

Absolutely — more is another excellent grammar/polyfunctionality target. Your passage actually uses it in two different ways:

> “he became much more lively than people expected.”

and:

> “I think he taught me more than history.”

The first is comparative degree.

The second means something beyond / in addition to the stated thing.

Word family: more / most

Base form: more

Related comparative system: much → more → most; many → more → most

Part of speech / function: determiner (限定詞) / pronoun (代名詞) / adverb (副詞) / comparative marker (比較級標記)

More has almost no useful derivational family of its own. Its richness comes from quantity, comparison, degree, addition, and fixed grammatical constructions.

Meaning 1 in your passage: more + adjective + than (比較程度) — 更…… ; 比……更……

Your sentence:

> “Once he started teaching, he became much more lively than people expected.”

Here:

more forms the comparative of lively.

繁體中文：

表示某種性質或程度比另一個人、情況或預期更高

Natural translation:

> “He became much more lively than people expected.”

「他開始上課後，變得比大家預期中生動活潑得多。」

So:

> more lively than expected

= 比預期更生動 / 活潑

1. more + adjective/adverb + than (比較程度) — 比.....更.....

This is your first source use.

Practice 1 — Original

> “He became much more lively than people expected.”

「他變得比大家預期中生動得多。」

Practice 2

> “The second lesson was more interesting than the first.”

「第二堂課比第一堂更有趣。」

Practice 3

> “She explained the idea more clearly than I could.”

「她把這個概念解釋得比我更清楚。」

more + adjective/adverb + than = 表示某種性質、狀態或方式的程度高於比較對象

2. much/far/a lot + more + adjective/adverb (加強比較) — 更加.....得多

Your passage contains:

> much more lively

Practice 4

> “The class was much more enjoyable than I expected.”

「這堂課比我預期中有趣得多。」

Practice 5

> “He spoke far more confidently after a few months.”

「幾個月後，他說話自信得多。」 much/far/a lot more = 強調比較差距很大，不只是稍微更多 / 更高

Compare:

* more lively = 更生動

* much more lively = 生動得多

Meaning 2 in your passage: more than + noun (不只是；超越) — 不只是.....；超過.....範圍

Your sentence:

> “Looking back, I think he taught me more than history.”

This does not simply mean:

> 「他教我的歷史比較多。」

It means:

> history was not the only thing he taught me; he also taught me curiosity, patience, and independent thinking.

繁體中文：

所包含的內容超越前面所說的事物，不只是那一項

Natural translation:

> “I think he taught me more than history.”

「我覺得他教給我的不只是歷史。」

3. more than + noun (超越某範圍) — 不只是.....；不止.....

This is your second exact source use.

Practice 6 — Original

> “I think he taught me more than history.”

「我覺得他教給我的不只是歷史。」

Practice 7

> “The course teaches more than grammar.”

「這門課教授的不只是文法。」

Practice 8

> “A good teacher gives students more than information.”

「一位好老師給學生的不只是知識資料。」 more than + noun = 所包含的內容、價值或作用超越該名詞所代表的範圍

This is often equivalent to:

> not just / not only

4. more + countable plural noun (可數複數) — 更多.....

A major quantity use.

Practice 9

> “We need more examples.”

「我們需要更多例子。」

Practice 10

> “More students asked questions after the teacher encouraged them.”

「老師鼓勵後，更多學生開始提問。」 more + plural countable noun = 數量比之前、目前或另一情況更多

5. more + uncountable noun (不可數) — 更多.....

Practice 11

> “Students need more time to think.”

「學生需要更多時間思考。」

Practice 12

> “The essay needs more detail.”

「這篇文章需要更多細節 / 更詳細的內容。」 more + uncountable noun = 某種不可數事物的量增加

This is why more serves as the comparative of both:

* many → more students

* much → more time

6. more = additional amount/number (代名詞) — 更多；再多一些

Here more stands alone.

Practice 13

> “Would you like more?”

「你想要再多一些嗎？」

Practice 14

> “I’ve learned a lot, but I want to learn more.”

「我已經學了很多，但我還想學更多。」 more — pronoun = 代替前文已知的人 / 物 / 數量，表示額外或較大的數量

7. some more / any more (額外數量) — 再多一些；還有更多

Practice 15

> “Would you like some more tea?”

「你想要再多一點茶嗎？」

Practice 16

> “Do you have any more questions?”

「你還有其他 / 更多問題嗎？」

some/any more = 額外增加的數量或項目

This is still the quantity sense, not a separate lexical meaning.

8. one/two/etc. more + noun (額外增加) — 再一個 / 再兩個.....

Practice 17

> “Let me ask one more question.”

「讓我再問一條問題。」

Practice 18

> “We need two more chairs.”

「我們還需要再兩張椅子。」 number + more + noun = 在原有數量之外再增加指定數量

Word order is important:

> two more students

not normally:

> more two students

9. more = to a greater degree (程度) — 更加 ; 更.....

Even without a following adjective, more can modify a verb.

Practice 19

> “You need to think more.”

「你需要多思考一點 / 思考得更多。」

Practice 20

> “As I grew older, I appreciated his teaching more.”

「隨著年齡增長，我更加欣賞他的教學方式。」 more — adverb = 某個行為、感受或狀態的程度增加

10. more than + number/amount (超過數量) — 超過 ; 多於

A very common meaning.

Practice 21

> “He taught me for more than two years.”

「他教了我超過兩年。」

Practice 22

> “More than fifty students attended the event.”

「超過五十名學生參加了活動。」 more than + number/amount = 數量、時間或程度超出指定界線

Here more than means literally:

> greater than

11. more than + adjective (遠不只是 ; 非常) — 非常 ; 極其

A useful emphatic extension.

Practice 23

> “I was more than happy to help.”

「我非常樂意幫忙。」

Practice 24

> “The teacher was more than capable of handling the class.”

「那位老師完全有能力 / 非常有能力管理課堂。」

more than + adjective = 程度不只是達到該形容詞，而是明顯超過；非常 / 絕對

Especially common:

- * more than happy
- * more than willing
- * more than capable
- * more than enough

12. more than enough — 綽綽有餘；遠超所需

Practice 25

> “We have more than enough time.”

「我們的時間綽綽有餘。」

Practice 26

> “There is more than enough evidence to support the conclusion.”

「支持這個結論的證據遠遠足夠。」 more than enough = 數量 / 程度不只是足夠，而是明顯超出所需

13. no more than + number (只有；僅僅) — 不超過；僅僅

A very important construction.

Practice 27

> “The explanation took no more than five minutes.”

「解釋只花了不超過五分鐘 / 僅僅五分鐘左右。」

Practice 28

> “There were no more than ten students in the room.”

「房間裡最多只有十名學生。」

no more than = 數量非常有限，最多只有某個數字

Often carries the nuance:

> only

14. not more than + number (上限) — 不多於；最多

This looks similar to no more than, but nuance differs.

Practice 29

> “Your answer should be not more than 200 words.”

「你的答案應該不超過 200 字。」

Practice 30

> “The journey takes not more than an hour.”

「旅程所需時間不超過一小時。」 not more than = 客觀表示數量上限不超過某個數字

Compare:

no more than ten

often:

> 只有十個而已

not more than ten

often:

> 最多十個

A subtle but useful distinction.

15. more and more + adjective/noun (逐漸增加) — 越來越..... ; 愈來愈多

Practice 31

> “The lessons became more and more interesting.”

「課堂變得越來越有趣。」

Practice 32

> “More and more students began asking questions.”

「越來越多學生開始提問。」 more and more = 數量或程度隨時間持續增加

16. the more..., the more... (相關變化) — 越..... , 就越.....

A major grammar pattern.

Practice 33

> “The more you practise, the more confident you become.”

「你越練習，就越有信心。」

Practice 34

> “The more questions he asked, the more we learned.”

「他問的問題越多，我們學到的也越多。」

the more X, the more Y = X 的程度 / 數量增加時，Y 也相應增加

This the is not the ordinary definite article meaning “那個”; it is part of the comparative construction.

17. more of + noun (某事物的更多部分 / 更多程度) — 更多..... ; 更像.....

A useful construction.

Practice 35

> “I want to see more of the city.”

「我想看看這座城市更多地方。」

Practice 36

> “The lesson became more of a discussion than a lecture.”

「那堂課變得更像討論，而不是講課。」

There are two useful patterns:

> more of something

> = 某物更多的部分 / 數量

> more of a X than a Y

> = 與其說是 Y，不如說更像 X

18. more of A than B (特徵比較) — 與其說是 B，不如說是 A

Practice 37

> “He was more of a mentor than a lecturer.”

「與其說他是一名講師，不如說他更像一位導師。」

Practice 38

> “The class felt more like a conversation than a formal lesson.”

「那堂課與其說是正式課堂，不如說更像一場對話。」 more of A than B = 某人 / 某物具有 A 的特徵多於 B，因此更適合視為 A

19. once more = again — 再一次

A common fixed expression.

Practice 39

> “Please explain the idea once more.”

「請再解釋一次這個概念。」

Practice 40

> “He read the question once more before answering.”

「他回答前把問題再讀了一遍。」

once more = 再一次 / 又一次

Equivalent in many contexts to:

> once again

20. what's more = furthermore — 而且；更重要的是

A useful discourse marker.

Practice 41

> “He explained history clearly. What's more, he made it enjoyable.”

「他把歷史解釋得很清楚。而且 / 更重要的是，他還令課堂變得有趣。」

Practice 42

> “The method is simple and, what's more, inexpensive.”

「這個方法很簡單，而且成本很低。」

what's more = 在已有論點之上再加入一個進一步、通常更有力的資訊

21. the more, the better — 越多越好

A lexicalized form of the comparative-correlative construction.

Practice 43

> “How many examples do you want?”

> “The more, the better.”

「你想要多少例子？」

「越多越好。」

Practice 44

> “When learning vocabulary, the more useful contexts, the better.”

「學詞彙時，有用語境越多越好。」

the more, the better = 數量增加通常會令結果更理想

22. more or less = approximately / to some extent — 大約；差不多；或多或少

A very common fixed expression.

Practice 45

> “The lesson lasted more or less an hour.”

「那堂課大約上了一小時左右。」

Practice 46

> “I more or less understood his point.”

「我大致上 / 差不多明白他的意思。」 more or less = 數量上約略相等，或程度上大致如此但不是完全

Two contextual translations:

* amount → 大約

* degree → 大致上 / 差不多

23. any more / anymore (時間延續的否定) — 再；不再

This deserves careful treatment because it is no longer simply “additional quantity.”

Practice 47

> “I don’t study that way any more.”

「我不再用那種方式讀書了。」

Practice 48

> “He doesn’t teach there anymore.”

「他已經不再在那裡任教。」

not...any more / anymore = 某個過去存在的情況現在已停止；不再

Spelling tendency:

* any more = widely used, especially British English

* anymore = especially common in American English for the “no longer” meaning

This is genuinely worth distinguishing from:

> “Do you want any more tea?”

where any more means 額外更多的茶.

Critical distinction: any more — quantity vs anymore — no longer

Quantity

> “Do you need any more paper?”

「你還需要更多紙張嗎？」

Time/change

> “I don’t use paper anymore.”

「我現在不再使用紙張。」

Same-looking material, different grammatical function.

Important distinction: more vs many many

= a large number

> many students

「很多學生」

more

= a greater/additional number > more students

「更多學生」

More requires an implicit or explicit comparison:

> more than before / more than another group / additional students

Important distinction: more vs much much

= a large amount > much time

more

= a greater/additional amount > more time

Again:

> much = 很多

> more = 更多

Important distinction: more vs most

The comparative system:

many / much → more → most

> more students

> = 更多學生

> the most students

> = 最多學生

And with adjectives:

> more interesting

> = 更有趣

> most interesting

> = 最有趣

Important distinction: more vs additional

more

very common and broad.

> “We need more time.”

additional more formal and explicitly means extra.

> “We need additional time.”

Both:

「我們需要額外時間。」

But more can also express comparison:

> “This class is more interesting.”

Additional cannot replace it there.

Important distinction: more than vs over

For numbers:

> “more than 100 students”

and:

> “over 100 students”

both usually mean:

超過 100 名學生

More than is broader because it can also mean:

> “more than a teacher”

= 不只是一位老師

while over a teacher does not.

Important distinction: more than vs rather than more than history

= not only history; additional things beyond it rather than history

= instead of history

Compare:

> “He taught me more than history.”

「他教我的不只是歷史。」

> “He taught philosophy rather than history.”

「他教的是哲學而不是歷史。」

Completely different.

Important distinction: more than vs not only

Your original:

> “He taught me more than history.”

is close to:

> “He taught me not only history.”

But more than often emphasizes that what was gained went beyond the obvious category, rather than simply listing two items.

Important distinction: more vs better

These are not interchangeable.

more

= greater quantity/degree.

> “I studied more.”

「我讀書讀得更多。」 better

= higher quality/performance.

> “I studied better.”

This is unusual without context, but can mean:

「我的學習方式更有效。」

> “I understand it better.”

= 我理解得更好。

So:

more ≠ better

Important distinction: more and more vs the more...the more more and more describes ongoing increase:

> “He became more and more confident.”

「他越來越有信心。」 the more..., the more...

expresses a relationship between two changing things:

> “The more he practised, the more confident he became.”

「他越練習，就越有信心。」

Family-extension sweep

More does not have a normal derivational family. Its richness lies in grammatical constructions:

* more + adjective/adverb + than = 比.....更.....

* much/far more =得多

* more than + noun = 不只是 / 超越

* more + plural noun = 更多可數事物

* more + uncountable noun = 更多不可數事物 * more — pronoun = 更多 / 再多一些

* some/any more = 額外更多

* number + more + noun = 再增加指定數量

* verb + more = 更加 / 更多地做某事

* more than + number = 超過 * more than + adjective = 非常 / 完全

* more than enough = 綽綽有餘

* no more than = 只有 / 最多不超過

* not more than = 上限不超過

* more and more = 越來越 / 愈來愈多

* the more..., the more... = 越.....越.....

* more of something = 某物更多部分

* more of A than B = 與其說 B，不如說 A

* once more = 再一次

* what's more = 而且 / 更重要的是

* the more, the better = 越多越好
 * more or less = 大約 / 大致
 * not...any more / anymore = 不再
 * most = more 的最高級對應形式

This is exactly the sort of word where grammatical multifunctionality matters more than derivational morphology.

For your passage

You have two especially important uses.

1. Comparative degree

> “He became much more lively than people expected.”

more = 表示 lively 的程度高於大家原本的預期

Natural translation:

> 「他開始上課後，比大家想像中生動活潑得多。」

2. Beyond / not only

> “I think he taught me more than history.”

more than = 所教的內容和影響超越「歷史這一科」本身，不只是歷史知識

Natural translation:

> 「我覺得他教給我的不只是歷史。」

And this second use is especially important semantically: the sentence is preparing the reader for:

> curiosity, patience, and the habit of thinking for myself

So more than history means:

> 「除了歷史知識之外，他還教會我更深層、更長遠的東西。」
