

Absolutely — ready is a strong target because your passage uses it in:

> “Whenever her tomatoes or lemons are ready, she gives some to neighbours and relatives...”

Here ready means ripe / suitable to be picked or used, but the word also covers preparedness, willingness, immediate availability, suitability for use, being finished, and several important fixed patterns.

Word family: ready / readily / readiness

Base word: ready

Comparative: readier

Superlative: readiest

Adverb: readily

Noun: readiness

Part of speech: adjective (形容詞) / limited verb use (較少見動詞用法)

Your sentence:

> “Whenever her tomatoes or lemons are ready, she gives some to neighbours and relatives.”

Meaning in your passage: ready = ripe / suitable to harvest or use — 成熟可採收的；可以用了的

Here ready means:

> having reached the stage when the fruit is mature enough to be picked, eaten, or used.

繁體中文：

已經成熟到可以採收、食用或使用的階段

Natural translation:

> “Whenever her tomatoes or lemons are ready...”

「每當她的番茄或檸檬成熟可以採收時.....」

So here:

> ready = 成熟可收成 / 可以使用

1. ready = prepared for action (準備好) — 準備好的

The core everyday meaning.

Practice 1

> “I’m ready to leave.”

「我已經準備好出發了。」

Practice 2

> “Are you ready for the meeting?”

「你已經準備好開會了嗎？」

ready = 已完成必要準備，可以立即開始某個行動 / 活動

Common patterns:

* ready to + verb

* ready for + noun

2. ready = prepared mentally/emotionally (心理) — 已做好心理準備的

A common extension.

Practice 3

> “She wasn’t ready to talk about the problem.”

「她還沒有做好心理準備談這個問題。」

Practice 4

> “He finally felt ready for a new challenge.”

「他終於覺得自己已經準備好迎接新挑戰。」 ready = 心理上已經能夠接受、面對或處理某件事情

3. ready = willing / inclined to do something (意願) — 願意的；樂意的

A major figurative use.

Practice 5

> “She is always ready to help.”

「她總是樂意幫忙。」

Practice 6

> “He was ready to admit his mistake.”

「他願意承認自己的錯誤。」 ready to do something = 願意並準備採取某個行動

Depending on context, it can emphasize:

* preparedness

* willingness

4. ready = likely / quick to do something (傾向) — 動不動就 ; 很容易就.....

A subtler pattern.

Practice 7

> “He is too ready to criticize others.”

「他太容易 / 動不動就批評別人。」

Practice 8

> “She is always ready with an excuse.”

「她總是很快就有藉口。」

ready to / ready with = 很容易、很快就作出某種反應或提供某物

This can carry a mildly critical tone.

5. ready = available for immediate use (可立即使用) — 備妥的 ; 隨時可用的

Practice 9

> “The room is ready for the guests.”

「房間已經準備妥當，可以給客人使用。」

Practice 10

> “Dinner is ready.”

「晚餐準備好了 / 可以吃了。」 ready = 已經完成準備，可以立即被使用、享用或投入運作。

6. ready = finished / completed (完成) — 做好了；完成的。

Practice 11

> “Your report is ready.”

「你的報告已經完成 / 準備好了。」

Practice 12

> “The final version should be ready tomorrow.”

「最終版本明天應該會完成。」 ready = 某項工作 / 產品已完成，能交付或使用。

This overlaps with #5 but emphasizes completion.

7. ready = ripe / mature enough (食物 / 農作物) — 成熟可採收 / 食用的。

This is your exact source sense.

Practice 13 — Original

> “Whenever her tomatoes or lemons are ready, she gives some away.”

「每當她的番茄或檸檬成熟可以採收時，她就會送一些給別人。」

Practice 14

> “The strawberries are nearly ready.”

「草莓差不多成熟可以採了。」

Practice 15

> “These peppers aren’t ready yet.”

「這些辣椒還未成熟 / 未到可以採收的時候。」 ready — produce = 已達到可以採收、食用或使用的成熟階段

This is contextually close to ripe, but not identical in every case.

8. ready = fit/suitable for use (適合使用) — 可以用了 ; 已達可用狀態

Broader than fruit.

Practice 16

> “The paint is dry and the wall is ready.”

「油漆已乾，牆面可以使用 / 可以進行下一步了。」

Practice 17

> “The soil is ready for planting.”

「土壤已經適合種植 / 準備好播種。」 ready = 已達到可開始下一階段或可被使用的狀態

9. ready = available at once (立即可得) — 現成的 ; 隨手可得的

A useful noun-modifier meaning.

Practice 18

> “We need a ready supply of clean water.”

「我們需要隨時可取得的清潔用水供應。」

Practice 19

> “She had ready access to fresh vegetables.”

「她可以方便而立即地取得新鮮蔬菜。」 ready + noun = 可以很快 / 立即取得或使用的

Common:

* ready access

* ready supply

* ready source

10. ready-made = already made / prepared (現成) — 現成的 ; 預製的

A very useful lexical extension.

Practice 20

> “They bought ready-made curtains.”

「他們買了現成的窗簾。」

Practice 21

> “The shop sells ready-made meals.”

「這間店出售預先做好的即食餐點。」 ready-made = 已經製作完成，不需要特別訂製或重新準備的

Figuratively:

> ready-made excuse

> = 現成藉口

11. ready-to-eat / ready-to-use (產品) — 即食的 ; 即用的

Practice 22

> “These vegetables are washed and ready to eat.”

「這些蔬菜已洗淨，可以直接食用。」

Practice 23

> “The software comes ready to use.”

「這套軟件安裝後便可以直接使用。」 ready to eat/use = 不需要進一步主要準備即可食用 / 使用

12. get ready (固定搭配) — 準備好；作準備

This is highly common, though not a separate lexical meaning.

Practice 24

> “We need to get ready for the trip.”

「我們需要為旅程做好準備。」

Practice 25

> “She got ready quickly.”

「她很快便準備好了。」 get ready = 使自己 / 某事進入準備完成的狀態

13. ready when you are (口語) — 你準備好我就可以開始

A useful conversational expression.

Practice 26

> “I’m ready when you are.”

「你準備好，我隨時可以開始。」

Practice 27

> “Ready when you are — just give me the signal.”

「你準備好就行，給我訊號我就開始。」 ready when you are = 我已經準備好，等你就可以開始

14. at the ready (正式 / 固定) — 隨時準備使用；蓄勢待發

Practice 28

> “The staff kept emergency equipment at the ready.”

「員工把緊急設備*準備在手，隨時可用*。」

Practice 29

> “She stood with her camera at the ready.”

「她拿著相機*隨時準備拍攝*。」 at the ready = 已擺在方便位置，可以立即使用 / 行動

15. ready cash / ready money (金融 / 較正式) — 現金；可立即動用的資金

A classic but still useful expression.

Practice 30

> “They did not have enough ready cash.”

「他們沒有足夠的*現金 / 可立即動用的資金*。」

Practice 31

> “He sold the item because he needed ready money.”

「他因為需要*現金*而把那件物品賣掉。」 ready cash/money = 可以立即使用的現金，而不是被鎖定在其他資產中的資金

Register: somewhat formal/older, but still established.

16. readily = willingly (樂意地) — 樂意地 ; 欣然地

A major related adverb.

Practice 32

> “She readily agreed to help.”

「她欣然 / 樂意地答應幫忙。」

Practice 33

> “He readily admitted the mistake.”

「他爽快地承認了錯誤。」 readily = 願意而不抗拒地

17. readily = easily / without difficulty (容易地) — 容易地 ; 輕易地

Another important meaning of readily.

Practice 34

> “The information is readily available online.”

「這些資料在網上很容易找到。」

Practice 35

> “Water is readily absorbed by the soil.”

「水很容易被土壤吸收。」 readily = 很容易、沒有太大困難地

This meaning is extremely common in academic/formal English.

18. readiness = state of being prepared (準備狀態) — 準備就緒；準備程度

Practice 36

> “The team checked its readiness for the event.”

「團隊檢查了為活動所作的準備程度。」

Practice 37

> “Emergency readiness is essential.”

「應急準備非常重要。」 readiness = 已準備好採取行動的狀態或程度

19. readiness = willingness (意願) — 願意；積極態度

Practice 38

> “Her readiness to help impressed everyone.”

「她樂於助人的態度 / 願意幫忙的意願令大家印象深刻。」

Practice 39

> “He showed a readiness to learn.”

「他表現出願意學習的態度。」 readiness to do something = 願意、樂於採取某個行動的態度

Important distinction: ready vs prepared

ready broader, more everyday:

= ready in practical, emotional, physical, or usable sense.

prepared

emphasizes prior preparation.

> “I’m ready.”

= 我準備好了。

> “I’m well prepared.”

= 我事前準備得很充分。

Someone can feel ready even without extensive preparation.

Important distinction: ready vs ripe

Directly relevant to your passage.

ripe

specifically:

fruit/crops have reached biological maturity suitable for eating/harvesting.

ready

broader:

suitable to be picked, eaten, used, or moved to the next stage.

> “The lemons are ripe.”

= 檸檬成熟了。

> “The lemons are ready.”

= 檸檬已經可以採收 / 用了。

So in your sentence, ready emphasizes practical readiness for harvesting/giving away, not just biological ripeness.

Important distinction: ready vs finished finished

= no more work remains.

ready

= can now be used, delivered, eaten, started, etc.

> “The cake is finished.”

could mean:

* the cake has been completed;

* or the cake is all eaten, depending on context.

> “The cake is ready.”

clearly:

= 蛋糕做好了 / 可以吃了。

Important distinction: ready vs available

ready

= prepared and usable now.

available

= obtainable / free to be used.

> “The room is available.”

= 房間目前可以預訂 / 使用。

> “The room is ready.”

= 房間已整理好，可以入住 / 使用。

Different emphasis.

Important distinction: ready vs willing willing

= 願意做

ready

can mean either:

* prepared;

* willing.

> “I’m willing to help.”

= 我願意幫忙。

> “I’m ready to help.”

can mean:

= 我願意幫忙，而且已經可以行動。

So ready often combines willingness + preparedness.

Important distinction: ready vs eager

ready

= prepared/willing.

eager

= very enthusiastic and wanting to do something.

> “She is ready to start.”

neutral preparedness.

> “She is eager to start.”

= 她非常期待 / 迫不及待開始。

Important distinction: ready vs set

In:

> Ready, set, go!

* ready = 準備好
* set = 就位 / 預備 * go = 開始

In American English, all set can also mean:

> fully ready

Example:

> “I’m all set.”

= 我都準備好了。

Important distinction: readily vs ready

ready

adjective:

> “The food is ready.”

readily

adverb:

> “She readily agreed.”

Do not say:

> She ready agreed. ❌

Important distinction: readily available

This is a particularly useful academic collocation.

> readily available

does not mean:

> 「已經準備好的可用」

It means:

> 很容易取得 / 很容易找到

That is a separate readily = easily meaning.

Family-extension sweep

After the full audit, the useful modern family includes:

- * ready — prepared = 準備好的
- * ready — psychologically prepared = 做好心理準備的
- * ready — willing = 願意的
- * ready — quick/inclined to react = 很容易 / 很快就.....
- * ready — immediately usable = 備妥可用的
- * ready — completed = 完成的
- * ready — produce = 成熟可採收 / 可食用的
- * ready — suitable for next stage = 已達可用狀態
- * ready + noun = 隨時可取得 / 可用的
- * ready-made = 現成 / 預製的
- * ready-to-eat/use = 即食 / 即用
- * get ready = 做好準備
- * ready when you are = 你準備好我就可以開始
- * at the ready = 隨時準備使用
- * ready cash/money = 現金 / 可立即動用資金
- * readily — willingly = 樂意地
- * readily — easily = 容易地
- * readiness — preparedness = 準備程度
- * readiness — willingness = 願意採取行動的態度

This is close to the useful modern ceiling without forcing obscure historical verb senses.

Master comparison

Form / sense	MCQ-ready Traditional Chinese meaning
-----	-----
ready — prepared	已完成必要準備，可以立即開始某項行動 / 活動
ready — psychological	心理上已能夠接受、面對或處理某事 ready — willing	願意並準備採取某項行動
ready — inclined/quick	很容易、很快就作出某種反應或提供某物
ready — usable	已經準備妥當，可以立即被使用、享用或投入運作
ready — completed	某項工作 / 產品已完成並可以交付或使用

ready — produce	已成熟到可以採收、食用或使用的階段
ready — suitable for next stage	已達到可以開始下一階段或投入使用的狀態
ready + noun	可以很快 / 立即取得、使用或接觸到的
ready-made	已經製作完成、不需特別訂製或重新準備的
ready-to-eat/use	不需要主要額外準備便可直接食用 / 使用的
at the ready	放在方便位置，隨時可立即使用 / 行動
ready cash/money	可以立即動用的現金
readily — willingly	願意而不抗拒地；欣然地
readily — easily	很容易、沒有太大困難地
readiness — preparedness	已準備好採取行動的狀態 / 程度
readiness — willingness	願意、樂於採取某項行動的態度

For your original sentence

> “Whenever her tomatoes or lemons are ready, she gives some to neighbours and relatives.”

The exact meaning is:

ready = 番茄或檸檬已經成熟到可以採收、食用並送給別人的階段

So naturally:

> 「每當她的番茄或檸檬成熟可以採收時，她就會送一些給鄰居和親戚。」

The highest-value contrasts are:

- > ready to leave → 準備好出發
- > ready to help → 願意 / 準備幫忙
- > dinner is ready → 晚餐做好了
- > fruit is ready → 水果成熟可採收
- > ready-made → 現成的
- > readily available → 很容易取得
- > readiness → 準備程度 / 意願