Lower-priority forms: unconcernedly, concernment (rare/old) , concernedness (rare)

Part of speech: noun (名詞) / verb (動詞)

Related adjective/preposition: concerned, concerning

Your sentence:

> “That concern is real and should not be dismissed.”

Meaning in this passage

Here, concern means a genuine issue or reason for worry that deserves serious attention.

The preceding concern is that many students:

* do not have quiet homes;

* cannot always find space in libraries or study rooms.

So the writer acknowledges that the shortage of suitable study space is a real problem worth taking seriously.

繁體中文： 值得關注的問題；憂慮；令人擔心並需要認真處理的事情

中文翻譯：

> “That concern is real and should not be dismissed.”

「這個憂慮 / 值得關注的問題確實存在，不應被輕視。」

Here, concern is not simply the emotional feeling “擔心”; it also refers to the underlying issue that gives people reason to worry.

A. CONCERN = WORRY / ANXIETY

1. concern = worry or anxiety about something (擔憂) — 擔心；憂慮

This is one of the central noun meanings.

Practice 1

> “There is growing concern about housing costs.”

「人們對住房成本的憂慮日益增加。」

Practice 2

> “She expressed concern about his health.”

「她對他的健康表示擔心。」

Practice 3

> “The news caused considerable concern.”

「這則消息引起了相當大的憂慮。」 concern = 因為某件事可能出問題、造成傷害或帶來不良後果而產生的擔心

Common:

- * concern about
- * concern over
- * express concern
- * show concern
- * cause concern
- * growing concern
- * serious concern

2. concern about / concern over = worry regarding something (對.....的擔憂)

Practice 4

> “Parents raised concerns about safety.”

「家長提出了對安全問題的憂慮。」

Practice 5

> “There is concern over rising costs.”

「人們對成本上升感到憂慮。」

Both are common.

about is very general.

over is especially common in news/formal writing.

3. concern for someone = worry/care about their welfare (關心) — 關心 ; 擔心某人的安危 / 福祉

Practice 6

> “She showed genuine concern for the elderly residents.”

「她真心*關心*那些年長居民。」

Practice 7

> “His main concern was for the children.”

「他最*擔心 / 關心*的是孩子們。」 concern for someone often contains both:

* emotional care;

* worry about their welfare.

4. *show concern = display worry/care (表示關心 / 擔憂) ****

> “The teacher showed concern when the student stopped attending class.”

「學生停止上課後，老師表示了*關心 / 擔憂*。」

5. *express / voice concern = formally say you are worried (表達憂慮) ****

Practice 8

> “Residents voiced concern about the lack of study space.”

「居民對學習空間不足*表達憂慮*。」

Common especially in:

- * journalism
- * reports
- * meetings
- * official statements

6. raise concerns = cause or bring up reasons for worry (引起 / 提出疑慮) **

Practice 9

> “The proposal raises concerns about privacy.”

「這項建議引起了私隱方面的疑慮。」

Important ambiguity:

> raise a concern

can mean:

1. mention a concern;
2. cause a concern.

Context determines which.

7. cause concern / be a cause for concern (令人擔心) **

Practice 10

> “The decline is a cause for concern.”

「這種下降情況是值得擔憂的原因 / 令人擔心。」

Very common fixed phrase:

> cause for concern

= something giving legitimate reason to worry.

8. cause concern = make people worried

> “The repeated delays caused concern among customers.”

「接連延誤令顧客感到憂慮。」

9. allay concerns = reduce people's worries (消除 / 減輕疑慮) **

Practice 11

> “The company released more information to allay concerns.”

「公司公布更多資料，以減輕疑慮。」

Related:

- * ease concerns
- * address concerns
- * respond to concerns
- * reassure people

10. address concerns = deal seriously with the issues people are worried about (回應 / 處理疑慮) **

> “The revised plan attempts to address residents’ concerns.”

「修訂方案試圖回應 / 處理居民的疑慮。」

This combines two words you have already curated:

> address + concern.

B. A CONCERN = AN ISSUE / PROBLEM THAT MATTERS

11. a concern = a matter that causes worry or needs attention (問題) — 值得關注的問題；疑慮

This is particularly close to your passage.

Practice 12 — Original

> “That concern is real and should not be dismissed.”

「那個值得關注的問題 / 憂慮確實存在，不應被忽視。」

Practice 13

> “Lack of affordable space is a major concern.”

「缺乏可負擔空間是一個主要的問題 / 憂慮。」

Practice 14

> “Safety remains our biggest concern.”

「安全仍是我們最主要的關注事項。」

Here concern can refer to the issue itself, not merely the emotion of worrying.

12. main / primary / major concern = most important problem or worry (首要關注)

> “The main concern is overcrowding.”

「最大的問題 / 關注事項是過度擠迫。」

13. safety concern = safety-related problem/risk (安全疑慮)

> “The damaged railing is a safety concern.”

「損壞的欄杆構成安全隱患 / 安全疑慮。」

Notice:

> concern

can identify the problem, not the person's emotion.

14. health concern = health-related issue (健康問題)

> “Poor air quality is a significant health concern.”

「空氣質素欠佳是一個重要的健康問題。」

15. environmental concern = environmental problem OR worry about environment

This phrase can mean:

1. an environmental issue

> pollution is an environmental concern

2. worry/care regarding environmental issues

> growing environmental concern

Context determines the interpretation.

16. a matter of concern = something deserving attention/worry (令人關注的事情) **

Practice 15

> “The declining participation rate is a matter of concern.”

「參與率下降是一件值得關注的事情。」

Formal.

17. of concern = worrying or important enough to deserve attention (值得關注的) **

Practice 16

> “This pattern is of concern.”

「這種現象值得關注 / 令人擔憂。」

Practice 17

> “The issue is of particular concern to parents.”

「這個問題尤其令家長關注 / 擔憂。」

Very common in formal, scientific, medical, and policy writing.

18. of no concern = not relevant/important to someone (無關 / 不重要) **

> “The internal arrangement is of no concern to customers.”

「內部安排對顧客來說並不相關 / 無關緊要。」

This starts bridging toward the relevance/business sense.

C. CONCERN = CARE / INTEREST IN SOMEONE'S WELFARE

19. concern = caring interest (關懷) — 關懷 ; 關心

Practice 18

> “Her concern for the students was obvious.”

「她對學生的關心十分明顯。」

This may be less anxious than:

> concern about a dangerous situation.

The emphasis can simply be:

> caring about someone's welfare.

20. out of concern for someone = because you care about their welfare (出於關心) **

> “He called her out of concern for her safety.”

「他出於對她安全的關心而打電話給她。」

21. lack of concern = indifference / failure to care (漠不關心) **

Practice 19

> “His lack of concern for other customers was obvious.”

「他明顯沒有顧及 / 不關心其他顧客。」

D. CONCERN = SOMETHING THAT IS YOUR BUSINESS / RESPONSIBILITY

22. concern = something that affects or is the responsibility of someone (份內事 / 關係) **

Practice 20

> “That is not my concern.”

Depending on context:

「那與我無關。」

or:

「那不是我需要處理的事情 / 責任。」

23. none of your concern = none of your business (與你無關) **

Practice 21

> “What I do outside work is none of your concern.”

「我下班後做甚麼與你無關。」

Often somewhat sharp.

Equivalent:

> none of your business.

24. a concern of mine/yours = something relevant or important to me/you

> “That issue is not a concern of mine.”

「那個問題並不是我需要處理 / 關心的事情。」

25. someone's concern = responsibility/area of responsibility (職責範圍) **

Formal:

> “Staff scheduling is the manager's concern.”

「員工排班是經理的職責範圍。」

Lower-frequency than:

> responsibility.

E. VERB: CONCERN = WORRY

26. something concerns someone = something worries them (使擔心) — 使擔憂 ; 令.....關注

Practice 22

> “The lack of available seating concerns restaurant owners.”

「可用座位不足令餐廳東主感到擔憂。」

Practice 23

> “What concerns me most is the long-term effect.”

「我最擔心的是長遠影響。」

X concerns me = X worries me

This is a major verb sense.

27. it concerns me that... = I am worried that... (我擔心.....) **

Practice 24

> “It concerns me that students have so few suitable places to study.”

「我擔心學生合適的學習場所這麼少。」

Formal compared with:

> I'm worried that...

28. be concerned about = be worried about (擔心) **

Practice 25

> "Parents are concerned about the lack of quiet study space."

「家長擔心安靜學習空間不足。」

One of the most important family patterns.

29. be concerned over = be worried about (對.....感到憂慮) **

> "Residents are concerned over rising rents."

「居民對租金上升感到憂慮。」

More common in formal/news style.

30. be concerned for someone = worry about someone's welfare (擔心某人) **

Practice 26

> "We were deeply concerned for his safety."

「我們非常擔心他的安全。」

Compare:

> concerned about the problem

> concerned for the person.

There is overlap.

31. concerned that... = worried that... **

> “She was concerned that the students were becoming distracted.”

「她擔心學生越來越容易分心。」

F. VERB: CONCERN = BE ABOUT / RELATE TO

32. concern = be about a particular subject (關於) — 關乎；涉及；與.....有關

A completely different major branch.

Practice 27

> “The report concerns the use of public space.”

「這份報告關於 / 涉及公共空間的使用。」

Practice 28

> “The discussion mainly concerned education.”

「討論主要涉及教育問題。」

Here:

concern = have X as its subject

No emotional worry is necessarily involved.

33. as concerns X = regarding X (關於.....) **

Formal and relatively uncommon:

> “As concerns the timetable, no final decision has been made.”

「關於時間表，目前尚未有最後決定。」

Modern English more often uses:

* regarding

* concerning

* as for

34. where X is concerned = in matters relating to X (在.....方面) **

Practice 29

> “Where safety is concerned, we should be cautious.”

「在安全方面，我們應該謹慎。」

Very useful fixed construction.

G. VERB: CONCERN = INVOLVE / AFFECT

35. something concerns someone = involves or affects them (涉及) — 涉及；關係到

Practice 30

> “This decision concerns every member of staff.”

「這個決定關係到 / 涉及每位員工。」

Practice 31

> “The changes concern only new applicants.”

「這些改動只涉及新的申請人。」

This is different from:

> “The changes concern me.”

which can also mean:

> 「這些改動令我擔心。」

Context matters.

36. all concerned = everyone involved/affected (所有相關人士) **

Practice 32

> “The decision was communicated to all concerned.”

「決定已通知所有相關人士。」

Here concerned does not mean:

> worried.

It means:

> involved / affected / relevant.

37. the people/persons concerned = the relevant people (有關人士)

> “Please inform the people concerned.”

「請通知有關人士。」

Again:

> concerned = relevant/involved.

38. the authorities concerned = the relevant authorities (有關當局)

A formal construction:

> “The matter was reported to the authorities concerned.”

「事件已向有關當局報告。」

H. CONCERN ONESELF WITH / ABOUT

39. concern oneself with something = become involved in / pay attention to it (關注 / 處理)

Practice 33

> “The committee concerns itself mainly with safety issues.”

「委員會主要關注 / 處理安全問題。」

Formal.

40. don't concern yourself with X = don't worry about / get involved with X

Practice 34

> “Don't concern yourself with the details.”

Depending on context:

「不用操心這些細節。」

or:

「不用插手 / 處理這些細節。」

This construction can combine:

* worry;

* involvement.

41. concern oneself about something = worry about it (較舊 / 正式)

> “You need not concern yourself about the matter.”

「你不必為這件事操心。」

Modern English often prefers:

> worry about.

I. CONCERNED = WORRIED

42. concerned = worried or anxious (擔心的) — 擔憂的 ; 關切的

Practice 35

> “The parents looked concerned.”

「家長看起來很擔心。」

Practice 36

> “I'm becoming increasingly concerned.”

「我越來越擔心。」

43. deeply / increasingly / genuinely concerned

Common:

- * deeply concerned
- * seriously concerned
- * increasingly concerned
- * genuinely concerned

44. concerned about/over/for

Already mapped from the verb family:

- > concerned about the problem
- > concerned over costs
- > concerned for someone's safety

J. CONCERNED = INTERESTED / CARING ABOUT AN ISSUE

45. concerned citizen/parent/group = person who cares enough about an issue to pay attention or act (關注的)

Practice 37

> “Concerned residents attended the meeting.”

「關注這個問題的居民出席了會議。」

This may imply:

- * worry;
- * active interest;

* civic concern.

Not simply fear/anxiety.

46. concerned with something = interested in/dealing with it (關注 / 涉及) **

Practice 38

> “The organization is primarily concerned with education.”

「這個機構主要關注 / 從事教育工作。」

This is not:

> worried about education.

It means:

> education is its subject/activity.

47. a book/study concerned with X = dealing with X (探討.....) **

> “The book is concerned with urban development.”

「這本書主要探討 / 涉及城市發展。」

Very common formal usage.

K. CONCERNED = INVOLVED / RELEVANT

48. the person concerned = the relevant/involved person (有關人士) **

> “The person concerned has been informed.”

「有關人士已獲通知。」

49. all parties concerned = all involved parties (所有有關各方) **

Practice 39

> “The agreement must be acceptable to all parties concerned.”

「協議必須得到所有有關各方接受。」

No implication that they are emotionally worried.

50. concerned in something = involved in it (參與 / 涉及) **

Formal, especially BrE:

> “Everyone concerned in the project attended the meeting.”

「所有參與該項目的人都出席了會議。」

Less common than:

> involved in.

51. concerned in wrongdoing/crime = involved in it (涉案) **

Formal/legal-ish wording:

> “Those concerned in the offence were questioned.”

「涉及該事件 / 罪行的人受到查問。」

Lower-priority modern use.

L. CONCERNED TO + VERB

52. be concerned to do something = be anxious/eager to ensure it happens (正式英式) — 很希望 / 着意做.....

Example:

> “We are concerned to ensure that everyone is treated fairly.”

「我們十分重視並希望確保每個人都獲公平對待。」

This is a formal use.

It does not necessarily mean worry.

It can mean:

> be particularly interested/eager to achieve something.

Lower-priority but genuine.

M. CONCERNING = ABOUT / REGARDING

53. concerning = about; regarding (介詞) — 關於 ; 有關

Practice 40

> “We received several questions concerning the new policy.”

「我們收到幾個有關新政策的問題。」

Practice 41

> “Information concerning the application is available online.”

「關於申請的資料可在網上取得。」

This is formal but common.

Equivalent:

* regarding

* about * relating to

54. concerning = worrying / causing concern (形容詞) — 令人擔憂的

A major modern adjective use.

Practice 42

> “The decline is concerning.”

「這種下降情況令人擔憂。」

Practice 43

> “That is a concerning trend.”

「那是一個令人擔憂的趨勢。」

This is especially common in North American and increasingly international English.

Compare:

> concerning the problem

> = 關於這個問題 versus:

> the problem is concerning > = 這個問題令人擔憂.

Same form, completely different grammar.

55. increasingly / particularly concerning

> “The trend is increasingly concerning.”

「這個趨勢越來越令人擔憂。」

N. UNCONCERNED

56. unconcerned = not worried (不擔心的) **

Practice 44

> “She seemed surprisingly unconcerned about the delay.”

「她對延誤似乎出奇地不擔心。」

Opposite of:

> concerned.

57. unconcerned = not interested/caring; indifferent (漠不關心) **

Practice 45

> “He appeared unconcerned about how his behaviour affected others.”

「他似乎對自己的行為如何影響別人漠不關心。」

This can be more negative than simply:

> relaxed.

It may imply indifference.

58. unconcerned with = not involved in / unrelated to (無關) **

Formal:

> “This chapter is unconcerned with questions of cost.”

「本章不涉及成本問題。」

Rare compared with:

> does not deal with.

59. unconcernedly = without worry or interest (毫不在意地) **

> “He shrugged unconcernedly.”

「他毫不在意地聳了聳肩。」

Valid but lower frequency.

O. FIXED EXPRESSION: AS FAR AS ... IS CONCERNED

60. as far as X is concerned = regarding X (就.....而言) **

Practice 46

> “As far as cost is concerned, the second option is better.”

「就成本而言，第二個選擇較好。」

Meaning:

> with respect to X.

61. as far as I'm concerned = from my point of view (在我看來)

Practice 47

> “As far as I'm concerned, the matter is finished.”

「在我看來，這件事已經結束。」

This is one of the most common expressions.

62. as far as I'm concerned = as regards my own involvement/interests

It can also mean:

> as it relates to me personally.

Example:

> “As far as I'm concerned, you can use the room whenever you want.”

≈

「就我這方面而言，你隨時使用房間都可以。」

This is slightly different from merely “in my opinion.”

63. so far as X is concerned

Formal variant:

> “So far as safety is concerned...”

= 「就安全方面而言.....」

P. TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

64. To whom it may concern = generic formal salutation (敬啟者 / 致有關人士) **

Used when the specific recipient's name/role is unknown.

> To Whom It May Concern:

Traditional Chinese equivalents depend on document style:

* 敬啟者 : **

* 致有關人士 : **

It is formal and somewhat impersonal.

When a specific recipient can be identified, a named salutation is usually more direct.

Q. NO CONCERN OF YOURS / NONE OF YOUR CONCERN

65. none of your concern = not your business (與你無關) **

Already surfaced above, but important enough to retain as a fixed expression.

Tone can be:

* firm;

* dismissive;

* rude,

depending on delivery.

R. GOING CONCERN — BUSINESS/ACCOUNTING

66. concern = business/company/enterprise (企業) — 公司 ; 企業 ; 商業機構

A distinct noun meaning.

Practice 48

> “The family owns a small manufacturing concern.”

「這個家庭擁有一家小型製造企業。」

This is somewhat formal and less common than:

* company

* business

* firm

but still established.

Common:

* business concern

* commercial concern

* industrial concern

67. going concern = business expected to continue operating (持續經營企業)

In ordinary business usage:

> a going concern

means a functioning business expected to continue operating.

Practice 49

> “The restaurant was sold as a going concern.”

「這間餐廳以持續營運中的企業 / 整盤生意形式出售。」

Here it means:

> the business is sold as an operating enterprise rather than merely selling isolated assets.

68. going concern — accounting assumption/basis (持續經營)

In accounting, going concern is a formal concept concerning whether an entity is expected to continue operating rather than being forced into imminent liquidation/cessation.

Common:

- * going-concern assumption
- * going-concern basis
- * going-concern assessment
- * going-concern uncertainty

Exact accounting/audit requirements depend on the applicable standards.

繁體中文：  持續經營假設 / 持續經營能力

69. *going-concern value = value of business as continuing operation (持續經營價值) ****

Distinct from simply valuing individual assets separately.

Specialist accounting/valuation use.

S. OLDER/FORMAL: FINANCIAL INTEREST / INVOLVEMENT

70. *a concern in something = an interest/share/involvement (較舊) ****

Older/formal English can use concern for:

> an interest, share, or involvement in an undertaking.

This is now uncommon in ordinary English.

Database status: genuine historical/formal branch; low priority.

T. PROFESSIONAL / TECHNICAL USE: SAFETY & RISK

71. *concern = identified issue requiring attention (風險 / 品質) ****

In engineering, medicine, compliance, safety, etc.:

> a concern

often means:

> a potential problem requiring investigation or mitigation.

Examples:

- * safety concern
- * quality concern
- * compliance concern
- * security concern
- * privacy concern

These belong to the countable issue/problem sense.

72. area of concern = area/problem needing attention (關注領域)

Practice 50

> “Staffing remains an area of concern.”

「人手問題仍是一個需要關注的領域。」

Very common in:

- * audits
- * reviews
- * inspections
- * education
- * healthcare

73. concern level / level of concern (關注程度)

Compositional rather than an independent meaning.

U. MEDICAL / HEALTHCARE USES

74. clinical concern = issue that may need medical attention (臨床疑慮)

> “The symptom is not currently a major clinical concern.”

「目前這個症狀並不是重大的臨床疑慮。」

Still the issue/problem sense.

75. presenting concern = main issue bringing a client/patient for help (心理 / 輔導) **

In counseling, psychology, and related settings, presenting concern may refer to the problem or difficulty a client initially reports.

Related expressions:

- * presenting problem

- * chief concern

Specialist domain application.

76. chief concern = primary complaint/problem (主要問題) **

Depending on healthcare setting:

- > patient's chief concern can mean the main issue that prompted the visit.

Terminology varies by profession/institution.

V. SECURITY / ADMINISTRATIVE PHRASES

77. person of concern = person attracting attention because of a potential issue/risk

This phrase occurs in administrative, security, public-health, or institutional contexts, but it does not have one universal legal definition.

Meaning depends heavily on the organization using it.

Avoid assuming:

- > person of concern = suspect

unless the specific system defines it that way.

78. matter of concern = issue requiring attention

Already discussed, but especially common in formal institutional writing.

W. SOCIAL / ETHICAL USE

79. concern for others = regard for others' welfare (關懷他人) **

Practice 51

> “Good citizenship requires concern for others.”

「良好的公民素養需要關懷他人。」

This bridges concern with your earlier targets:

* consideration

* considerate

* courtesy.

80. social concern = issue society cares/worries about OR concern for society

Context-sensitive.

Example:

> “Housing is a major social concern.”

= 住房是一個重大社會關注問題。

But:

> “His writing shows deep social concern.”

= 他的作品表現出深厚的社會關懷。

Two related but distinct readings.

X. CONCERNING IN FORMAL DOCUMENTS

81. *concerning X = regarding X (有關 X) ****

Common in:

- * regulations
- * reports
- * official emails
- * legal documents

Example:

> “Questions concerning payment should be sent to accounts.”

「*有關付款的問題*應交予會計部門。」

82. concerning matter/development = worrying matter/development

> “This is a concerning development.”

「這是一項*令人擔憂的發展*。」

Again, distinguish preposition from adjective.

Y. IMPORTANT COLLOCATIONS

With concern meaning worry

- * express concern
- * voice concern
- * show concern
- * feel concern
- * cause concern
- * raise concern(s)
- * growing concern
- * widespread concern
- * deep concern
- * serious concern
- * public concern

With concern meaning issue

- * major concern
- * main concern
- * primary concern
- * safety concern
- * health concern
- * privacy concern
- * environmental concern
- * area of concern
- * matter of concern

Verbal responses to concerns

- * address concerns
- * respond to concerns
- * acknowledge concerns
- * dismiss concerns
- * alleviate concerns
- * ease concerns
- * allay concerns
- * resolve concerns

Your passage uses:

> “That concern is real and should not be dismissed.”

So:

dismiss a concern = treat it as unimportant or unworthy of serious attention

Z. IMPORTANT DISTINCTIONS

worry

is the ordinary emotional feeling of anxiety.

concern

can mean:

1. emotional worry;
2. caring interest;
3. a specific issue/problem deserving attention.

Compare:

> "I worry about safety."

= I feel anxious.

> "Safety is a concern."

= safety is an issue that needs attention.

This second construction is especially important.

concern vs anxiety anxiety

usually emphasizes the emotional/psychological state.

concern

is milder and broader.

You can have:

> legitimate concern

without experiencing clinical or intense anxiety.

concern vs fear

fear

usually expects or anticipates danger/harm more strongly.

concern

may simply mean:

> this deserves attention.

> concern about costs

does not necessarily involve fear.

concern vs problem

problem

means an actual difficulty needing a solution.

concern

can be:

- * an actual problem;
- * a possible problem;
- * a reason for worry.

> "There is concern about safety."

does not necessarily prove that a safety failure has occurred.

concern vs issue

issue

is very broad and relatively neutral.

concern

adds:

> importance, worry, or need for attention.

> scheduling issue

> safety concern

concern vs consideration

Highly relevant to your passage.

concern

= worry, care, or an issue deserving attention.

consideration

= careful thought OR thoughtfulness toward others.

> concern for elderly customers

> consideration for elderly customers

The first emphasizes:

> caring/worry.

The second emphasizes:

> adjusting your behaviour because you have thought about their needs.

concern vs care

care

is broader and often more personal/emotional.

concern

can be formal and impersonal.

> parental care

> public concern

concern vs interest interest

means curiosity, attention, involvement, or stake.

concern

often includes responsibility or worry.

- > interest in education
- > concern about education quality

Different emotional orientation.

concern vs relevance

relevance

means direct connection to the matter.

concern

in:

- > “That doesn't concern you.”

can mean:

- > it is not relevant to/involving you.

But concern has many additional emotional senses that relevance lacks.

concern vs responsibility

means duty/accountability.

concern

can refer more broadly to a matter that someone deals with or cares about.

- > “That's not my responsibility.”

stronger than:

> “That's not my concern.”

depending on context.

concerned vs worried

concerned

often sounds slightly more formal and can mean:

- * worried;
- * involved;
- * interested;
- * relevant.

worried

almost always means anxious.

So:

> “the people concerned”

≠ worried people.

It means:

> the relevant people.

concerned about vs concerned with Critical distinction:

concerned about X

= worried about X.

> “She is concerned about pollution.”

「她擔心污染問題。」 concerned with X

= dealing with / interested in / about X.

> “The report is concerned with pollution.”

「這份報告探討污染問題。」

No worry is implied in the second.

concerned for vs concerned about concerned for someone usually emphasizes their welfare:

> concerned for the children.

concerned about X

broader:

> concerned about costs.

concerning vs concerned

concerning + noun

= regarding/about

> “a letter concerning your application” concerned about

= worried about

> “I'm concerned about your application.”

concerning adjective

= worrying

> “The delay is concerning.”

Three different structures.

concerning vs regarding

As prepositions, they are close:

> concerning the application

> regarding the application

Both = 關於.

Regarding may feel slightly more neutral/common in business correspondence.

concerning vs worrying

As adjectives:

> concerning trend

> worrying trend

Very similar.

Concerning often has a formal/professional tone.

unconcerned vs calm

calm

means emotionally composed.

unconcerned means not worried and can imply:

> insufficient interest/care.

Someone can remain calm while still being deeply concerned.

concern vs business in “none of your business”

> “It's none of your concern.”

and:

> “It's none of your business.”

are similar.

But business is usually more conversational/blunt.

AA. GRAMMAR

83. concern + direct object — worry

> “The situation concerns me.”

= 令我擔心。

84. concern + direct object — involve/affect

> “The rule concerns all employees.”

= 規則涉及所有員工。

Same grammar; context selects the meaning.

85. concern + subject matter

> “The article concerns education.”

= 文章關於教育。

Again same transitive grammar.

86. be concerned about

> worried about

87. be concerned for > worried/caring for someone's welfare.

88. be concerned with > deal with / be about / focus on.

89. be concerned in

> be involved in; formal/lower-frequency.

90. concern oneself with > involve/direct oneself toward a matter.

91. concern that + clause

As noun:

> "There is concern that costs will rise."

「有人擔心成本會上升。」

92. concern over/about + noun

> concern over costs

> concern about safety

93. concern for + person/value

- > concern for students
- > concern for the environment

Can mean caring interest/welfare.

94. of concern to

- > “This issue is of concern to parents.”

= 這問題令家長關注 / 擔憂。

AB. COUNTABILITY

concern = worry in general

Often uncountable:

- > express concern
- > show concern
- > concern about safety

a concern = specific issue/worry

Countable:

- > a major concern
- > three concerns

concerns = individual worries/issues

- > “Customers raised several concerns.”

「顧客提出了幾項疑慮 / 關注事項。」 concern = business/company

Countable:

- > a manufacturing concern
- > several commercial concerns

For your original sentence

> “That concern is real and should not be dismissed.”

The exact meaning is:

concern = 很多學生家中缺乏安靜空間，而公共圖書館 / 自修室又可能爆滿——這確實是一個需要被認真看待的實際問題

So:

> That concern is real.

is broader than merely:

> 「那種擔心是真的。」

A more natural interpretation is:

> 「這個憂慮是有根據的 / 這確實是一個值得關注的問題。」

The writer then says:

> should not be dismissed

which means:

> 不應因為不同意利用餐廳補習，就把這個真正的空間問題當成不重要。

For the core database, I would keep 6 major semantic branches for concern:

1. noun: worry/anxiety
2. noun: a specific issue/problem deserving attention
3. noun: caring interest in another person's welfare
4. verb: worry someone
5. verb: be about / relate to / involve or affect
6. noun: business/company, especially in formal/business usage

But the whole family should explicitly index concerned = worried vs involved/relevant, concerned with, concerning = regarding vs worrying, as far as X is concerned, To whom it may concern, unconcerned, and going concern, because those are precisely the places where treating the family as simply “擔心” would produce major errors.
