

Word family: assume / assumes / assumed / assuming / assumption / assumptions

Base word: assume

Part of speech: mainly verb

Related forms:

assume (v.) — 假定；想當然；承擔；接任；呈現；冒充 assumed (adj./participle) — 假定的；被視為真的；假冒的 assuming (conj./participle) — 假設；假如 assumption (n.) — 假設；想當然的看法；承擔；接任 assumptions (plural n.) — 假設；預設

Useful expressions / extensions:

assume that...

assume something to be true

it is reasonable to assume wrongly assume don't assume assume responsibility

assume control

assume command

assume office

assume a role

assume a position

assume a duty

assume a name / identity

assume a form

assume importance

assuming that...

make an assumption

based on the assumption that...

underlying assumption

false assumption reasonable assumption assumed knowledge

assumed name

assumption of responsibility

assumption of risk

Meaning in this passage

> Managers can also introduce progress checks and individual evaluations so that contribution becomes visible rather than assumed.

Here, assumed means:

accepted or believed to exist without actually checking or proving it — 想當然地認為；在未經核實下假定

The writer argues that managers should not simply assume every team member contributed equally. Individual contribution should be made visible through actual evidence.

中文翻譯：

管理人員亦可以加入進度檢查和個人評估，令每個人的貢獻變得清楚可見，而不是未經核實便想當然地認為他們有作出貢獻。

So here:

assumed = 沒有直接證據或檢查，便把某件事當作是真的

1. assume that... — 假定；認為.....是真的

This is the exact semantic branch used in your passage.

Practice 1 — original sense

> Contribution should be visible rather than assumed.

每個人的貢獻應該清楚可見，而不是未經核實便假定存在。

Practice 2

> Don't assume that everyone contributed equally.

不要想當然地認為每個人都作出了同等貢獻。

Practice 3

> We assumed that the task had already been completed.

我們以為 / 假定任務已經完成。

MCQ-ready definition:

assume = 在沒有完整證據或確認的情況下，把某件事當作是真的

2. assume something to be true — 假定某事為真

Practice 1

> The manager assumed the information to be correct.

經理假定那些資料是正確的。

Practice 2

> We should not assume every complaint to be genuine without checking.

在核實之前，我們不應假定每宗投訴都是真實的。

MCQ-ready definition:

assume X to be Y = 未完全證實便把 X 視為 Y

3. wrongly / mistakenly assume — 錯誤地以為

Practice 1

> She wrongly assumed that everyone understood the instructions.

她錯誤地以為每個人都明白指示。

Practice 2

> I mistakenly assumed the meeting had been cancelled.

我誤以為會議已經取消。

MCQ-ready definition:

wrongly assume = 在沒有充分確認下形成一個後來證明錯誤的看法

4. it is reasonable / safe to assume — 可以合理假定

Practice 1

> It is reasonable to assume that clear roles reduce confusion.

可以合理假定，清晰角色能減少混亂。

Practice 2

> It would not be safe to assume that everyone has read the report.

我們不能放心地假定每個人都已閱讀報告。

MCQ-ready definition:

it is reasonable to assume = 根據現有證據，可以有合理根據地作出某個推測

5. assumed (被假定的；被視為真的) — 假定的；預設的

Practice 1

> The figures are based on an assumed growth rate.

這些數字以一個*假定的增長率*為基礎。

Practice 2

> The plan depends on several assumed conditions.

這個計劃取決於數個*預設條件*。

MCQ-ready definition:

assumed = 被當作真的、正確的或存在的，但未必已經證實

6. assumed knowledge — 預設已有的知識

A useful education/workplace expression.

Practice 1

> Basic statistics are assumed knowledge for this course.

這個課程*預設學生已具備*基本統計知識。

Practice 2

> The manual contains too much assumed knowledge.

這份手冊預設讀者已懂太多背景知識。

MCQ-ready definition:

assumed knowledge = 教師、作者或機構預期對方已經知道，因此不再詳細解釋的知識

7. assuming that... — 假設；假如

A major grammatical extension.

Practice 1

> Assuming that everyone agrees, we can begin tomorrow.

假設大家都同意，我們明天便可以開始。

Practice 2

> Assuming the data are accurate, the project is on schedule.

假設數據準確，項目目前按進度進行。

MCQ-ready definition:

assuming (that) X = 假設 X 是真的，然後考慮接下來會發生甚麼

8. assumption (假設；未經證實的看法) — 假設；預設

A major noun sense.

Practice 1

> The plan is based on the assumption that demand will increase.

這個計劃建基於*需求會上升這項假設*。

Practice 2

> That assumption may be wrong.

那個*假設*可能是錯的。

MCQ-ready definition:

assumption = 在未有完整證據前，被暫時當作真的想法

9. make an assumption — 作出假設；想當然

Practice 1

> Don't make assumptions about other people's effort.

不要對別人的努力程度*妄下假設 / 想當然*。

Practice 2

> We made an incorrect assumption about the deadline.

我們對截止日期作出了一個錯誤的*假設*。

MCQ-ready definition:

make an assumption = 在未完全確認前形成某個看法或判斷

10. based on the assumption that... — 基於.....的假設

Practice 1

> The schedule was designed on the assumption that all staff would be available.

時間表是*基於所有員工都能出席這項假設*而制定的。

Practice 2

> The forecast is based on the assumption that costs will remain stable.

預測*假設成本會保持穩定*。

MCQ-ready definition:

based on the assumption that X = 把 X 暫時視為真的，並以此作為後續分析的基礎

11. underlying assumption — 潛在假設；基本預設

Practice 1

> We need to question the underlying assumptions of the policy.

我們需要質疑政策背後的基本預設。

Practice 2

> One underlying assumption is that all team members are equally motivated.

其中一項潛在假設是所有組員都有相同動力。

MCQ-ready definition:

underlying assumption = 某個論點、計劃或制度背後未必明說的基本假設

12. false / mistaken assumption — 錯誤假設

Practice 1

> The decision was based on a false assumption.

這個決定建基於一個錯誤假設。

Practice 2

> Their mistaken assumption caused unnecessary confusion.

他們的錯誤假定造成了不必要的混亂。

MCQ-ready definition:

false assumption = 被當作真的，但實際上不正確的看法

13. assume responsibility — 承擔責任

A genuinely separate major sense.

Practice 1

> The manager assumed responsibility for the mistake.

經理承擔了這次錯誤的責任。

Practice 2

> Each member must assume responsibility for their own work.

每名成員都必須為自己的工作承擔責任。

MCQ-ready definition:

assume responsibility = 接受並開始承擔某項責任

14. assume responsibility for doing something — 承擔做某事的責任

Practice 1

> She assumed responsibility for coordinating the team.

她*承擔了協調團隊的責任*。

Practice 2

> One employee assumed responsibility for preparing the final report.

一名員工*負責準備最終報告*。

MCQ-ready definition:

assume responsibility for X = 正式或實際接手 X 的責任

15. assume control — 接管；掌握控制權

Practice 1

> A new manager assumed control of the department.

一名新經理*接管了部門*。

Practice 2

> The central office assumed control of the project.

總部*接管了項目的控制權*。

MCQ-ready definition:

assume control = 開始掌握某個組織、活動或系統的控制權

16. assume command — 接任指揮；掌握指揮權

Practice 1

> She assumed command of the team.

她*接任團隊的指揮工作*。

Practice 2

> The deputy assumed command during the leader's absence.

領導不在時，副手*接手指揮*。

MCQ-ready definition:

assume command = 正式開始負責指揮一個群體或行動

17. assume office — 就職；上任

A formal political/organizational expression.

Practice 1

> The new director assumed office in January.

新任總監在一月*正式上任*。

Practice 2

> She assumed office after her predecessor retired.

前任退休後，她*正式就職*。

MCQ-ready definition:

assume office = 正式開始擔任某個公職或高級職位

18. assume a role / position — 擔任角色 / 職位

Practice 1

> He assumed the role of team leader.

他擔任了團隊領袖的角色。

Practice 2

> She gradually assumed a more senior position.

她逐漸擔任更高級的職位。

MCQ-ready definition:

assume a role/position = 開始擔任某項角色、職務或身份

19. assume duties — 接手職責；履行職務

Practice 1

> The new employee will assume her duties next Monday.

新員工下星期一會正式履行職務。

Practice 2

> He assumed additional duties during the crisis.

危機期間，他承擔了額外職責。

MCQ-ready definition:

assume duties = 開始負責或履行某些職責

20. assumption of responsibility / control — 承擔責任 / 接管控制

The noun extension of this sense.

Practice 1

> Her assumption of responsibility helped restore trust.

她承擔責任有助恢復信任。

Practice 2

> The assumption of control took place immediately.

*控制權的接管立即進行。

MCQ-ready definition:

assumption of X = 正式開始承擔、接管或接受 X

21. assume a form / shape — 呈現某種形式 / 形狀

Another major sense.

Practice 1

> The discussion assumed a more serious tone.

討論逐漸*呈現出更嚴肅的氣氛*。

Practice 2

> The cloud assumed an unusual shape.

雲層*呈現出一個不尋常的形狀*。

MCQ-ready definition:

assume a form/shape = 開始呈現某種形式、外觀或特徵

22. assume a different character / tone — 呈現不同性質 / 語氣

Practice 1

> The meeting suddenly assumed a confrontational tone.

會議突然*變得充滿對立氣氛*。

Practice 2

> The debate assumed a more personal character.

辯論逐漸*變得更針對個人*。

MCQ-ready definition:

assume a character/tone = 開始具有某種性質或氣氛

23. assume importance / significance — 變得重要

Practice 1

> Communication assumes greater importance in large teams.

在大型團隊中，溝通變得更加重要。

Practice 2

> The issue assumed new significance after the report was published.

報告公布後，這個問題具有了新的重要性。

MCQ-ready definition:

assume importance/significance = 開始具有某種程度的重要性

24. assume proportions — 發展到某種規模

A formal expression.

Practice 1

> The disagreement assumed serious proportions.

分歧逐漸發展到相當嚴重的程度。

Practice 2

> The problem quickly assumed national proportions.

問題很快擴大至全國性的規模。

MCQ-ready definition:

assume proportions = 發展成某種規模、程度或嚴重性

25. assume a name / identity — 使用假名；冒用身份

A genuinely separate sense.

Practice 1

> He assumed a false identity.

他冒用了假身份。

Practice 2

> The writer assumed a different name.

那位作家用了另一個名字 / 化名。

MCQ-ready definition:

assume a name/identity = 採用某個名字或身份，通常不是自己原本的身份

26. assumed name — 化名；假名

Practice 1

> He travelled under an assumed name.

他以化名旅行。

Practice 2

> The author published the work under an assumed name.

作者以假名 / 筆名出版作品。

MCQ-ready definition:

assumed name = 某人採用、但並非原本真實姓名的名字

27. assume someone's identity — 冒充某人；冒用身份

Practice 1

> The criminal tried to assume another person's identity.

罪犯試圖冒用另一個人的身份。

Practice 2

> Someone had assumed his identity online.

有人在網上冒充他的身份。

MCQ-ready definition:

assume someone's identity = 假裝自己是另一個人並採用其身份

28. assume a debt / liability — 承接債務 / 法律責任

A formal business/legal sense.

Practice 1

> The buyer agreed to assume the company's debts.

買方同意*承接公司的債務*。

Practice 2

> The parent company assumed liability for the losses.

母公司*承擔了損失的法律責任*。

MCQ-ready definition:

assume a debt/liability = 正式接手並承擔財務或法律責任

29. assumption of debt / liability — 承接債務 / 責任

Practice 1

> The agreement includes the assumption of certain liabilities.

協議包括*承接若干法律責任*。

Practice 2

> The acquisition involved the assumption of debt.

這項收購涉及*承接債務*。

MCQ-ready definition:

assumption of debt/liability = 正式接手另一方原本負有的財務或法律責任

30. assumption of risk — 自願承擔風險

A common legal/insurance expression.

Practice 1

> The contract contains a clause concerning assumption of risk.

合約包含一項有關承擔風險的條款。

Practice 2

> Assumption of risk may be relevant when someone knowingly accepts a known danger.

如果某人明知有危險仍自願接受，自願承擔風險這項法律概念可能適用。

MCQ-ready definition:

assumption of risk = 某人在知道某項風險存在的情況下仍自願接受它

31. assumed authority / assumed right — 自行認定擁有的權力 / 權利

Practice 1

> He acted with assumed authority.

他以一種自認有權的姿態行事。

Practice 2

> Her assumed right to make every decision annoyed the team.

她想當然地認為自己有權作所有決定，令團隊不滿。

MCQ-ready definition:

assumed authority/right = 並未明確獲授權，卻自行認定自己擁有的權力或權利

Important distinction 1: assume vs suppose

assume

often means accept something as true without proof, sometimes for practical purposes.

suppose often means think something is probably true, or introduce a hypothetical situation.

> We assumed everyone had finished.

> 我們想當然地認為大家都完成了。

> I suppose he's busy.

> 我猜想他很忙。

They overlap, but assume often sounds firmer.

Important distinction 2: assume vs presume

assume

accept as true without necessarily having strong evidence.

presume

often suggests the belief is based on probability, circumstances, or some existing evidence.

> I assumed he knew.

> 我想當然地以為他知道。

> I presume he's already been informed.

> 我推想他應該已獲通知。

The distinction is not absolute, but presume often sounds slightly more evidence-based or formal.

Important distinction 3: assume vs guess

guess

make an uncertain estimate or answer.

assume

treat something as true and often proceed on that basis.

> I guessed the answer.

> 我猜答案。

> I assumed the answer was correct and continued.

> 我把答案當作正確並繼續下去。

Important distinction 4: assume vs infer infer reach a conclusion from evidence.

assume

may happen without evidence.

> infer from the data

> 從數據推斷

> assume without checking

> 沒有核實便假定

This distinction is especially important academically.

Important distinction 5: assume vs conclude conclude arrive at a judgment after considering information.

assume

accept something before it has necessarily been proved.

So:

> assumption = starting belief

> conclusion = ending judgment

Important distinction 6: assume vs expect expect believe something is likely to happen.

assume

believe something is already true or treat it as true.

> I expect him to arrive at five.

> 我預計他五點到。

> I assumed he had already arrived.

> 我以為他已經到了。

Important distinction 7: assume vs take for granted

They can overlap.

assume

believe without checking.

take something for granted

either:

1. assume it is true automatically, or

2. fail to appreciate something because you expect it always to be there.

> Don't assume everyone agrees.

> 不要想當然地認為大家都同意。

> Don't take your colleagues' help for granted.

> 不要把同事的幫助*視為理所當然*。

Important distinction 8: assume responsibility vs accept responsibility

They overlap strongly.

accept responsibility

acknowledge that the responsibility belongs to you.

assume responsibility

begin to take that responsibility on.

> accept responsibility for a mistake

> 承認自己對錯誤有責任 > assume responsibility for a project

> 接手負責一個項目

Important distinction 9: assume a role vs play a role

assume a role

begin to take on the role.

play a role function in that role or have an effect.

> She assumed the role of leader.

> 她開始擔任領袖。

> She played a key role in the project.

> 她在項目中發揮關鍵作用。

Important distinction 10: assume office vs take office

These are near-synonyms.

assume office

more formal.

take office

very common.

Both mean:

正式上任

Important distinction 11: assume control vs control

assume control

marks the change of control.

control

describes the ongoing state.

> She assumed control on Monday.

> 她星期一接管。

> She now controls the department.

> 她現在管理 / 控制該部門。

Important distinction 12: assume a form does not mean “guess a form”

Here assume means:

take on / come to have

> The discussion assumed a serious tone.

> 討論變得嚴肅起來。

This is a completely different branch from “suppose”.

Important distinction 13: assumed name vs assumed fact

Same form, different meanings:

assumed fact

被假定為真的事情 assumed name

採用的假名

Context determines the branch.

Important distinction 14: assumption vs hypothesis

assumption

something accepted as true for reasoning, sometimes without testing.

hypothesis

a proposed explanation or prediction specifically intended to be tested.

In research, these are not interchangeable.

Important distinction 15: assumption vs belief belief

something someone thinks is true.

assumption

something taken as true, often without full evidence and often used as a basis for reasoning or action.

All assumptions are beliefs of a kind, but not all beliefs function as assumptions.

Important distinction 16: assuming that vs if

They can overlap:

> Assuming that everyone agrees, we'll begin.

> 假設大家都同意，我們就開始。

> If everyone agrees, we'll begin.

> 如果大家同意，我們就開始。

Assuming that more explicitly says:

"For the purpose of this discussion, let us treat this condition as true."

Important distinction 17: assume responsibility vs shoulder responsibility

From your previous word:

assume responsibility

take responsibility on.

shoulder responsibility carry it, often with an image of weight or burden.

> She assumed responsibility for the project.

> 她接手負責項目。

> She shouldered most of the responsibility.

> 她扛起了大部分責任。

Important distinction 18: assume vs commit

From your previous word:

commit to a task

promise/dedicate yourself to doing it.

assume responsibility for a task take the responsibility onto yourself.

You may:

1. assume responsibility,
2. then commit yourself fully to it.

Important distinction 19: assumed contribution in your passage

The sentence does not mean:

> contribution is hypothetical because nobody knows whether teamwork happened at all.

It specifically means:

managers should not simply take it for granted that each member contributed fairly.

Instead, contribution should be demonstrated through:

- * progress checks,
- * individual evaluation,
- * visible outputs.

Family-extension note

The assume family has several genuinely distinct modern branches:

1. believe without full proof

- * assume that...
- * assumed contribution
- * make an assumption

2. hypothetical reasoning

- * assuming that...

3. take on responsibility/power

- * assume responsibility
- * assume control
- * assume office

4. take on a role

- * assume the role of leader

5. take on a quality/form

- * assume a serious tone
- * assume greater importance

6. take on an identity

- * assume a false identity
- * assumed name

7. take on legal/financial obligations

- * assume debt
- * assume liability
- * assumption of risk

For your passage, the exact branch is:

assumed = believed to exist without being made visible or verified

Master comparison

Form / expression	Traditional Chinese	Core idea
-----	-----	-----
assume that...	假定；以為	take as true assume X to be Y	假定 X 是 Y	unverified belief wrongly assume	誤以為	incorrect belief reasonable to assume	合理假定	evidence-supported inference-like assumption assumed	被假定的；預設的	treated as true assumed knowledge	預設已有知識	expected prior knowledge
assuming that...	假設；假如	hypothetical condition
assumption	假設；預設	belief taken as true make an assumption	作出假設	form belief underlying assumption	潛在假設	unstated basis
false assumption	錯誤假設	incorrect premise assume responsibility	承擔責任	take responsibility assume control	接管	take control
assume command	接任指揮	take command
assume office	就職；上任	begin official position assume a role	擔任角色	take role assume duties	接手職責	begin duties
assume a form	呈現某種形式	take form assume a tone	呈現某種語氣	take character assume importance	變得重要	acquire importance assume proportions	發展到某種規模	acquire scale
assume a name	採用假名	take a name assume an identity	冒用身份	take identity assumed name	化名；假名	adopted identity
assume debt/liability	承接債務 / 責任	take obligation assumption of risk	承擔風險	legal acceptance

For your original sentence

> Managers can also introduce progress checks and individual evaluations so that contribution becomes visible rather than assumed.

Here:

assumed = 管理人員不應在沒有證據或個別評估的情況下，就自動認為每一名成員都有作出公平、實際的貢獻

A natural Traditional Chinese rendering is:

> 管理人員亦可加入進度檢查和個人評估，令每名成員的貢獻清楚可見，而不是未經核實便想當然地假定存在。

The cleanest contrast is:

> guess = 猜
> suppose = 猜想 / 假設 > infer = 根據證據推斷 > assume = 未經充分確認便把某件事當作是真的
> verify = 核實是否真的

And the contrast built directly into your sentence is especially neat:

> visible contribution = 有證據、看得到的實際貢獻 > assumed contribution = 沒有證據，只是想當然認為有貢獻

That is why assumed fits the accountability argument so precisely.