

Absolutely — anxious is a strong Tier 1 polysemy/family target because your passage uses it here:

> “A single successful post, rather than making me satisfied, made me anxious about whether I could repeat that success.”

Here anxious means worried, uneasy, and mentally tense because the writer is uncertain about future success. But the word also has an important second meaning: eager / very keen for something to happen, especially in more formal usage.

Word family: anxious / anxiously / anxiety

Base adjective: anxious

Adverb: anxiously

Noun: anxiety

Part of speech: adjective (形容詞)

Meaning in your passage: anxious = worried / uneasy — 焦慮的；擔心的；不安的

Your sentence:

> “...made me anxious about whether I could repeat that success.”

Here anxious means:

> feeling worried and mentally uneasy because of uncertainty about what might happen next.

繁體中文：

因為不確定未來結果而感到擔心、緊張和不安

Natural translation:

> “made me anxious about whether I could repeat that success”

「令我開始*焦慮自己能不能再次取得同樣的成功*。」

So here:

> anxious = 因未來結果不確定而感到焦慮 / 擔心

1. anxious = worried / nervous — 焦慮的；擔心的；不安的

The exact source meaning.

Practice 1 — Original

> “I became anxious about whether I could repeat that success.”

「我開始*焦慮*自己能不能再次取得同樣的成功。」

Practice 2

> “She felt anxious before the exam.”

「考試前她感到很*緊張 / 焦慮*。」

Practice 3

> “He was anxious about the interview.”

「他對那次面試感到很*擔心 / 不安*。」 anxious = 因為擔心可能出現不好的結果而感到緊張、不安

2. anxious about + noun/wh-clause — 對.....感到焦慮

A major construction.

Practice 5

> “He was anxious about whether the plan would work.”

「他很*擔心*這個計劃是否可行。」 anxious about X = 因某件事的不確定性或風險而感到擔憂

This is exactly the pattern used in your passage.

3. anxious for + person = 擔心某人

A less common but established use.

Practice 6

> “They were anxious for their missing son.”

「他們很擔心失蹤的兒子。」

Practice 7

> “She was anxious for her friend’s safety.”

「她很擔心朋友的安全。」 anxious for someone = 為某人的安危 / 情況感到擔心

Register:

* somewhat formal

* less common than worried about

4. anxious = eager / very keen — 渴望的；急切想要的

A genuinely distinct meaning.

Practice 8

> “She was anxious to begin.”

「她急切地想開始。」

Practice 9

> “The students were anxious to hear the results.”

「學生們都很想盡快知道結果。」 anxious = 非常渴望某件事發生 / 非常想做某事

Important:

This meaning is not “worried”.

5. be anxious to + verb = 急切想做..... ; 很希望做.....

A high-value construction.

Practice 10

> “He was anxious to prove himself.”

「他急切想證明自己。」

Practice 11

> “They are anxious to expand the business.”

「他們很希望盡快擴展生意。」 be anxious to do = 非常渴望 / 急切希望做某事

This sense is often:

* formal

* positive or neutral

6. be anxious for + thing = 渴望.....

Another formal use.

Practice 12

「團隊渴望成功。」

Practice 13

> “He was anxious for a chance to speak.”

「他很渴望有機會發言。」 anxious for X = 非常希望得到某物 / 某結果

Important:

This construction can be ambiguous because anxious for may also mean “worried about” depending on context.

7. anxiously = worriedly — 焦慮地；不安地

Practice 14

> “She waited anxiously for the message.”

「她焦急地等候訊息。」

Practice 15

> “He looked anxiously at his phone.”

anxiety about/over X = 對某件事情持續感到擔心、不安

11. anxiety = strong concern / public unease — 憂慮；擔憂

A broader social/formal use.

Practice 22

> “The announcement caused public anxiety.”

「這項公布引起公眾憂慮。」

Practice 23

> “Economic uncertainty has increased anxiety among workers.”

「經濟不確定性增加了工人的憂慮。」 anxiety = 一群人對某個風險 / 未來情況產生的廣泛擔憂

12. anxiety = clinical/medical concept — 焦慮症狀；焦慮狀態

A medical/psychological use.

Practice 24

> “The patient reported severe anxiety.”

「病人表示有嚴重的*焦慮症狀*。」

Practice 25

> “Anxiety can affect sleep and concentration.”

「*焦慮*可以影響睡眠和專注力。」 anxiety — clinical = 持續或強烈的焦慮狀態，可能影響日常功能

Important:

Everyday anxiety does not automatically mean a diagnosed disorder.

13. anxiety disorder = 焦慮症 / 焦慮障礙

A useful medical compound.

Practice 26

> “She was diagnosed with an anxiety disorder.”

「她被診斷患有*焦慮症 / 焦慮障礙*。」

Practice 27

> “Anxiety disorders can take different forms.”

「焦慮症可以有不同形式。」 anxiety disorder = 以過度或持續焦慮為主要特徵的心理健康障礙

Important distinction: anxious vs worried

worried

= concerned that something bad may happen.

anxious

= worried + often stronger mental tension/unease.

> worried about the exam

> = 擔心考試

> anxious about the exam

> = 因考試而焦慮不安

They overlap strongly.

Important distinction: anxious vs nervous nervous often:

= tense before a specific event.

anxious

often:

= broader worry about an uncertain result.

> nervous before speaking

> = 發言前緊張 > anxious about the future

> = 對未來感到焦慮

But they can overlap.

Important distinction: anxious vs afraid afraid

= fear that something bad/dangerous will happen.

anxious

= worry/unease, often less directly fear-based.

> afraid of flying

> = 害怕坐飛機

> anxious about the flight

> = 對這次航班感到不安

Important distinction: anxious vs stressed

You already have stress / stressed mapped.

stressed

= feeling pressure because of demands/workload.

= feeling worried because of uncertainty or possible negative outcomes.

> stressed by homework

> = 因功課壓力大

> anxious about exam results

> = 擔心考試結果

They often occur together but are not identical.

Important distinction: anxious vs eager

This is crucial.

eager

= strongly wanting something positive.

anxious

can mean:

1. worried
2. eager, especially formal usage

Compare:

> “I’m anxious about the results.”

> = 我很擔心結果。

> “I’m anxious to see the results.”

> = 我很想盡快看到結果。

Same adjective, different construction and meaning.

Important distinction: anxious to do vs anxious about doing anxious to do

often:

= eager to do

> “She is anxious to start.”

= 她急切想開始。 anxious about doing

= worried about doing

> “She is anxious about starting.”

= 她對開始這件事感到不安。

Excellent MCQ contrast.

Important distinction: anxious for

This construction can carry two meanings.

Concern:

> “She was anxious for her child.”

= 她很擔心孩子。

Desire:

> “She was anxious for success.”

= 她很渴望成功。

So context is essential.

Important distinction: anxiety vs fear fear

= stronger sense of threat/danger.

= unease/worry, often about uncertain or future events.

> fear of attack

> = 害怕受到攻擊 > anxiety about the future

> = 對未來感到焦慮

Important distinction: anxiety vs concern

concern

= worry, often more neutral/formal.

anxiety

= stronger emotional unease.

> concern about costs

> = 對成本的憂慮 > anxiety about losing control

> = 對失去控制感到焦慮

Important distinction: anxiety vs anxiety disorder

anxiety

can be a normal everyday emotion.

anxiety disorder

= a diagnosable mental-health condition.

So:

> feeling anxious ≠ automatically having an anxiety disorder

Important semantic precision.

Important distinction: anxious in your passage

Your sentence:

> “made me anxious about whether I could repeat that success”

does not mean:

> eager to repeat the success

The structure:

> anxious about whether... **

clearly signals:

> worry / uncertainty / mental unease

The writer is concerned that the next post may fail to match the first one.

Family-extension sweep
