Base word: fashion

Forms: fashions, fashioned, fashioning

Related forms: fashionable, fashionably, unfashionable, fashionability

Useful lexical extension: fashionista

Part of speech: noun (名詞) / verb (動詞) / related adjective and adverb forms (相關形容詞及副詞)

Your sentence:

> “The main reason it is my favourite is that it means more to me than just fashion.”

Meaning in this passage

Here, fashion means clothing, style, and the changing ideas about what looks attractive or stylish.

The speaker means the jacket matters for emotional reasons, not merely because it looks stylish or belongs to the world of clothing trends.

繁體中文： 時尚；服裝風格；關於衣着、外表和流行款式的時尚概念

中文翻譯：

> “...it means more to me than just fashion.”

「.....它對我來說不只是時尚 / 穿搭風格而已。」

Here:

more than just fashion = 它的價值不只在於好看、時尚或容易配搭，還帶有感情和回憶

1. fashion = currently popular style or trend (流行) — 時尚；流行款式；潮流

This is the central everyday meaning.

Meaning: A style of clothing, appearance, design, behaviour, etc. that is popular at a particular time.

「有些風格會流行很多年。」 fashion = 某個時期普遍受歡迎、被認為時髦的穿着、設計或風格

Common:

- * in fashion
- * out of fashion
- * latest fashion
- * changing fashion
- * fashion trend

2. fashion = clothing/style as an area of interest (衣着時尚) — 時尚；服裝風格

This is the meaning most directly relevant to your passage.

Meaning: Clothing and personal style considered as an area of taste, design, and appearance.

Practice 4 — Original

> “The jacket means more to me than just fashion.”

「這件外套對我來說不只是時尚 / 穿搭而已。」

Practice 5

> “She has always been interested in fashion.”

「她一直都對時尚 / 服裝潮流很有興趣。」

Practice 6

> “He does not care much about fashion.”

「他不太在意*時尚穿搭*。」

fashion = 關於衣服、造型、穿搭和外表風格的領域

For strict counting, #1 and #2 are closely related, but the distinction is useful:

* in fashion → currently popular

* interested in fashion → clothing/style as a field

3. fashion = fashion industry/business (產業) — 時裝業 ; 時尚界

Fashion can refer to the commercial and professional world of clothing design, production, marketing, modelling, publishing, etc.

Practice 7

> “She works in fashion.”

「她在*時裝業 / 時尚界*工作。」

Practice 8

> “The city is an important centre for fashion.”

「這座城市是重要的*時尚產業中心*。」

fashion = 設計、生產、推廣及銷售服裝和相關產品的產業 / 專業領域

Common:

* fashion industry

* fashion designer

* fashion brand

* fashion magazine

* fashion week

This is an established metonymic branch.

4. fashion = a particular way or manner of doing something (方式) — 方式 ; 方法 ; 樣子

This is a very important non-clothing meaning.

Practice 9

> “The information was presented in a clear fashion.”

「資料以清楚的*方式*呈現。」

Practice 10

> “They responded in a similar fashion.”

「他們以相似的*方式*回應。」

in a ... fashion = 以某種方式 / 方法

Common:

- * in this fashion
- * in a similar fashion
- * in an orderly fashion
- * in a systematic fashion

This is a genuinely distinct core meaning.

5. fashion = style/form characteristic of something (樣式 / 形式) — 樣式 ; 形式

Related to Meaning 4, fashion can describe the form or style in which something is made or done.

Practice 11

> “The room was decorated in traditional fashion.”

「房間以傳統*風格 / 方式*裝飾。」

Practice 12

> “The pieces were arranged in a circular fashion.”

「這些物件以圓形的*方式 / 排列形式*擺放。」

For strict counting, this belongs with Meaning 4.

6. fashion = verb: make or shape something (製作 / 塑造) — 製作 ; 塑造成

As a verb, fashion means to make or shape something, often skilfully and usually from a particular material.

Practice 13

> “They fashioned a simple tool from wood.”

「他們用木頭製作了一件簡單工具。」

Practice 14

> “She fashioned the clay into a small bowl.”

「她把黏土塑造成一個小碗。」

fashion something from/out of something = 用某種材料製成某物

fashion something into something = 把某物塑造成另一種形態

This is a major verb sense.

7. fashion = verb: create or develop something abstract (塑造 / 形成) — 塑造 ; 打造

The verb can also be figurative.

Practice 15

> “He fashioned a successful career from modest beginnings.”

「他從普通的起點一步步打造出成功的事業。」

Practice 16

> “The writer fashioned the story from several real events.”

「作家根據幾件真實事件構成 / 創作了這個故事。」 fashion = 有意識地塑造、構成或打造某種結果

For strict counting, this is the figurative extension of Meaning 6.

8. fashioned after/on = modelled to resemble something (仿照) — 仿照；模仿.....製成

Practice 17

> “The building was fashioned after a traditional temple.”

「這座建築是仿照傳統寺廟設計的。」

Practice 18

> “The character was fashioned on a real person.”

「這個角色是以一位真人為原型塑造的。」

This is an established construction within the verb “shape/create” branch.

9. in fashion = fashionable/popular (固定表達) — 流行；時髦

Practice 19

> “Denim jackets are still in fashion.”

「牛仔外套仍然很流行。」

in fashion = 當下受到歡迎、被視為時髦

10. out of fashion = no longer fashionable (固定表達) — 過時；不再流行

Practice 20

> “That style went out of fashion years ago.”

「那種款式很多年前已經過時 / 不再流行。」

Common:

* come into fashion

* go out of fashion

* fall out of fashion

These all belong to Meaning 1.

11. after a fashion = in a way, but not very well (固定習語) — 勉強算是；馬馬虎虎地

This is a genuine idiom and very different from clothing fashion.

Practice 21

> “He can cook, after a fashion.”

「他也算會煮飯，不過只是馬馬虎虎。」

Practice 22

> “The repair worked, after a fashion.”

「這個修理也算有效，只是效果勉強。」

after a fashion = 某程度上算是做到，但做得並不理想

This should be stored as a fixed expression rather than a separate core sense.

Related form: fashionable

Fashionable has several important branches.

fashionable = currently stylish/popular (時髦的) — 時尚的；流行的

Practice 23

> “She wore a very fashionable jacket.”

「她穿了一件非常時尚的外套。」 fashionable = 符合目前流行風格、被認為時髦的

fashionable = popular among influential/socially prominent people (熱門 / 高尚的) — 時興的；受上流 / 潮流人士歡迎的

Practice 24

> “The neighbourhood became a fashionable place to live.”

「那個社區成為很時興 / 受歡迎的高尚住宅區。」

Practice 25

> “The restaurant is popular with a fashionable crowd.”

「這間餐廳很受時尚圈 / 社交圈人士歡迎。」

Here fashionable can imply social status and trendiness, not just clothing.

fashionable = currently popular as an idea/practice (觀念) — 時興的 ; 流行的

Practice 26

> “It became fashionable to criticize the old approach.”

「批評舊方法一度變得很流行 / 時興。」

So fashionable can apply to:

- * clothes
- * places
- * activities
- * opinions
- * intellectual trends

Related form: fashionably

Practice 27

> “She was fashionably dressed.”

「她穿得很時尚。」

Practice 28

> “They arrived fashionably late.”

「他們故意遲一點到，以顯得符合社交時尚 / 有派頭。」

fashionably late is a common expression meaning arriving somewhat late because this is considered socially stylish or acceptable.

Related form: unfashionable

Unfashionable means not currently fashionable or socially fashionable.

Practice 29

> “The style became unfashionable.”

「這種風格變得不再流行 / 過時。」

Practice 30

> “It was once considered an unfashionable neighbourhood.”

「那個社區以前被認為是不時興 / 不受潮流人士歡迎的地區。」

Related form: fashionability

Fashionability means the quality or degree of being fashionable.

> “The area’s fashionability increased.”

「這個地區的時尚程度 / 受潮流人士歡迎程度提高了。」

Valid, but much lower frequency.

Useful lexical extension: fashionista

A fashionista is someone very interested in fashion and usually highly conscious of current styles.

Practice 31

> “The event attracted bloggers and fashionistas.”

「活動吸引了博客和很多時尚愛好者 / 潮人。」

This is informal but established.

Useful compound: fashion statement — 時尚宣言；以服裝表達個人風格

Practice 32

> “The bright coat makes a strong fashion statement.”

「這件鮮色大衣作出了很強烈的時尚風格表達。」

A fashion statement is clothing or styling deliberately chosen to express identity, taste, or attitude.

Useful compound: fast fashion — 快速時尚

Fast fashion refers to a business model involving rapidly produced, trend-driven, relatively inexpensive clothing.

This is a lexicalized industry term and should be treated as a compound, not a new sense of fashion.

Useful compound: old-fashioned — 老派的；過時的

Old-fashioned can mean:

- * no longer fashionable;
- * characteristic of an earlier period;
- * traditional in beliefs or methods.

It is highly useful but lexicalized enough to deserve its own treatment rather than being counted as another bare fashion meaning.

Important distinction: fashion vs style

style

is broader and usually more personal or enduring.

fashion

often refers to what is currently popular.

- > personal style
- > current fashion

A person can have a distinctive style without following fashion.

Important distinction: fashion vs trend

trend

= a general direction of change or growing popularity

fashion

= a style or practice currently popular, especially in clothing/design

> fashion trend

shows that the concepts overlap but are not identical.

A trend may exist in economics, technology, demographics, etc., where fashion would not normally work.

Important distinction: fashion vs clothing

clothing

= garments themselves

fashion

= changing styles, design, taste, and cultural/commercial activity around clothing

- > clothing store
- > fashion industry

So clothing is the physical product; fashion is the broader style/trend system.

Important distinction: fashion vs outfit

outfit

= a particular set of clothes someone is wearing

fashion

= broader style/trend concept

> nice outfit

> interested in fashion

Important distinction: fashion vs fad

fad

means something intensely popular for a short time.

fashion

may be temporary, but does not automatically imply that it is trivial or very short-lived.

> passing fad

> changing fashion

Important distinction: fashionable vs stylish

fashionable

= consistent with current trends

stylish

= attractive and showing good style

Something can be stylish without being fashionable.

That distinction fits your jacket passage particularly well: a classic denim jacket can remain stylish even when it is not the newest fashion.

Grammar and countability note

Fashion changes countability by meaning.

Usually uncountable — general fashion field

> “She works in fashion.”

> “He is interested in fashion.”

Countable — particular fashions/styles

> “Fashions change.”

> “Victorian fashions were very different.”

Countable — manner, especially formal constructions

> “in a similar fashion”

Here:

> a ... fashion

means a particular way/manner.

Family-extension note

The practical modern family includes:

* fashion
* fashions
* fashioned
* fashioning
* fashionable
* fashionably
* unfashionable
* fashionability

Useful lexical extensions/compounds:

- * fashionista
- * fashion statement
- * fast fashion
- * fashion-conscious
- * old-fashioned

The major semantic split is between:

1. style/trend
2. manner/way
3. verb: make/shape

The industry meaning develops naturally from #1 and should not be artificially separated into dozens of clothing/business sub-senses.

Master comparison

For your original sentence

> “The main reason it is my favourite is that it means more to me than just fashion.”

The exact meaning is:

fashion = 衣服的時尚性、穿搭風格和外表吸引力

So:

> more than just fashion

= 不只是因為它時尚、好看或容易配搭

The jacket also carries emotional memories and personal meaning.

For your database, I would count 3 genuinely useful core meanings for `fashion`:

1. popular style/trend, especially clothing and appearance
2. manner or way in which something is done
3. verb — make, shape, or construct something

I would keep fashion industry under #1 as a metonymic extension, merge figurative fashion a career/story into #3, and keep in fashion / out of fashion / after a fashion as important fixed constructions rather than inflate the core count.
