門線防守成功

Specialist.

FJ. GOAL LINE — AMERICAN FOOTBALL

174. goal line

American football:

= line separating field of play from end zone

達陣線

Same English compound, different sport-specific Chinese.

FK. GOAL = DESTINATION? — CAUTION

In ordinary modern English, goal usually means:

desired result

rather than a literal physical destination.

For a physical place one is traveling toward, prefer:

- destination
- endpoint

However, goal can figuratively be the “destination” of a process.

FL. GOAL vs AIM

175. goal

= result/state one wants to achieve

目標

176. aim

= purpose/intention toward which effort is directed; can also be a verb

目的; 目標; 旨在

Compare:

My goal is to improve my writing.
我的目標是改善寫作。

The course aims to improve writing.
課程旨在改善寫作。

Strong overlap.

FM. GOAL vs OBJECTIVE

177. goal

= broad desired result
目標

178. objective

= often more specific, formally defined result intended to be achieved 具體目標

In business/education/project management:

goal
often broader objective

often more measurable/specific

But real usage overlaps considerably.

FN. GOAL vs TARGET

179. goal

= desired outcome
目標

180. target

= often a specific measurable level, number, or benchmark

指標; 目標值

Compare:

goal: improve customer satisfaction

目標: 改善客戶滿意度

target: reach 90% satisfaction

指標: 達到 90%

This distinction is useful though not absolute.

FO. GOAL vs PURPOSE

181. purpose

= reason why something exists/is done

目的; 用途

182. goal

= result one is trying to reach

目標

Compare:

The purpose of the exercise is to build empathy.

練習的目的是培養同理心。

Our goal is for students to recognize different perspectives.

我們的目標是讓學生理解不同觀點。

In the passage, goal is very close to purpose.

FP. GOAL vs INTENTION

183. intention

= what someone plans/intends to do 意圖;打算

184. goal

= state/result they want to reach
目標

An intention may be:

“I intend to study tonight.”

A goal may be:

“I want to finish three chapters.”

FQ. GOAL vs PLAN

185. goal

= where you want to end up 目標

186. plan

= method/steps for getting there 計畫

Useful conceptual distinction:

goal = destination
plan = route

This mirrors the passage:

acting is not the goal; it is the route.

FR. GOAL vs STRATEGY

187. goal

= desired result

目標

188. strategy

= broad approach for achieving it

策略

FS. GOAL vs TASK

189. task

= piece of work that must be done

任務

190. goal

= result the task is intended to help achieve

目標

One goal may require many tasks.

FT. GOAL vs MILESTONE

191. milestone

= important intermediate point indicating progress
里程碑; 階段性成果

192. goal

= intended outcome
目標

A milestone can mark progress toward a goal.

FU. GOAL vs OUTCOME

193. goal

= intended result 預期目標

194. outcome

= actual result that occurs
結果; 成效

Critical distinction:

Goal = what you want.

Outcome = what actually happens.

FV. GOAL vs RESULT

195. result

= consequence/output that actually occurs 結果

196. goal

= intended result before it occurs

目標

FW. GOAL vs ACHIEVEMENT

197. goal

= desired result

目標

198. achievement

= something successfully accomplished

成就; 達成的成果

A goal becomes an achievement once it is accomplished.

FX. GOAL vs AMBITION

199. ambition

= strong desire to achieve something significant, often long-term

抱負; 雄心

200. goal

= more neutral specific desired result

目標

Compare:

Her ambition is to become a judge.

她的抱負是成為法官。

Her current goal is to enter law school.
她目前的目標是入讀法律學院。

FY. GOAL vs DREAM

201. dream

Figurative:

= strongly desired future possibility, sometimes idealistic 夢想

202. goal

= desired result toward which deliberate action is usually directed
目標

A dream can become a goal when defined and pursued concretely.

FZ. GOAL vs ASPIRATION

203. aspiration

= hope/ambition for future development or achievement
志向; 抱負

204. goal

= more concrete intended result
目標

GA. GOAL vs PRIORITY

205. priority

= thing judged more important than others

優先事項

206. goal

= result one wants to achieve

目標

A goal may be a priority, but not every priority is formulated as a goal.

GB. GOAL vs KPI

207. goal

= desired business outcome

目標

208. KPI

= key performance indicator used to measure performance

關鍵績效指標

A KPI measures progress/performance; it is not automatically the goal itself.

GC. GOAL vs METRIC

209. metric

= quantity used to measure something

衡量指標

210. goal

= desired state/value/result 目標

Example:

Metric: customer retention rate
Goal: 90% retention

GD. GOAL vs QUOTA

211. quota

= officially assigned required amount/number 配額; 定額

212. goal

= desired achievement
目標

A quota may be mandatory; a goal need not be.

GE. GOAL vs BENCHMARK

213. benchmark

= standard/reference point used for comparison 基準

214. goal

= desired future result
目標

GF. GOAL vs STANDARD

215. standard

= expected level/criterion of quality/performance 標準

216. goal

= result one is trying to achieve
目標

GG. GOAL vs DESTINATION — METAPHOR

217. destination

= physical/place endpoint 目的地

218. goal

= intended result
目標

The metaphor:

“goal = destination”

is conceptually useful, but literal English normally reserves destination for travel.

GH. GOAL vs END

219. end

= final point/result; can also mean purpose in formal expressions

終點; 目的

220. goal

= result intentionally pursued

目標

Formal phrase:

means to an end

達到目的的手段

closely parallels the passage's contrast between route and goal.

GI. MEANS TO AN END — RELATED CONCEPT

221. means to an end

= something done not for itself but as a way to achieve another purpose

達到目的的手段

Passage connection

Drama acting is presented as:

a means to an end

where the end/goal is:

deeper thinking.

GJ. GOAL vs MOTIVE

222. motive

= reason prompting a person's behavior 動機

223. goal

= result they hope the behavior will achieve
目標

A character can have:

- motive: fear of rejection
 - goal: avoid being excluded

GK. GOAL vs DESIRE

224. desire

= feeling of wanting something 渴望; 願望

225. goal

= desired result organized as something to pursue
目標

GL. GOAL vs NEED

226. need

= something necessary 需要

227. goal

= intended outcome

目標

GM. GOAL vs VALUE

228. value

= principle or thing considered important

價值; 價值觀

229. goal

= result pursued

目標

Values often influence which goals people choose.

GN. KEY GRAMMAR — GOAL OF

230. goal of + activity/process

the goal of education

教育的目標

the goal of the activity

GO. GOAL IS TO + VERB

231. goal is to do something

= intended action/result

目標是做某事

Practice

1. The goal is to encourage reflection.

目標是鼓勵反思。

Very high-value structure.

GP. GOAL IS FOR + PERSON + TO VERB

232. goal is for someone to do something

= desired result is that someone performs/develops something 目標是讓某人.....

Practice

1. The goal is for students to explain their choices.

目標是讓學生解釋自己的選擇。

GQ. GOAL OF DOING SOMETHING

233. with the goal of doing something

= with the intention of achieving that result

目的是.....; 以.....為目標

Practice

1. The lesson was redesigned with the goal of increasing participation.

課堂重新設計，目的是提升參與度。

GR. TOWARD / TOWARDS A GOAL

234. toward a goal

= in the direction of achieving it 朝著目標

GS. IN PURSUIT OF A GOAL

235. in pursuit of a goal

= while actively trying to achieve it 為追求某目標

Formal.

GT. CONSISTENT WITH A GOAL

236. consistent with a goal

= compatible with achieving it 與目標一致

GU. SUPPORT A GOAL

237. support a goal

= contribute to achieving a goal
支持／有助實現目標

GV. UNDERMINE A GOAL

238. undermine a goal

= make achieving it more difficult 削弱／妨礙目標實現

GW. ADVANCE A GOAL

推進目標

Formal/business/policy use.

GX. SERVE A GOAL

240. serve a goal

= contribute to a purpose
服務於／有助達成目標

Practice

1. Every activity should serve the learning goal.
每項活動都應服務於學習目標。

GY. GOAL IS NOT THE ACTIVITY ITSELF

The passage illustrates an important conceptual distinction:

activity

→ what students do versus:

goal

→ why they are doing it / what should result

So:

acting

= activity / method

deeper thinking

= goal

This is an important education/project-management contrast.

GZ. GOAL AS PURPOSE vs GOAL AS SCORE

241. goal — purpose

Our goal is deeper learning.

我們的目標是深入學習。

242. goal — sports score

She scored a goal.

她射入一球。

243. goal — sports structure

The ball hit the goal.
球撞到球門。

Same noun, three clearly distinct practical interpretations.

HA. “GOAL” COUNTABILITY

244. a goal / goals

The purpose sense is normally countable:

a goal 一個目標 several goals 幾個目標

HB. BROAD GOAL vs SPECIFIC OBJECTIVE

245. broad goal

= general desired direction/outcome 廣泛目標

246. specific objective

= more precisely defined intended result 具體目標

Useful hierarchy:

goal → objectives → actions/tasks

although organizations use terminology differently.

HC. GOAL-SETTING THEORY

247. goal-setting theory

Psychology/management:

= research/theoretical tradition examining how characteristics of goals affect motivation and performance

目標設定理論

Associated with factors such as:

- specificity
- difficulty
- commitment
- feedback

Specialist but established.

HD. GOAL ORIENTATION — PSYCHOLOGY/EDUCATION

248. goal orientation

= characteristic way people define success and direct achievement behavior

目標取向

May include frameworks involving mastery and performance orientations.

HE. MASTERY-GOAL ORIENTATION

249. mastery-goal orientation

= replacing one goal with another

目標替代

HN. GOAL CASCADE / CASCADING GOALS

258. cascading goals

Management:

= translating higher-level organizational goals into lower-level team/individual goals

目標層層分解; 目標展開

HO. GOAL OWNERSHIP

259. goal ownership

= degree to which a person feels responsible for/committed to a goal

目標責任感; 目標歸屬感

Management/coaching term.

HP. GOAL REVIEW

260. goal review

= periodic evaluation of progress/relevance of goals

目標檢討

HQ. GOAL RESET

261. reset a goal / goal reset

= establish a new target after circumstances change

重新設定目標

Productivity/business use.

HR. GOAL TRACKER

262. goal tracker

= tool/system for monitoring goals and progress

目標追蹤工具

HS. DAILY / WEEKLY GOAL

263. daily goal

每日目標

264. weekly goal

每週目標

Common productivity/fitness/app usage.

HT. STEP GOAL

265. step goal

Fitness trackers:

= desired number of steps in a day/period

步數目標

HU. CALORIE GOAL

266. calorie goal

= target calorie intake/expenditure

卡路里目標

Fitness app usage.

HV. SAVINGS GOAL

267. savings goal

= amount of money one aims to save

儲蓄目標

HW. FUNDRAISING GOAL

268. fundraising goal

捐款目標

HY. CLIMATE / EMISSIONS GOAL

270. emissions goal

= desired emissions level/reduction

排放目標

271. climate goal

= policy/organizational target relating to climate outcomes 氣候目標

HZ. GOAL = TARGET NUMBER — OVERLAP

In modern business/app language, goal may itself be numerical:

daily goal: 10,000 steps
每日目標: 10,000 步

So the distinction:

goal = broad target = numerical is useful but not absolute.

IA. GOAL SEEKING IN CONTROL SYSTEMS

272. goal-seeking behavior

Systems/control/AI:

= behavior directed toward reducing difference between current state and desired state 目標尋求行為

Specialist.

IB. GOAL ERROR / DISTANCE TO GOAL

273. distance to goal

= difference between current state and desired outcome

距離目標的差距

Planning/optimization concept.

IC. GOAL SATISFACTION

274. goal satisfaction

= condition in which goal requirements have been fulfilled

目標滿足

Formal AI/planning/logic usage.

ID. GOAL CONSTRAINT

275. goal constraint

= constraint specifying desired/required end-state properties

目標約束條件

Technical optimization/planning term.

IE. GOAL MODEL — SOFTWARE / REQUIREMENTS ENGINEERING

276. goal model

= model representing stakeholder/system goals and relationships among them 目標模型

Used in requirements engineering.

IF. GOAL-ORIENTED REQUIREMENTS ENGINEERING

277. goal-oriented requirements engineering

= approach modeling system requirements around stakeholder goals 目標導向需求工程

Specialist software-engineering term.

IG. GOAL = DESTINATION IN SPORTING FIELD

Historically and semantically, sports goal involves an endpoint/mark that competitors aim toward.

This helps explain the conceptual relationship between:

goal = scoring target

and:

goal = desired result

In both cases, it is something aimed at.

IH. GOALPOST — FIGURATIVE EXTENSION

The physical goalposts define where a goal can be scored.

Thus:

move the goalposts

metaphorically means:

change the criteria defining success after someone has begun trying to meet them.

This is one of the clearest sports-to-general-language metaphors.

II. FAMILY SWEEP

278. goal — purpose

= desired result

目標; 目的

279. goal — personal/business/learning target

= intended achievement

目標

280. goal — sports structure

= involving no goals 沒有入球的

283. goal-oriented

= focused on achieving goals
目標導向的

284. goal-directed

= organized toward a desired outcome 目標導向的

285. goal-driven

= strongly motivated by goals 目標驅動的

286. goal-setting

= process of defining goals 目標設定

287. subgoal

= smaller goal supporting larger goal 子目標

288. goalkeeper

= player defending goal 守門員

289. goalkeeping

= skill/activity of goalkeeping 守門技術

290. goalpost

= upright post of goal 球門柱

291. goalmouth

= area immediately before goal 球門前區域

IJ. SEMANTIC MAP

The central concept of GOAL is:

something that effort or movement is directed toward

This produces two major historical/modern branches.

A. Desired result

Passage

final goal → 最終目標

Also:

learning goal → 學習目標

career goal → 職業目標 business goal → 業務目標

Here, people direct effort toward the goal.

B. Sports target

football goal

→ 球門

Players direct the ball toward the goal.

From this comes:

score a goal

→ 取得入球

C. Planning and psychology

goal setting

→ 目標設定

goal-directed behavior

→ 目標導向行為

goal conflict

→ 目標衝突

D. AI / problem solving

goal state

→ 目標狀態

A system moves from:

current state

to:

desired goal state.

E. Figurative sports idioms

move the goalposts
→ 中途改變成功標準 own goal → 自擺烏龍／自招損失

open goal → 極易把握的機會

The semantic connection remains:

the goal defines what counts as success.

IL. PASSAGE RECAP

“That way, parents can see that the acting is not the final goal; it is the route towards deeper thinking.”

Here:

goal

= the intended purpose or result that an activity is designed to achieve

Best Traditional Chinese:

- 目標
- 目的
- contextually: 最終目標

Natural contextual translation:

這樣一來，家長便能看到，表演本身並不是最終目標；它只是通往更深入思考的一條途徑。

Passage MCQ-ready meaning

goal

= something that a person, activity, or organization is trying to achieve

目標；目的

The passage makes a particularly useful distinction:

acting
→ the method/activity

but:

deeper thinking
→ the goal

So:

goal
is where you want to arrive, while:

method / route / strategy is how you get there.

The biggest learner branches are:

learning goal
→ 學習目標

career goal → 職業目標

set a goal → 設定目標 achieve a goal → 達成目標

fall short of a goal → 未達目標

goal-oriented → 目標導向的

Psychology adds:

goal-directed behavior
→ 目標導向行為

AI/computing adds:

goal state → 目標狀態

goal test

→ 目標測試

Sports then creates the major concrete branch:

football goal

→ 球門 and:

score a goal

→ 攻入一球 which in turn produces important figurative idioms:

move the goalposts

→ 中途改變成功標準／規則

score an own goal

→ 自擺烏龍、反而傷害自己

an open goal

→ 極容易把握的機會

The central semantic formula is:

GOAL = something toward which action is directed.

That can be:

1. a desired result in life, school, or business,
2. a target state in psychology or AI,
3. or literally the scoring target in a sport.

In the passage, goal belongs entirely to the first branch: drama is valuable not because acting itself is the desired endpoint, but because acting functions as a means toward deeper understanding, reflection, empathy, and thinking.
