

Absolutely — therapy is a useful target from your passage:

> “For her, it is more than a hobby; it is a form of quiet therapy.”

Here therapy is being used figuratively/broadly, not to mean formal medical treatment by a therapist. It means that gardening has a calming, restorative, emotionally helpful effect on her.

Word family: therapy / therapist / therapeutic

Base word: therapy

Related person: therapist

Adjective: therapeutic

Useful compounds: physical therapy, occupational therapy, speech therapy, psychotherapy, group therapy

Part of speech: noun (名詞) / adjective-related family (相關形容詞)

Meaning in your passage: therapy = something emotionally restorative / calming — 療癒方式 ; 有助紓壓的活動

Your sentence:

> “For her, it is more than a hobby; it is a form of quiet therapy.”

Here therapy means:

> an activity that helps her relax, recover emotionally, and feel mentally restored.

繁體中文 :

能幫助紓緩壓力、平復情緒、恢復心理狀態的活動或方式 ; 療癒方式

Natural translation:

> “For her, it is more than a hobby; it is a form of quiet therapy.”

「對她來說，園藝不只是一種興趣，也是一種安靜而療癒、能讓她紓壓的方式。」

So here:

> therapy = 比喻「有療癒、紓緩情緒作用的活動」

1. therapy = treatment for physical or mental health problems — 治療 ; 療法

The core formal meaning.

Practice 19

> “The therapist helped him develop coping strategies.”

「治療師幫助他建立應對方法。」 therapist = 受訓並提供某種治療的人

Exact Chinese depends on specialty:

* physical therapist = 物理治療師

* occupational therapist = 職業治療師

* speech therapist = 言語治療師

* psychotherapist = 心理治療師

10. therapeutic = relating to treatment — 治療的；治療用途的

Practice 20

> “The drug has several therapeutic uses.”

「這種藥有多種*治療用途*。」

Practice 21

> “The clinic offers therapeutic support.”

「診所提供*治療性支援*。」

therapeutic = 與治療、改善健康或疾病管理有關的

Practice 23

> “She finds painting therapeutic.”

「她覺得畫畫很*療癒、很能放鬆心情*。」

therapeutic — figurative = 能帶來放鬆、情緒舒緩或心理恢復效果的

This links directly to your passage.

12. therapy session — 治療時段；治療節數

Practice 24

> “She has a therapy session on Friday.”

「她星期五有一節治療 / 心理治療時段。」

Practice 25

> “Each therapy session lasts an hour.”

「每節治療持續一小時。」

therapy session = 一次正式治療安排 / 治療面談

Important distinction: therapy vs treatment treatment

very broad:

any medical method used to deal with illness/injury.

therapy

often refers to:

- * a structured treatment method;
- * repeated sessions;
- * physical/psychological rehabilitation.

> antibiotic treatment

> = 抗生素治療

> physical therapy

> = 物理治療

So therapy is a kind of treatment, but not every treatment is naturally called therapy.

Important distinction: therapy vs counselling

therapy

broader and often more clinical/systematic.

counselling often focuses on talking through problems and receiving guidance/support.

They can overlap strongly, depending on country and professional context.

Important distinction: therapy vs psychotherapy

therapy

broad umbrella term.

psychotherapy

specifically psychological treatment using psychological methods.

So:

> physical therapy

is therapy but not psychotherapy.

Important distinction: therapy vs medicine medicine

can mean drugs or medical science/treatment generally.

therapy

usually means a particular treatment approach or process.

> medication

> = 藥物

> therapy

> = 治療方式 / 療程

Not interchangeable.

Important distinction: therapy vs rehabilitation

therapy

specific treatment method.

rehabilitation broader process of restoring function after illness, injury, addiction, etc.

Physical therapy may be one part of rehabilitation.

Important distinction: therapy vs relaxation

Directly relevant to your passage.

relaxation

= 放鬆本身

therapy

figuratively =

something that helps produce emotional recovery/relief.

> “Gardening helps me relax.”

= 園藝幫助我放鬆。

> “Gardening is therapy for me.”

= 園藝對我來說有療癒作用。

The second is stronger and more metaphorical.

Important distinction: therapeutic vs relaxing

relaxing

= causes relaxation.

therapeutic

= feels beneficial, restorative, healing, or emotionally helpful.

Something can be therapeutic without being especially relaxing, such as strenuous exercise for some people.

Important distinction: therapy vs self-care

You curated care earlier.

self-care

= actions you take to look after your own well-being.

therapy

= formal treatment, or figuratively an activity that feels healing/restorative.

Gardening can be:

- * self-care;
- * therapeutic;
- * figuratively “therapy.”

But these are not identical terms.

Important distinction: therapist vs counsellor

therapist umbrella term depending on discipline/jurisdiction.

counsellor

usually focuses on counselling/talking support.

Professional licensing and titles vary by jurisdiction, so the exact occupational distinction depends on location.

Family-extension sweep

After the full audit, the useful modern family includes:

- * therapy — treatment = 治療 / 療法
- * therapy — psychological treatment = 心理治療
- * therapy — figurative restorative activity = 療癒 / 紓壓方式
- * physical therapy / physiotherapy = 物理治療
- * occupational therapy = 職業治療
- * speech therapy = 言語治療
- * psychotherapy = 心理治療
- * group therapy = 團體治療
- * therapy session = 治療節數 / 治療時段
- * therapist = 治療師
- * therapeutic — clinical = 治療性的
- * therapeutic — figurative = 有療癒 / 紓壓作用的

This is a fairly compact family. I would not inflate it with every medical specialty ending in therapy, because many are specialist terms rather than distinct meanings of therapy itself.

For your original sentence

> “For her, it is more than a hobby; it is a form of quiet therapy.”

The exact meaning is:

therapy = 園藝對她有安靜、療癒、紓壓和恢復情緒的作用，而不是指正式醫療治療

Natural translation:

> 「對她來說，園藝不只是一種興趣，也是一種安靜而療癒的紓壓方式。」

The highest-value contrasts are:

> therapy → 正式治療 / 療法 > therapy → 心理治療 > therapy → 比喻「有療癒作用的活動」

> therapist → 治療師

> therapeutic → 治療性的 / 有療癒作用的
