Meaning in this passage

Here, notes means short written records of important information, especially information written during a lesson, lecture, meeting, or while studying.

繁體中文 :  把重要資料、重點或內容簡短記錄下來的文字；筆記

*中文翻譯 : ****

> “...he quietly shared his notes with me...”

「.....他靜靜地把自己的*筆記*給我看.....」

Here:

class notes = 上課時記下的重點、資料或內容

1. note = short written record (筆記) — 筆記；記錄

This is the meaning used in your passage.

Meaning: A short written record made to help you remember information, especially during study, work, or discussion.

Practice 1 — Original

> “He quietly shared his notes with me.”

「他靜靜地把自己的*筆記*給我看。」

Practice 2

> “I took notes during the lesson.”

「我上課時做了筆記。」

Practice 3

note = 為了記住資料、重點或內容而寫下的簡短記錄

Common:

- * class notes

- * review notes

These belong to one central written-record sense.

2. note = short written message (留言 / 便條) — 便條；短訊；簡短書面訊息

A note can also mean a short written message to another person.

> “She left a note on the kitchen table.”

「她在廚房桌上留了一張便條。」

Practice 5

> “I sent him a quick note to say thank you.”

「我給他寫了一則簡短留言 / 短訊向他道謝。」 note = 寫給某人的簡短書面訊息

This is close to Meaning 1 because both are short pieces of writing, but the purpose changes:

* notes → record information for yourself or others

* a note → communicate a short message

For learner clarity, I would keep them separate.

3. note = explanatory/commentary remark in writing (註解) — 註釋 ; 附註 ; 說明

Note can mean an explanatory remark added to a document, book, form, chart, etc.

Practice 6

> “Please read the note at the bottom of the page.”

「請閱讀頁底的附註 / 說明。」

Practice 7

> “The report includes a note explaining the figures.”

「報告附有一則註解，說明那些數字。」

note = 為補充、解釋或提醒而附加在文字、文件或資料旁的簡短說明

Common:

* footnote

This is another important written-information sense.

4. note = particular sound in music (音樂) — 音 ; 音符

This is a genuinely different noun meaning.

Practice 8

> “She played the wrong note.”

「她彈錯了一個音 / 音符。」

Practice 9

> “The song begins with a high note.”

「這首歌以一個高音開始。」

note = 音樂中具有特定音高的一個聲音，亦可指代表該聲音的音符

This is clearly distinct from written notes.

5. note = quality/tone in a voice, smell, taste, etc. (特徵 / 調子) — 調子；氣息；風味

Note can figuratively mean a particular quality or element that can be noticed in something.

note = 在聲音、氣味、味道、情緒或風格中可察覺的一種特定成分或特色

Common:

- * note of sadness
- * note of caution
- * floral note
- * citrus note

This develops metaphorically from the musical idea of a distinct element.

6. note = money/banknote (鈔票) — 紙幣；鈔票

In British English especially, note can mean a banknote.

Practice 12

> “He paid with a twenty-pound note.”

Note can also mean to state or record something, often formally or in writing.

> “The report notes several weaknesses in the system.”

「報告指出 / 記錄了系統中的幾個弱點。」

Practice 17

> “The form notes that identification is required.”

「表格註明*需要身分證明文件。」

note = 把某個事實正式寫下、指出或記錄在文件 / 討論中

For strict counting, I would merge this with Meaning 7 under the broader concept:

> notice and mark/record something as important

9. of note / noteworthy (值得注意) — 值得注意；重要

A useful fixed expression is of note.

Practice 18

> “Nothing of particular note happened.”

「沒有發生甚麼特別值得注意的事情。」

Practice 19

> “She is a scientist of considerable note.”

「她是一位相當著名 / 重要的科學家。」

Related form: notably

Related form: notation

Practice 24

> “The formula is written in scientific notation.”

「這條公式以科學記數法寫成。」

notation = 用一套固定符號來表示音樂、數學、科學等資訊的方法 / 系統

This is a useful lexical relative, but it is not simply another meaning of bare note.

The Golden Manual says family extensions should be included generously where useful, while being clearly distinguished from the base word's actual senses.

Important distinction: note vs notes

This is especially relevant to your passage.

a note

often means:

- * a short message
- * an explanatory remark
- * one musical sound
- * one banknote

notes

often means:

- * study/lesson/meeting records

> "I wrote a note."

often means a short message.

> "I took notes."

means I recorded important information.

Important distinction: note vs message

note

often suggests a short written message.

message

is broader and may be:

- * spoken
- * written

* digital
* recorded

> leave a note

usually implies something written.

> leave a message

does not.

Important distinction: note vs remark remark

is something someone says or writes as a comment.

note

can be a written record, annotation, or formal observation.

> “He made a remark.”

= 他說了一句評論。

> “He made a note.”

= 他記下了一點資料。

Very different actions.

Important distinction: note vs notice

These can overlap as verbs.

notice

= become aware of something, often naturally

note

= notice something with a little more deliberate attention, or formally point it out

> “I noticed a mistake.”

ordinary.

> “Please note the deadline.”

more formal and directive.

Important distinction: note vs record record

emphasizes preserving information systematically.

note

often emphasizes briefly writing down or pointing out something important.

> “The system records every transaction.”

> “I noted the main points.”

So record is broader and often more formal/systematic.

Important distinction: note vs tone

This matters in expressions like:

> a note of sadness

note

= one identifiable quality or element

tone

= the overall emotional or stylistic quality

> “There was a note of anger in his voice.”

= anger was one detectable element.

> “His tone was angry.”

= the overall manner sounded angry.

Useful expression: take notes — 做筆記

Practice 25

> “Students should take notes during the lesson.”

「學生上課時應該做筆記。」

Practice 26

> “I took detailed notes during the meeting.”

「我在會議期間做了詳細筆記。」

take notes = 把重要資料或重點寫下來

This belongs directly to Meaning 1.

Useful expression: make a note of something — 記下

Practice 27

> “Make a note of the address.”

「把地址記下來。」

Practice 28

> “I made a note of her phone number.”

「我把她的電話號碼記了下來。」

make a note of something = 把某項資料簡短寫下以免忘記

Useful expression: please note — 請注意

Practice 29

> “Please note that the office closes at five.”

「請注意辦公室五點關門。」

Practice 30

> “Please note the following changes.”

「請留意以下改動。」

This belongs to the verb notice/pay attention sense.

Family-extension note

The practical modern family includes:

- * note
- * notes
- * noted
- * noting
- * notable
- * notably
- * notation

Useful constructions and compounds include:

- * take notes
- * class notes
- * leave a note
- * make a note of
- * explanatory note
- * musical note
- * banknote
- * note of sadness
- * please note
- * of note

The Golden Manual requires a second pass both to catch missed uses and to merge artificial overlaps; note is a good example because many surface contexts collapse into a smaller set of core concepts.

For your original sentence

> "...he quietly shared his notes with me during recess..."

The exact meaning is:

notes = 上課或學習期間把重要內容、重點和資料記下來的文字記錄

So:

> share his notes with me

= 把他的課堂筆記給我看 / 讓我參考

For your database, I would count 7 genuinely useful core meanings for note:

1. short written record / study notes
2. short written message
3. explanatory annotation
4. musical note
5. a distinct quality or element — a note of sadness / citrus note
6. banknote
7. verb — notice, point out, or record something

I would merge formal note = state/record into #7, and keep take notes, make a note of, please note, of note as important constructions rather than inflate the core count.
