

Absolutely — here is the fully redone version of *remind, this time including the previously omitted warning-like / reproachful / forceful reminder uses, plus a more complete sweep of the family and grammar patterns.

Word family: remind / reminder

Base word: remind

Verb forms: remind, reminds, reminded, reminding

Related noun: reminder

Part of speech: verb (動詞) / noun (名詞)

Your source sentence:

> "...and remind me to slow down once in a while."

Meaning in your passage: remind + someone + to do = 提醒某人做某事

Here remind means:

> to cause someone to remember that they should do something.

繁體中文：

令某人記得應該做某件事；提醒某人做某事

Natural translation:

> "...remind me to slow down once in a while."

「.....提醒我偶爾要放慢腳步。」

So here:

> remind someone to do = 提醒某人記得做某事

1. remind + someone + to do = 提醒某人做.....

This is your exact source pattern.

Practice 1 — Original

> "The painting would remind me to slow down."

「這幅畫會提醒我放慢腳步。」

Practice 2

> “Please remind me to call the museum tomorrow.”

「請提醒我明天打電話給博物館。」

Practice 3

> “She reminded him to bring the tickets.”

「她提醒他帶票。」

remind someone to do = 使某人記得應該完成某個動作

2. remind + someone + that... = 提醒某人.....；使某人記起某事實

Practice 4

> “She reminded me that the museum closes at six.”

「她提醒我博物館六點關門。」

Practice 5

> “Let me remind you that this is the original.”

「讓我提醒你，這是原作。」

remind someone that... = 讓某人重新注意 / 記起某個已知或重要事實

3. remind + someone + about + noun = 提醒某人某件事

Practice 6

> “Please remind me about the exhibition.”

「請提醒我那個展覽的事。」

Practice 7

> “He reminded her about the appointment.”

「他提醒她預約的事。」

remind someone about X = 提醒某人不要忘記某個安排、責任或待辦事項

4. remind + someone + of + person/thing = 令某人想起.....

A major distinct meaning.

Practice 8

> “The colours remind me of Monet’s garden.”

「那些色彩令我想起 Monet 的花園。」

Practice 9

> “That song reminds me of my childhood.”

「那首歌令我想起童年。」

remind someone of X = 因相似、聯想或記憶關係而令某人想起 X

This is not the same as:

> remind someone to do something

5. remind + someone + of + person = 令某人聯想到某人；讓人覺得像某人

A resemblance/association use.

Practice 10

> “You remind me of your sister.”

「你令我想起你姐姐 / 你有點像你姐姐。」

Practice 11

> “His style reminds me of an older painter.”

「他的風格令我聯想到一位較早期的畫家。」

remind someone of = 因外表、風格、性格或氣質相似而令人聯想到另一人 / 物

6. be reminded of = 被勾起對.....的回憶；想起.....

Practice 12

> “I was reminded of my school days.”

「我想起了 / 被勾起了學生時代的回憶。」

Practice 13

> “Looking at the painting, she was reminded of home.”

「看著那幅畫，她想起了家。」

be reminded of X = 因外在刺激而重新想起 X

7. remind = bring a rule/duty/fact back to someone's attention — 再次提醒；重申

A broader formal use.

Practice 14

> “The notice reminds visitors not to touch the paintings.”

「告示提醒訪客不要觸碰畫作。」

Practice 15

> “The teacher reminded the class of the rules.”

「老師再次提醒全班規則。」 remind = 把規則、責任、事實或重點再次帶回某人的注意力

8. remind someone of their duty/responsibility = 提醒某人其責任 / 義務

A high-value formal/forceful use.

Practice 16

> “The manager reminded staff of their responsibilities.”

「經理提醒員工他們的責任。」

Practice 17

> “He was reminded of his duty to report the problem.”

「有人提醒他有責任報告這個問題。」

remind someone of a duty/responsibility = 讓某人再次意識到其應履行的義務

This can sound neutral, formal, or mildly reproachful depending on tone.

9. remind someone firmly = 嚴肅提醒；帶責備意味地提醒

This is where remind begins to overlap pragmatically with warn, although the lexical meaning is still “提醒”.

Practice 18

> “She reminded him firmly that the deadline had already passed.”

「她嚴肅地提醒他截止日期早已過了。」

Practice 19

> “The supervisor reminded everyone that repeated lateness would not be accepted.”

「主管嚴正提醒大家，屢次遲到是不會被接受的。」 remind — forceful = 用較嚴厲的語氣把規則、責任或後果再次帶回對方注意力

This can function like a warning in context.

10. Do I need to remind you...? / Need I remind you...? = 還需要我提醒你……嗎？

A very important omitted use.

This often expresses:

- * reproach
- * impatience
- * criticism
- * implied warning

Practice 20

> “Do I need to remind you what happened last time?”

「還需要我提醒你上次發生了甚麼嗎？」

Practice 21

> “Need I remind you that this is your responsibility?”

「還需要我提醒你這是你的責任嗎？」

Do I need to remind you...? = 說話者認為對方本來就應該知道 / 記得，語氣常帶責備或警告

This is stronger than a neutral reminder.

11. Don't make me remind you again = 別逼我再提醒你一次

Another important forceful use.

Practice 22

> “Don't make me remind you again about the deadline.”

「別逼我再提醒你一次截止日期的事。」

Practice 23

> “Don't make me remind you again to follow the rules.”

「別讓我還要再提醒你一次要遵守規則。」

Don't make me remind you again = 對方已被提醒過，說話者表達不耐煩，並可能暗示再犯會有後果

This can function pragmatically as a warning.

12. Don't let me have to remind you... / Don't let me remind you again... = 別讓我還要提醒你.....

This is possible, though Don't make me remind you again is often more natural if the tone is forceful.

Practice 24

> “Don't let me have to remind you again.”

「別讓我還要再提醒你一次。」

Practice 25

> “Don't let me remind you again about your responsibilities.”

「別讓我還要再提醒你你的責任。」

don't let me remind you again = 你最好自己記得；別再讓我需要提醒

Tone:

- * reproachful
- * parental/managerial
- * potentially warning-like

13. Let me remind you... = 讓我提醒你.....

This can be neutral, but often becomes rhetorically forceful.

Practice 26

> “Let me remind you that you agreed to these terms.”

「讓我提醒你，你已同意這些條款。」

Practice 27

> “Let me remind you who made the final decision.”

「讓我提醒你一下，最後是誰作出決定的。」

Let me remind you... = 再次指出一個你應該知道 / 記得的重要事實

Depending on tone, it can be:

- * neutral
- * corrective
- * confrontational

14. I must remind you... = 我必須提醒你.....

A formal, often serious use.

Practice 28

> “I must remind you that photography is not allowed.”

「我必須*提醒你*，這裡禁止拍照。」

Practice 29

> “I must remind you of the consequences of breaking the agreement.”

「我必須*提醒你*違反協議的後果。」

I must remind you... = 正式而嚴肅地再次提醒某規則、責任或後果

This often approaches warn pragmatically.

15. remind someone of the consequences = 提醒某人後果

This is one of the clearest warning-adjacent uses.

Practice 30

> “He reminded them of the consequences of ignoring the rule.”

「他*提醒他們忽視規則的後果*。」

Practice 31

> “The notice reminds users of the risks involved.”

「告示提醒使用者相關風險。」

remind someone of consequences/risks = 把已知或可預見的不良後果再次帶到對方注意力

This may function as a warning, but remind still means “提醒”.

16. remind someone who/what they are / where they stand = 使某人記起其身分 / 處境

A more rhetorical or figurative use.

Practice 32

> “The experience reminded him who he was.”

「這次經歷讓他重新想起自己是誰 / 找回自己。」

Practice 33

> “The defeat reminded the team where they stood.”

「這次失敗讓球隊重新認清自己的處境。」 remind = 使某人重新意識到自己的身份、位置、處境或現實

17. remind oneself = 提醒自己 ; 讓自己記得

A useful reflexive use.

Practice 34

> “I had to remind myself to slow down.”

「我得提醒自己放慢腳步。」

Practice 35

> “She reminded herself that mistakes are normal.”

「她提醒自己犯錯是正常的。」 remind oneself = 主動讓自己記住某件事 / 某個觀念

This is especially relevant to your source meaning.

18. remind someone how/why/what... = 使某人重新想起 / 意識到.....

A useful wh-clause pattern.

Practice 36

> “The painting reminded me how much I enjoy quiet spaces.”

「這幅畫讓我重新想起 / 意識到自己多麼喜歡安靜的空間。」

Practice 37

> “The trip reminded her why she loved the city.”

「這趟旅程讓她重新想起為甚麼她喜歡這座城市。」

remind someone + wh-clause = 讓某人重新想起某個原因、方式、事實或感受

19. reminder = message/tool that helps you remember — 提醒；提醒通知

A major noun meaning.

Practice 38

> “I set a reminder on my phone.”

「我在手機上設定了一個提醒。」

Practice 39

> “The calendar sends me a reminder before the event.”

「行事曆會在活動前傳送提醒通知。」 reminder = 幫助某人記得某事的訊息、提示或工具

20. reminder = thing that makes you remember a person/event — 勾起回憶的事物

Practice 40

> “The old photograph is a reminder of our trip.”

「那張舊照片會勾起我們那趟旅程的回憶。」

Practice 41

> “The painting serves as a reminder of calmer times.”

「這幅畫讓人想起較平靜的時光。」 reminder = 會令人回想起某人、地方、事件或經歷的事物

21. reminder = notice about deadline/duty — 提醒通知；催辦通知

Practice 42

> “This is a reminder that payment is due tomorrow.”

「這是一則提醒通知：付款明天到期。」

Practice 43

> “The school sent a reminder about the deadline.”

「學校發了一則關於截止日期的提醒。」 reminder = 用來提醒某項安排、責任、期限或待辦事項的通知

22. reminder = warning-like notice — 警示式提醒；告誡

This was one of the main omitted ideas.

Practice 44

> “The sign serves as a reminder that the area can be dangerous.”

「這個標誌起到一個警示提醒的作用：該區域可能有危險。」

Practice 45

> “The accident was a painful reminder of the risks involved.”

「這宗意外是一個令人痛心的警示 / 提醒，讓人再次意識到相關風險。」 reminder = 某事件 / 訊息讓人重新意識到危險、風險或後果

This can be very close to:

> warning

but the nuance is usually:

> 「再次讓你記起 / 意識到」

> rather than directly:

> 「預先警告你危險」

23. a stark / painful / sobering reminder = 強烈 / 痛苦 / 令人警醒的提醒

A very common figurative pattern.

Practice 46

> “The damage was a stark reminder of how fragile the painting was.”

「這次損壞是一個*強烈的警醒*，提醒人們這幅畫有多脆弱。」

Practice 47

> “The event was a sobering reminder of the importance of preparation.”

「這件事是一個*令人警醒的提醒*，讓人再次意識到準備的重要性。」

X reminder = 某事件以強烈方式令人重新意識到事實、風險或後果

Common adjectives:

* stark

* painful

* sobering

* timely

* useful

* constant

24. constant reminder = 持續提醒；不斷讓人想起的事物

Practice 48

> “The scar was a constant reminder of the accident.”

「那道疤痕不斷讓他想起那宗意外。」

Practice 49

> “The painting became a constant reminder to slow down.”

「這幅畫成了持續提醒我要放慢腳步的存在。」 constant reminder = 持續讓人記住 / 想起某事的人、物或情況

Important distinction: remind vs remember

The biggest learner contrast.

remember

= 自己記得 / 想起

> “I remembered the appointment.”

「我記得那個預約。」

remind

= 使某人記得 / 想起

> “She reminded me about the appointment.”

「她提醒我那個預約。」

So:

> remember = 自己記起

> remind = 使人記起

Important distinction: remind vs warn

This is the key omitted nuance.

remind

lexically:

> 使某人再次記起已知的事、責任、規則或後果

warn

lexically:

> 告知某人有危險、風險或不良後果

Compare:

> “I reminded him not to touch the painting.”

「我提醒他不要碰那幅畫。」

This can be neutral.

> “I warned him not to touch the painting.”

「我警告他不要碰那幅畫。」

This explicitly signals:

> touching it may lead to danger or consequences.

But in:

> “Don’t make me remind you again.”

remind can pragmatically function like a warning because the tone implies:

> 「你最好別再忘記 / 再犯。」

So the clean rule is:

> remind ≠ warn in core meaning, but remind can carry warning force in context.

Important distinction: remind vs advise advise

= 建議某人應該怎樣做

remind

= 對方本來已經知道，只是需要記起

> “I advised him to arrive early.”

= 我建議他早到。

> “I reminded him to arrive early.”

= 我提醒他別忘了早到。

Different information status.

Important distinction: remind vs tell tell

= 告訴 / 吩咐，可能是新資訊

remind

= 對方原本已知道或應該知道，再次讓他記起

> “I told him the deadline.”

= 我告訴他截止日期。

> “I reminded him of the deadline.”

= 我提醒他截止日期。

Important distinction: remind vs notify notify

= 正式通知某個新資訊 / 狀況

remind

= 再次把已知資訊帶回注意力 > notify someone of a change

> = 正式通知更改

> remind someone of a deadline

> = 提醒截止日期

Important distinction: remind vs mention

mention

= 提到某事

remind

= 提到某事的目的 / 效果是讓對方不要忘記

> “She mentioned the meeting.”

= 她提到會議。

> “She reminded me about the meeting.”

= 她提醒我會議的事。

Important distinction: remind vs recall recall

= 主動回想起

remind

= 某外在事物令你想起

> “I recalled the conversation.”

= 我回想起那次談話。

> “The photo reminded me of the conversation.”

= 那張照片令我想起那次談話。

Important distinction: remind someone to do vs remind someone of remind someone to do

= 提醒某人記得做某件事

> “Remind me to call.”

remind someone of = 令某人想起某人 / 某物

> “This song reminds me of home.”

Excellent MCQ contrast.

Important distinction: remind someone about vs remind someone of about usually:

appointments, tasks, responsibilities, arrangements

> “Remind me about the meeting.”

of usually:

memory, association, resemblance

> “The room reminds me of school.”

Not absolute, but a very useful learner rule.

Important distinction: remind someone that vs tell someone that tell someone that may give new information.

remind someone that assumes the information is already known or should be known.

> “She told me that the museum closes at six.”

= 她告訴我六點關門。

> “She reminded me that the museum closes at six.”

= 她提醒我六點關門。

Important distinction: reminder vs notification reminder

purpose:

> help you remember notification

purpose:

> inform you that something has happened / there is new information > appointment reminder

> = 預約提醒 > message notification

> = 訊息通知

Important distinction: reminder vs warning

reminder

= 再次讓人記起某事

warning

= 明確提醒危險 / 後果

But:

> a painful reminder of the risks can function as:

> 一個令人警醒的提醒

So there is pragmatic overlap.

Important distinction: reminder vs memory

memory

= 記憶本身 / 回憶

reminder

= 令你想起某段記憶的外在刺激

> photo = reminder

> what you remember = memory

Important grammar note: remind normally takes a person/object

Natural:

> "Remind me to call."

> "This reminds me of home."

Not normally:

> Remind to call. ❌

You usually specify who is being reminded.

Important grammar note: remind + to-infinitive, not gerund

Natural:

> remind someone to do something

Not:

> remind someone doing something

For memory association:

> remind someone of something

Important grammar note: remind can be reflexive

> “I reminded myself to slow down.”

This is very natural and useful.

It means:

> 我提醒自己不要忘記某件事 / 某個觀念。 **

Important pragmatic note: tone changes the force

The same lexical verb can be neutral or threatening depending on context.

Neutral:

> “Please remind me to call her.”

= 普通提醒

Firm:

> “Let me remind you that this is your responsibility.”

= 嚴肅提醒

Reproachful:

> “Do I really have to remind you again?”

= 責備意味

Warning-like:

> “Don’t make me remind you again.”

= 帶警告 / 威嚇意味

So for the database, this should be treated as:

> same core lexical meaning + different pragmatic force rather than inventing a completely separate dictionary meaning “warn”.
