in the event of + noun(如果發生.....) — 萬一; 如果發生

A very important fixed expression.

Practice 30

> “In the event of a fire, leave the building immediately.”

「萬一發生火警, 請立即離開大樓。」

Practice 31

> “In the event of technical problems, contact support.”

「如果發生技術問題, 請聯絡支援部門。」

in the event of + noun = 如果某個指定情況發生, 尤其常用於正式規則、合約或緊急指示

This is formal.

16. in the event that + clause(如果.....發生) — 如果; 萬一

Practice 32

> “In the event that the speaker is unavailable, another manager will present.”

「如果講者未能出席, 另一位經理會負責簡報。」

Practice 33

> “In the event that payment is delayed, a fee may apply.”

「如果付款延誤，可能需要支付費用。」

in the event that + clause = 假如後面所述情況真的發生

Formal equivalent of:

> if

17. in any event (無論如何) — 不管怎樣; 無論如何

A fixed expression where event no longer literally means an occasion.

Practice 34

> “I was nervous, but in any event, I had to give the presentation.”

「我雖然緊張，但無論如何，我都要完成簡報。」

Practice 35

> “The train may be delayed. In any event, we should leave early.”

「火車可能會延誤。無論如何，我們都應該提早出發。」 in any event = 無論其他情況如何，後面的事情仍然成立／應該進行

Slightly formal.

18. in that event (如果是那樣) — 如果情況如此; 那樣的話

Practice 36

> “The manager may cancel the meeting. In that event, we’ll reschedule it.”

「經理可能會取消會議。如果是那樣的話，我們會重新安排。」

Practice 37

> “If the equipment fails, we cannot continue. In that event, the presentation will be postponed.”

「如果設備故障，我們便無法繼續。那樣的話，簡報會延期。」 in that event = 如果剛才提到的那種情況真的出現

19. event organizer (活動主辦者) — 活動籌辦人／機構

Practice 38

> “The event organizer sent us the schedule.”

「*活動主辦方*把時間表傳給我們。」

Practice 39

> “Contact the event organizer if you need special equipment.”

「如果你需要特別設備，請聯絡*活動主辦人／主辦機構*。」 event organizer = 負責計劃、安排及管理某項活動的人／機構

20. event venue (活動場地) — 活動舉行地點

Practice 40

> “The event venue can hold three hundred people.”

「這個*活動場地*可以容納三百人。」

Practice 41

> “We arrived at the event venue early.”

「我們提早到達*活動場地*。」 event venue = 舉辦活動、典禮、會議或表演的指定地點

21. eventful = full of important/exciting happenings (多事的; 事情很多的) — 多事的; 充滿事情的

A useful derivative.

Practice 42

> “It was an eventful year for the company.”

「對公司來說，那是發生很多重要事情的一年。」

Practice 43

> “We had an eventful journey with delays, lost luggage, and a cancelled train.”

「那趟旅程發生了很多事情，包括延誤、行李遺失和火車取消。」 eventful = 在一段時間內發生很多重要、意外或值得注意事情的

It often suggests:

- * busy;
- * dramatic;
- * memorable.

Not necessarily positive.

22. uneventful = nothing important/unusual happened (平淡無事的) — 平安無事的; 沒甚麼特別的

The opposite of eventful.

Practice 44

> “The journey home was completely uneventful.”

「回家的旅程完全平安無事，沒有發生甚麼特別事情。」

Practice 45

> “After a stressful presentation, I was happy to have an uneventful evening.”

「完成令人緊張的簡報後，我很高興度過了一個平靜無事的晚上。」 uneventful = 沒有發生重大、意外或值得特別注意事情的

This often has a positive sense when trouble was possible.

23. eventual = happening/existing at the end of a process (最終的) — 最終的; 最後形成的

This related form is important because learners often incorrectly connect it with Chinese 「事件」.

Eventual does not normally mean “related to an event.”

Practice 46

> “Her eventual success came after years of practice.”

「她經過多年練習後才取得最終的成功。」

Practice 47

> “The project’s eventual outcome was better than expected.”

「項目的最終結果比預期好。」 eventual = 經過一段時間、過程或多個階段後最後出現的

24. eventually = in the end / after some time (最終; 終於) — 最後; 終於

A very common adverb.

Practice 48

> “I was nervous at first, but I eventually relaxed.”

「我一開始很緊張, 但最後／終於放鬆下來。」

Practice 49

> “After several attempts, the team eventually solved the problem.”

「經過幾次嘗試後, 團隊終於解決了問題。」 eventually = 經過一段時間、延誤或過程後, 某件事情最後發生

Important:

> eventually ≠ possibly and:

> eventually ≠ maybe

It means:

in the end / finally after time

Important distinction: event vs activity

These overlap, but not every activity is naturally an event.

activity

focuses on something people do.

> “Reading is a useful activity.”

「閱讀是一項有益的活動。」

event

often suggests:

- * a particular occasion;
- * a particular time/place;
- * people attending;
- * some planning or significance.

> “The company held a networking event.”

「公司舉行了一個人脈交流活動。」

So:

activity = 人進行的活動／事情

event = 特定時間、場合發生或舉辦的一次活動／事件

Important distinction: event vs occasion

These can overlap strongly.

event

often focuses on:

- * an organized activity;
- * an identifiable happening.

occasion

often focuses on:

- * a particular time;
- * a special circumstance;
- * a social situation.

Compare:

> “The awards ceremony was a major event.”

= 頒獎禮是一項重要活動。

> “I wore a suit for the occasion.”

= 我為那個場合穿了西裝。

So:

event = 活動／事件本身

occasion = 那個特定場合／時刻

Important distinction: event vs incident

Very important.

event

is neutral and broad.

It can be:

- * planned;
- * unplanned;
- * positive;
- * negative.

incident

usually refers to a particular occurrence, especially one that is:

- * unusual;
- * problematic;
- * unpleasant;
- * worth reporting.

Compare:

> “The company held an event.”

= 公司舉辦了一個活動。

> “There was a security incident at the event.”

= 活動上發生了一宗保安事故。

So:

event = 活動／事件, 語氣中性

incident = 某次具體事故／異常事情, 常帶問題意味

Important distinction: event vs accident

event

= any identifiable happening accident

= an unintended event that causes or may cause harm/damage

> “The accident was an unexpected event.”

「那宗意外是一件突發事件。」

But most events are not accidents.

Important distinction: event vs happening

event

is neutral and widely used in formal, professional, academic, and everyday English.

happening

can simply mean something that happens, but as a noun it is less common in ordinary neutral descriptions and may sometimes sound informal or refer to an artistic/social happening.

For learners:

event is usually the safer general noun for:

> 一事件／一項活動

Important distinction: company event vs company incident

This is especially relevant to your passage.

company event

= an organized activity connected with the company > presentation day, annual dinner, conference, staff gathering company incident

= a particular problematic/unusual occurrence involving the company

So your sentence definitely uses:

> event = organized occasion

not:

> incident = 事故／異常事件

Important distinction: sporting event vs sports event

Both occur.

sporting event

is very established and neutral.

sports event

is also common, especially in everyday and American English.

Both can mean:

體育賽事／活動

Important distinction: event = organized occasion vs event = occurrence

This is the core lexical distinction.

Organized occasion:

> “We attended a company event.”

= 我們出席了一個公司*活動*。

Occurrence:

> “The accident was a major event in his life.”

= 那宗意外是他人生中的一件重大事件。

In the first:

event is intentionally organized.

In the second:

event simply happened.

Important distinction: eventful vs eventual

These are easy to confuse but completely different.

eventful

= many important/notable things happened

> “It was an eventful week.”

= 那是*多事的一星期*。

eventual

= occurring in the end

> “The eventual result was positive.”

= *最終結果*是正面的。

So:

eventful = 事情很多的

eventual = 最終的

Important distinction: eventually vs finally

These overlap, but there is a nuance.

eventually often emphasizes:

> after some time/process/difficulty

> “I eventually became more confident.”

= 經過一段時間後，我終於／最後變得更有信心。 finally can mean:

1. after waiting/difficulty;
2. the last item in a sequence.

> “Finally, I thanked the audience.”

= 最後，我向觀眾道謝。

Eventually normally cannot introduce the final point in a list in the same way.

So:

eventually = 經過一段過程後終於

finally = 終於／最後一步

Important distinction: eventually vs possibly

A classic learner mistake.

eventually

> “He eventually agreed.”

= 他最後終於同意了。

It does not mean:

> 可能會同意

For possibility, use:

- * possibly
- * maybe
- * perhaps

Important distinction: in the event of vs if

if

is the normal everyday conditional word.

> “If there is a fire, leave immediately.”

in the event of

is more formal and often used in:

- * instructions;
- * contracts;
- * policies;
- * emergency procedures.

> “In the event of fire, leave immediately.”

Both can express 「如果發生……」, but register differs.

Important distinction: in any event vs anyway

Both can mean 「無論如何」.

in any event

more formal:

> “In any event, we must continue.”

anyway

very common in conversation:

> “Anyway, we have to continue.”

For professional writing, in any event can be useful, but anyway is more conversational.

Family-extension sweep

The practical event family includes several valuable branches:

- * event — organized occasion = 有組織的活動／場合
- * event — occurrence = 發生的事件／事情
- * major/historic event = 重大／歷史性事件
- * current events = 時事
- * social event = 社交活動
- * company event = 公司活動
- * sporting event = 體育賽事
- * event — competition category = 比賽項目
- * main event = 主要活動／重頭戲／主賽
- * event — system occurrence = 系統／過程中的一次事件
- * event — computing = 軟件可偵測並回應的事件
- * event handler = 事件處理器
- * event-driven = 事件驅動的
- * event — probability = 概率論中的事件
- * in the event of = 萬一／如果發生
- * in the event that = 如果……發生
- * in any event = 無論如何
- * in that event = 如果是那樣
- * event organizer = 活動主辦方
- * event venue = 活動場地
- * eventful = 多事的／發生很多事情的
- * uneventful = 平安無事／沒甚麼特別事情的
- * eventual = 最終的
- * eventually = 最後／終於

The most important semantic groups are:

> planned occasion

> something that happens

> competition item

> technical occurrence

> conditional fixed expressions

while eventual/eventually have developed into a distinct “final outcome after time” meaning.

eventually	經過一段時間、延誤或過程後某件事情最後發生；終於／最終

For your original passage

> “One of the most challenging things I have ever done was giving a formal presentation in English at a company event last year.”

The exact meaning is:

event = 為特定公司目的而預先安排, 讓員工、管理層或其他相關人士出席和參與的一次活動／場合

Therefore:

> company event

= 「由公司舉辦、與公司員工或業務有關的活動／場合」

In your context, it was clearly an organized event, because:

- * there was a large audience;
- * colleagues and senior managers attended;
- * you were representing your team;
- * you were scheduled to give a formal presentation;
- * the activity occurred at a specific company occasion.

So the key mapping is:

event = 預先安排並供人出席／參與的活動

not simply:

event = 任何發生的事情

The main learner contrast is therefore:

> a company event

> = 公司舉辦的一項活動

> a major historical event

> = 一件重大歷史事件

> a sporting event

> = 一項體育賽事

> the 100-metre event

> = 一百米比賽項目

> a computer event

> = 軟件／系統偵測到的一次事件

> in the event of fire

> = 萬一發生火警

And the related forms require particular care:

> eventful

> = 發生很多事情的／多事的

> uneventful

> = 平安無事、沒甚麼特別事情的

> eventual

> = 最終的

> eventually

> = 最後／終於

So eventual/eventually should never be interpreted simply as 「與事件有關的／事件地」; their modern meanings have developed into the idea of what happens at the end of a process.
