MU. PASSAGE RECAP

“With clear instructions, a time limit, assigned roles, reflection questions and assessment criteria, drama becomes a structured learning activity.”

Here:

assessment criteria

= the standards used to judge how well students have completed the task or demonstrated the intended learning

Best Traditional Chinese:

- 評核準則
- 評估標準
- contextually: 評核準則

Natural contextual translation:

只要有清楚的指示、時間限制、分配好的角色、反思問題和評核準則，戲劇就會成為一項有結構的學習活動。

Passage MCQ-ready meaning

assessment

= the process of evaluating someone's work, learning, performance, condition, risk, value, etc. according to evidence or standards

評估;評核

Within the passage:

assessment criteria

→ 用來判斷學生表現的評核準則

The most important education branches are:

formative assessment

→ 形成性評估

summative assessment

→ 總結性評估

diagnostic assessment

→ 診斷性評估

continuous assessment

→ 持續評核

peer assessment

→ 同儕評估

self-assessment

→ 自我評估

performance assessment

→ 表現／實作評估

assessment rubric

→ 評分規準

Outside education, the same word expands very widely:

risk assessment

→ 風險評估

needs assessment

→ 需求評估

environmental impact assessment

→ 環境影響評估

clinical assessment

→ 臨床評估

psychological assessment

→ 心理評估

damage assessment

→ 損害評估

structural assessment

→ 結構評估

credit assessment

→ 信貸評估

A more specialized fiscal branch gives:

tax assessment

→ 稅務評定／評稅

assessed value

→ 官方評估價值

and an even more distinct financial/property sense is:

special assessment

→ 特別徵費／特別攤款

Legal English adds:

assessment of damages

→ 損害賠償額評定

The core verb family is equally important:

assess student performance

→ 評估學生表現

assess the risk

→ 評估風險

assess the situation

→ 評估情況

assess the property at $500,000

→ 把物業估值為五十萬元

reassess the situation

→ 重新評估情況

assessor

→ 評估員／評核員

assessable work

→ 須計入評核的作業

One especially important learner distinction is:

assessment

is the broad process of gathering and interpreting evidence

while:

test

is only one possible instrument or task used in that process.

Likewise:

assessment criteria

are the standards against which work is judged,

whereas:

learning goals/objectives

describe what students are supposed to learn.

So in the passage, adding assessment criteria matters because drama stops being “just acting.” Students know that their work will be judged according to explicit learning standards—such as understanding the character, interpreting the conflict, using tone and gesture effectively, and explaining their choices. That makes the activity a structured part of learning rather than entertainment alone.
