

Absolutely — magic is a strong polysemy target because your passage uses it here:

> “Monet’s painting has a kind of quiet magic about it.”

Here magic is figurative. It means a special, hard-to-explain charm or emotional power, not literal supernatural power.

Word family: magic / magical / magically / magician

Base word: magic

Adjective: magical

Adverb: magically

Person noun: magician

Part of speech: noun (名詞) / adjective (形容詞)

Meaning in your passage: magic = special charm or emotional power — 魔力；魅力；迷人感染力

Your sentence:

> “Monet’s painting has a kind of quiet magic about it.”

Here magic means:

> a special quality that makes something feel unusually beautiful, moving, charming, or emotionally powerful in a way that is difficult to explain.

繁體中文：

一種難以完全解釋、卻能讓人感到特別迷人、動人或有感染力的魅力；魔力

Natural translation:

> “Monet’s painting has a kind of quiet magic about it.”

「Monet 的畫有一種安靜而迷人的魔力。」

So here:

> magic = 難以言喻的魅力 / 感染力

1. magic = supernatural power — 魔法；魔力

The core literal meaning.

magician — figurative = 在某領域技巧極高，能做出令人驚嘆效果的人

Important distinction: magic vs magical

magic

can be:

* noun: 魔法 / 魔術 / 魔力

* attributive adjective-like modifier: magic wand

magical

true adjective:

* magical powers

* magical evening

Compare:

> magic trick

> = 魔術把戲

> magical experience

> = 奇妙 / 夢幻體驗

Important distinction: magic vs miracle

magic

may be:

* supernatural

* stage illusion

* figurative charm

miracle

= extraordinary event believed to defy normal explanation, often religious or simply extremely fortunate.

> magic trick

> = 魔術

> medical miracle

> = 醫學奇蹟

Not interchangeable.

Important distinction: magic vs charm

charm

= attractive quality that makes someone/something pleasant or appealing.

= stronger figurative sense of mysterious, hard-to-explain charm.

> “The village has charm.”

= 村莊很有魅力。

> “The village has magic.”

= 村莊有一種難以言喻、近乎夢幻的魅力。

Important distinction: magic vs mystery

magic

= special power/charm/effect.

mystery

= something difficult or impossible to explain/understand.

Something may feel magical because it is mysterious, but they are not the same concept.

Important distinction: magic vs magical in your passage

Your source says:

> “a kind of quiet magic”

This is a noun:

> 一種安靜的魔力 / 魅力

If rewritten:

> “The painting feels magical.”

Then magical is an adjective:

> 這幅畫感覺很夢幻 / 有魔力。

Important distinction: magic — supernatural vs stage entertainment

Supernatural:

> “She used magic.”

= 她使用魔法。

Entertainment:

> “He performs magic.”

= 他表演魔術。

Chinese must distinguish:

* 魔法

* 魔術

Very important.

Important distinction: magic — literal vs figurative

Literal:

> “a magic spell”

= 魔法咒語

Figurative:

> “the magic of the painting”

= 畫作的魅力 / 魔力

In your Monet passage, it is firmly figurative.

Important distinction: magic solution vs effective solution

effective solution

= actually works well.

magic solution

= imagined as instantly solving a difficult problem with little effort.

Often used negatively:

> “There is no magic solution.”

= 沒有一招就能解決的萬靈方法。

So magic can carry skepticism in this pattern.

Important distinction: magician vs wizard

magician

usually:

- * stage performer;
- * figuratively a highly skilled person.

wizard

usually:

- * fictional person with supernatural magical powers;
- * informally, an expert.

So:

- > magician at a party = 魔術師
- > wizard in fantasy = 魔法師 / 巫師

Family-extension sweep

After the full audit, the useful modern family includes:

- * magic — supernatural power = 魔法 / 魔力
- * magic — supernatural practice = 魔法術 / 巫術
- * magic — stage entertainment = 魔術
- * magic — figurative charm = 魔力 / 魅力
- * magic — wonderful atmosphere = 奇妙感 / 夢幻感
- * magic — remarkable effect = 神奇效果 / 奇效
- * magic + noun = 魔法的 / 神奇的
- * magic solution/formula = 神奇解法 / 萬靈方法
- * magic number = 關鍵數字
- * magic bullet = 萬靈丹式解決方法
- * magical — supernatural = 魔法的
- * magical — figurative = 奇妙的 / 夢幻的

* magically = 神奇地 / 奇妙地
* magician — performer = 魔術師
* magician — figurative expert = 高手 / 能手
