

Absolutely — healthy is a strong target because your passage uses it here:

> “Watching tiny seeds turn into something alive and healthy makes her feel that patience really pays off.”

Here healthy means growing well and being in good condition, but the word also extends to people, food, habits, relationships, businesses, amounts, appearance, and the wider family health / unhealthy / healthily.

Word family: health / healthy / healthier / healthiest / healthily / unhealthy

Base noun: health

Adjective: healthy

Comparative: healthier

Superlative: healthiest

Adverb: healthily

Opposite adjective: unhealthy

Part of speech: adjective (形容詞) / noun family (名詞詞族)

Meaning in your passage: healthy = growing well / in good condition — 健康生長的；狀況良好的

Your sentence:

> “Watching tiny seeds turn into something alive and healthy...”

Here healthy refers to plants that are:

> growing normally, strongly, and without obvious disease or damage.

繁體中文：

生長良好、有活力、沒有明顯病害或衰弱狀況的

Natural translation:

> “Watching tiny seeds turn into something alive and healthy...”

「看著小小的種子變成充滿生命力、健康生長的植物.....」

So here:

> healthy plant = 生長良好、有活力的植物

1. healthy = physically well (人 / 動物) — 健康的

The central everyday meaning.

Practice 1

> “She is strong and healthy.”

「她身體強健而且很健康。」

Practice 2

> “The puppy looks happy and healthy.”

「那隻小狗看起來很開心，也很健康。」 healthy = 身體運作正常、沒有疾病或明顯健康問題的

2. healthy = growing well (植物 / 生物) — 健康生長的；有活力的

This is your exact source sense.

Practice 3 — Original

> “The seeds turn into something alive and healthy.”

「種子長成充滿生命力、健康生長的植物。」

Practice 4

> “The leaves are green and healthy.”

「葉子翠綠，而且生長狀況良好。」

Practice 5

> “Healthy roots are essential for strong plants.”

「健康的根系對植物茁壯生長非常重要。」 healthy — plants = 生長正常、強健、有活力並沒有明顯病害的

3. healthy = good for your health (食物 / 生活習慣) — 健康的 ; 有益健康的

A major distinct learner meaning.

Practice 6

> “Vegetables are part of a healthy diet.”

「蔬菜是健康飲食的一部分。」

Practice 7

> “Walking every day is a healthy habit.”

「每天步行是一個有益健康的習慣。」 healthy — lifestyle = 對身體或心理健康有益、有助保持良好狀態的

Important:

> healthy person

> = 本身健康的人

> healthy food

> = 對健康有益的食物

Different relationship.

4. healthy = nutritionally balanced / beneficial (飲食) — 營養均衡的 ; 健康的

A contextual branch of #3.

Practice 8

> “She cooks simple, healthy meals.”

「她會煮簡單而健康、營養均衡的餐點。」

Practice 9

> “Try to choose healthier snacks.”

「盡量選擇更健康的零食。」

healthy food/meal = 營養較均衡，通常脂肪、糖、鹽等不過量，並有助維持健康的食物 / 餐點

5. healthy = psychologically/emotionally sound (心理 / 情緒) — 健康的；良性的

Practice 10

> “It is healthy to talk about your feelings.”

「願意談自己的感受是比較*健康的心理做法*。」

Practice 11

> “She has a healthy attitude toward failure.”

「她對失敗抱有一種*健康、成熟的態度*。」 healthy — psychological = 有助情緒穩定、成熟處理問題或維持良好心理狀態的

6. healthy = normal / positive relationship (關係) — 健康的；良性的

A very common figurative extension.

Practice 12

> “They have a healthy relationship.”

「他們有一段*健康、良性的關係*。」

Practice 13

> “Healthy communication requires honesty and respect.”

「*健康的溝通方式*需要坦誠和尊重。」

healthy — relationship = 關係運作平衡、互相尊重、不具明顯傷害性的

7. healthy = functioning well (組織 / 系統 / 經濟) — 健全的；狀況良好的

A major figurative meaning.

Practice 14

> “The company is in a healthy financial position.”

「公司財務狀況健全 / 良好。」

Practice 15

> “A healthy economy needs stable growth.”

「一個健全的經濟體需要穩定增長。」

healthy — system/business = 運作穩定、有持續能力、沒有明顯嚴重問題的

8. healthy = substantial / fairly large (數量) — 可觀的 ; 相當大的

A useful figurative sense that is easy to miss.

Practice 16

> “The company made a healthy profit.”

「公司錄得可觀的利潤。」

Practice 17

> “There was a healthy increase in sales.”

「銷售錄得相當可觀的增長。」 healthy — amount = 數量、增長或利益相當大，達到令人滿意的程度

This does not mean “physically healthy.”

9. healthy = strong / vigorous / robust (狀態) — 強健的 ; 旺盛的

A broader figurative branch.

Practice 18

> “There is healthy competition between the two teams.”

「兩隊之間存在良性而有活力的競爭。」

Practice 19

> “The market shows healthy demand.”

「市場顯示出強勁、穩健的需求。」 healthy = 活躍而不失平衡、具有足夠活力和持續性的

10. healthy competition (競爭) — 良性競爭

A very common fixed collocation.

Practice 20

> “A little healthy competition can improve performance.”

「適量的良性競爭可以提升表現。」

Practice 21

> “The teacher encouraged healthy competition among the students.”

「老師鼓勵學生之間進行良性競爭。」 healthy competition = 不具破壞性、反而能促進進步和表現的競爭

11. healthy respect/fear (態度) — 適度而合理的敬畏 / 警惕

Another useful figurative collocation.

Practice 22

> “You should have a healthy respect for the sea.”

「你應該對大海保持適度而合理的敬畏。」

Practice 23

> “He has a healthy fear of taking unnecessary risks.”

「他對不必要的風險保持合理警惕。」 healthy respect/fear = 程度適中、有助安全或理性判斷的敬畏 / 警覺

Here healthy means sensible and beneficial, not literally health-related.

12. healthy = looking well / attractive through good condition (外觀) — 氣色好的；健康亮澤的

Practice 24

> “Her skin looks healthy.”

「她的皮膚看起來很健康、有光澤。」

Practice 25

> “The dog has a healthy coat.”

「那隻狗的毛髮看起來健康亮澤。」 healthy — appearance = 外表顯示身體或組織處於良好狀態

13. health = physical/mental condition (名詞) — 健康；健康狀況

The core noun in the family.

Practice 26

> “Regular exercise is good for your health.”

「規律運動對你的健康有好處。」

Practice 27

> “Her health improved after she changed her routine.”

「她改變生活習慣後，健康狀況有所改善。」 health = 一個人的身體或心理整體狀況，尤其是否正常、良好

14. health = condition of a system/organization (比喻) — 狀況 ; 健全程度

Practice 28

> “The report examines the health of the economy.”

「報告分析經濟的整體狀況 / 健全程度。」

Practice 29

> “Cash flow is important to the financial health of a business.”

「現金流對企業的財務健康 / 健全狀況很重要。」 health — figurative = 某個系統、組織或經濟體的穩定、健全和持續運作狀況

15. healthily = in a healthy way — 健康地

Practice 30

> “She eats healthily most of the time.”

「她大部分時間都吃得很健康。」

Practice 31

> “The plants are growing healthily.”

「那些植物正健康地生長。」 healthily = 以有益健康或顯示良好生長狀態的方式

Usage note:

In everyday English, people also very often say:

> eat healthy

especially in American English, although eat healthily is the traditional adverbial form.

16. unhealthy = not physically healthy (身體) — 不健康的 ; 有病態的

Practice 32

> “The plant looks unhealthy.”

「這棵植物看起來不健康 / 生長不良。」

Practice 33

> “Lack of sleep can make you unhealthy.”

「缺乏睡眠可能令身體變得不健康。」 unhealthy = 身體 / 生物狀態不佳、可能有疾病或缺乏良好生長狀況的

17. unhealthy = bad for health (食物 / 習慣) — 有害健康的 ; 不健康的

Practice 34

> “Too much sugar can be unhealthy.”

「攝取過多糖分可能有害健康。」

Practice 35

> “He developed some unhealthy eating habits.”

「他養成了一些不健康的飲食習慣。」

unhealthy — lifestyle = 對身體或心理健康有負面影響的

18. unhealthy = harmful / dysfunctional (關係 / 心理) — 不健康的 ; 不良的

Practice 36

> “Their relationship became unhealthy.”

「他們的關係變得不健康 / 不良。」

Practice 37

> “He developed an unhealthy obsession with work.”

「他對工作形成了一種不健康的執著。」

unhealthy — figurative = 關係、習慣或心理模式失衡並可能造成傷害的

Important distinction: healthy person vs healthy food

This is one of the most important learner traps.

healthy person

= the person is in good health.

healthy food

= the food is good for health.

So healthy can mean either:

> 本身健康的

or:

> 有益健康的

depending on what noun follows it.

Important distinction: healthy vs healthful

healthy

in modern everyday English can describe both:

* someone in good health;

* something good for health.

> healthy person

> healthy diet

healthful

specifically means:

> beneficial to health.

It is correct but much less common in everyday modern English.

For learners:

> healthy diet

is completely standard.

Important distinction: healthy vs fit

healthy

broad overall health.

fit

physically capable, especially through exercise.

Someone can be:

* generally healthy but not very fit;

* very fit but still have a health issue.

So:

> healthy ≠ fit

Important distinction: healthy vs strong

healthy

= functioning normally/well.

strong

= physically powerful, robust, intense, etc.

A plant can be healthy without being especially large or strong.

Important distinction: healthy vs alive

Your source contains both:

> “alive and healthy”

alive

= living, not dead.

healthy

= living in good condition.

So:

> alive does not automatically mean healthy.

A sick plant can still be alive.

Important distinction: healthy vs normal

healthy

positive evaluation:
good condition.

normal within expected/usual range.

A test result may be normal, but that does not by itself describe the person’s entire health as healthy.

Important distinction: healthy vs wholesome

healthy

directly related to health or sound functioning.

wholesome

can mean:

- * good for health;
- * morally/socially positive and beneficial.

> healthy food

> = 健康食物 > wholesome family entertainment

> = 健康正面的家庭娛樂

Not fully interchangeable.

Important distinction: healthy vs rewarding

You just curated reward.

healthy

describes good condition or beneficial effect.

rewarding describes satisfaction/benefit gained from doing something.

> Gardening is healthy.

= 園藝對健康有益。

> Gardening is rewarding.

= 園藝令人有成就感 / 有回報。

Different ideas.

Important distinction: health vs healthcare

health

= 健康 / 健康狀況

healthcare

= healthcare services/system; 醫療保健 / 醫療服務

So:

> improve health

> = 改善健康 > improve healthcare

> = 改善醫療服務 / 制度

Important distinction: health vs fitness

health

broader physical/mental well-being.

fitness

especially physical ability and condition, often exercise-related.

They overlap but are not synonymous.

Family-extension sweep

After the full audit, the useful modern family includes:

* healthy — person/animal = 身體健康的

* healthy — plant = 生長良好、有活力的

* healthy — food/habit = 有益健康的

* healthy — psychological = 心理上良好 / 成熟的

* healthy — relationship = 良性、平衡的

* healthy — business/system = 健全、運作良好的

* healthy — amount/profit = 可觀的

* healthy — vigorous/robust = 強健 / 活躍而平衡的

* healthy competition = 良性競爭

* healthy respect/fear = 合理而有益的敬畏 / 警惕

* healthy appearance = 氣色好 / 健康亮澤

* health — physical/mental condition = 健康

* health — system condition = 健全狀況
 * healthily = 健康地
 * unhealthy — body = 不健康的
 * unhealthy — habit/food = 有害健康的
 * unhealthy — relationship/psychology = 不良、失衡並可能有害的

This is close to the useful modern ceiling without artificially splitting every collocation.

Master comparison

Form / sense	MCQ-ready Traditional Chinese meaning
-----	-----
healthy — person/animal	身體運作正常、沒有疾病或明顯健康問題的
healthy — plant	生長正常、強健有活力而沒有明顯病害的
healthy — food/habit	對身體或心理健康有益、有助維持良好狀態的 healthy — psychological	有助情緒穩定、成熟處理問題和保持良好心理狀態的
healthy — relationship	關係運作平衡、互相尊重、不具明顯傷害性的
healthy — business/system	運作穩定、健全並具有持續能力的
healthy — amount	數量、增長或利益相當大而令人滿意的；可觀的 healthy competition	能促進進步而不具破壞性的良性競爭
healthy respect/fear	程度合理並有助安全 / 理性判斷的敬畏或警惕 health	身體或心理的整體健康狀況
health — figurative	系統、組織或經濟體的穩定和健全程度
healthily	以有益健康或顯示良好生長狀態的方式
unhealthy — physical	身體 / 生物狀態不佳或生長不良的
unhealthy — lifestyle	對身體或心理健康有負面影響的
unhealthy — figurative	關係、習慣或心理模式失衡並可能造成傷害的

For your original sentence

> “Watching tiny seeds turn into something alive and healthy makes her feel that patience really pays off.”

The exact meaning is:

healthy = 植物長得良好、有生命力、沒有病弱狀況

So naturally:

> 「看著小小的種子長成充滿生命力、健康茁壯的植物，讓她覺得耐心真的會有回報。」

The highest-value contrasts are:

> *healthy person → 身體健康

- > healthy plant → 生長良好
- > healthy food → 有益健康
- > healthy relationship → 良性健康
- > healthy business → 經營 / 財務狀況健全
- > healthy profit → 可觀利潤
- > health → 健康 / 健全狀況
- > unhealthy → 不健康 / 有害 / 失衡