Meaning map

character has several major modern branches:

Personal qualities

a person's character

→ 性格；個性

Moral qualities

good character / strength of character

→ 品格；人格

Fictional person

a character in a novel

→ 角色；人物

Distinctive nature

the character of a place

→ 特色；特質

Typical behavior

in character / out of character

→ 符合 / 不符合一貫性格

Written symbol

a character in a password

→ 字元

These meanings can look very different in Chinese, so context is crucial.

Passage recap

> “...it shaped the way I see learning, confidence, and even character.”

Here:

character = the deeper personal and moral qualities that influence how a person behaves and makes choices

Best Traditional Chinese renderings:

* 品格

* 人格

* contextually sometimes 性格與品格

In this passage, 品格 is the strongest choice because the speaker is talking about deeper personal development, not just temperament.

MCQ-ready meaning
