

"Absolutely — purchase is a strong polysemy/family target because your passage uses it here:

> “To turn electric cars from a principled purchase into a practical one...”

Here purchase means something that a person buys, especially a significant item bought after consideration. In this sentence, it refers to buying an electric car as a consumer decision.

Word family: purchase / purchaser / purchasing

Base noun/verb: purchase

Person noun: purchaser

Activity/business noun: purchasing

Part of speech: noun (名詞) / verb (動詞)

Major domains:

* buying goods/services

* item bought

* formal/commercial transactions

* property

* procurement/business purchasing

* finance/accounting

* rights/ownership

* mechanical grip/leverage through the older noun sense purchase

* fixed patterns such as make a purchase, purchase price, purchase order, purchase agreement

Meaning in your passage: purchase = something bought / buying decision — 購買；購買的東西；購車選擇

Your sentence:

> “turn electric cars from a principled purchase into a practical one”

means:

> make buying an electric car something that is not only based on environmental principles, but also sensible and convenient in everyday life.

繁體中文：

購買行為 / 購買選擇；這裡特別指購買電動車這項消費決定

Natural translation:

> 「要把電動車從一項基於理念的購買選擇，變成一項實際可行的選擇.....」

Specialist legal/finance family use.

Practice 79

> “The property was financed through purchase-money lending.”

「該物業透過購置融資完成付款。」

Practice 80

> “Purchase-money arrangements vary by jurisdiction.”

「購置融資安排因司法管轄區而異。」

Lower priority but established.

AP. PURCHASE COMMITMENT

42. purchase commitment = 採購承諾；購買承諾

Practice 81

> “The buyer made a long-term purchase commitment.”

「買方作出長期採購承諾。」

Practice 82

> “The agreement includes minimum purchase commitments.”

「協議包括最低採購承諾量。」

AQ. PURCHASE RETURN

43. purchase return = 購貨退回；退貨

Accounting.

Practice 83

> “The company recorded a purchase return.”

「公司記錄了一宗購貨退回。」

Practice 84

> “Purchase returns reduce net purchases.”

「購貨退回會減少淨購貨額。」

Specialist accounting term.

AR. PURCHASES — ACCOUNTING

44. purchases = 購貨；進貨

In accounting, plural purchases can be a technical category.

Practice 85

> “The account records purchases during the period.”

「該帳戶記錄期內的購貨 / 進貨。」

Practice 86

> “Net purchases are calculated after returns and discounts.”

「淨購貨額會在扣除退貨和折扣後計算。」

This is distinct from casual plural:

> purchases = things bought.

AS. PURCHASE LEDGER

45. purchase ledger = 購貨分類帳；應付帳款帳簿

BrE/accounting.

Practice 87

> “The invoice was entered in the purchase ledger.”

「發票被記入*購貨分類帳*。」

Practice 88

> “The purchase ledger tracks supplier transactions.”

「購貨分類帳追蹤供應商交易。」

AT. PURCHASE IN PROCUREMENT VS BUY

46. purchase vs buy

buy

= ordinary everyday verb.

purchase

= more formal/commercial.

Compare:

> “I bought a sandwich.”

> = 我買了三文治。

> “The company purchased new equipment.”

> = 公司購置新設備。

In casual conversation, purchase can sound unnecessarily formal.

AU. PURCHASE VS ACQUIRE

47. purchase vs acquire

purchase

= obtain specifically by paying money.

acquire

= obtain by any means:

- * buy
- * receive
- * inherit
- * merge
- * develop

So:

- > every purchase is an acquisition
- > but not every acquisition is a purchase.

Very important distinction.

AV. PURCHASE VS PROCUREMENT

48. purchase vs procurement

purchase

= actual act of buying.

procurement

= broader organizational process including:

- * identifying need
- * sourcing
- * evaluating suppliers
- * negotiating
- * contracting
- * purchasing

So:

- > purchasing is one part of procurement.

Excellent business distinction.

AW. PURCHASE VS ORDER

49. purchase vs order

order

= request goods/services.

= actual acquisition/buying transaction.

You can place an order before the purchase is fully completed.

AX. PURCHASE VS PAYMENT

50. purchase vs payment

purchase

= buying transaction.

payment

= transfer of money.

A purchase may involve:

- * immediate payment
- * instalments
- * financing

So:

> purchase ≠ payment.

AY. PURCHASE VS TRANSACTION

51. purchase vs transaction

transaction

= broad exchange/business event.

purchase

= transaction specifically involving buying.

All purchases are transactions.

Not all transactions are purchases.

AZ. PURCHASE VS SALE

52. purchase vs sale

Same transaction from opposite sides:

> purchase = buyer's perspective

> sale = seller's perspective

Example:

> "The buyer completed the purchase."

> "The seller completed the sale."

Excellent MCQ distinction.

BA. PURCHASER VS SELLER

purchaser

= party buying.

seller/vendor

= party selling.

Legal contracts often use:

> purchaser / vendor

or:

> buyer / seller.

BB. PURCHASE VS INVESTMENT

53. purchase vs investment

purchase

= any acquisition by paying money.

investment

= acquisition intended to generate future return/value.

Buying a car for personal use:

> purchase

Buying an asset for return:

> investment

A purchase may be an investment, but not necessarily.

BC. PURCHASE VS EXPENSE

54. purchase vs expense

purchase

= act/item bought.

expense

= cost incurred.

The purchase creates or contributes to an expense, but the concepts differ.

BD. PURCHASE VS CONSUMPTION

purchase

= buying.

consumption

= using up/using goods/services.

A person may purchase something but not consume it immediately.

BE. PURCHASE VS OWNERSHIP

purchase

= transaction by which ownership is acquired.

ownership

= state of legally possessing something.

Purchase may lead to ownership, but the terms are not identical.

BF. PURCHASE VS RENT / LEASE

purchase

= normally acquire ownership.

rent / lease

= pay for temporary use without full ownership.

Very relevant to cars/property.

BG. PURCHASE VS FINANCE

purchase

= buy the item.

finance

= arrange money/credit to fund the purchase.

You can:

> finance a purchase.

BH. PURCHASE VS SUBSCRIPTION

purchase

= often one-time acquisition.

subscription

= repeated payment for continuing access.

Digital products may offer:

> one-off purchase

> or

> subscription.

BI. PURCHASING VS SHOPPING

55. purchasing vs shopping

shopping

= everyday activity of looking for/buying goods.

purchasing

= formal/business activity of buying.

> shopping trip

> = 購物行程 > purchasing department

> = 採購部

Different register and scope.

BJ. PURCHASE AS “GRIP / HOLD”

56. purchase = firm hold/grip or leverage — 抓力；支撐點；借力處

A genuinely distinct older but still current sense.

Practice 89

> “His boots could not get enough purchase on the wet rock.”

「他的靴子在濕滑岩石上找不到足夠的抓力 / 支撐點。」

Practice 90

> “She dug her fingers into the edge to gain purchase.”

「她把手指扣住邊緣，以取得著力點。」 purchase = 可以施力、抓穩或獲得槓桿作用的支撐 / 抓力

This is an important true polysemy branch.

BK. GET / GAIN PURCHASE

57. get/gain purchase = 取得抓力 / 著力點

Practice 91

> “The tyres struggled to gain purchase on the ice.”

「輪胎在冰面上很難取得抓地力。」

Practice 92

> “He shifted his foot to get better purchase.”

「他移動腳的位置，以取得更好的著力點。」

BL. FIND PURCHASE

58. find purchase = 找到著力點 / 抓穩的位置

Practice 93

> “The climber could not find purchase on the smooth wall.”

「攀爬者在光滑牆面上找不到著力點。」

Practice 94

> “The wheels found little purchase in the mud.”

「車輪在泥地上幾乎沒有抓地力。」

BM. PURCHASE — MECHANICAL ADVANTAGE

59. purchase = leverage/mechanical advantage — 槓桿作用；借力

Older/technical but established.

Practice 95

> “The rope gave them enough purchase to move the load.”

「繩索提供了足夠的借力 / 槓桿作用，讓他們移動重物。」

Practice 96

> “The handle provides extra purchase.”

「手柄提供額外的著力 / 施力效果。」

This branch connects semantically to:

> grip / hold / leverage.

BN. PURCHASE — FIGURATIVE FOOTHOLD

60. purchase = foothold / effective hold in an argument or situation — 立足點；著力點

Rare but still intelligible figuratively.

Practice 97

> “The argument gained little purchase with the audience.”

「這個論點在觀眾中幾乎沒有取得認同 / 立足點。」

Practice 98

> “The idea failed to gain purchase.”

「這個想法未能真正站穩腳跟 / 取得影響力。」

This is lower-frequency but a real figurative extension of the grip sense.

BO. “PURCHASE” IN YOUR PASSAGE — WHY NOUN, NOT VERB

Your sentence:

> “from a principled purchase into a practical one”

uses purchase as a countable noun.

It means:

> an individual buying decision / acquisition

The word one replaces:

> purchase

So structurally:

> a principled purchase

> → a practical purchase

This confirms the noun sense:

> 一項購買選擇 / 一筆購置

BP. “PRINCIPLED PURCHASE”

61. principled purchase = 基於原則 / 價值觀作出的購買

Practice 99

> “Buying locally produced goods may be a principled purchase.”

「購買本地生產的商品可能是一項基於價值觀的購買選擇。」

Practice 100

> “Consumers sometimes make principled purchases for environmental reasons.”

「消費者有時會因環保理由作出基於原則的購買決定。」

This is not a separate dictionary sense, but very important to the source.

BQ. “PRACTICAL PURCHASE”

62. practical purchase = 實際可行 / 實用的購買選擇

Practice 101

> “A cheaper model may be the more practical purchase.”

「較便宜的型號可能是更實際的購買選擇。」

Practice 102

> “Low running costs can make an electric car a practical purchase.”

「較低的使用成本可以令電動車成為一項實際可行的購車選擇。」

BR. PURCHASE VS CHOICE — SOURCE CONNECTION

Your passage effectively contrasts:

> purchase as moral choice

> vs

> purchase as practical choice

Here purchase names:

> the consumer transaction/decision.

It does not merely mean:

> the physical car itself.

This is why Chinese:

> 購買選擇

> is often more natural than simply:

> 購買物.

BS. PURCHASE PRICE VS TOTAL COST

purchase price

= amount paid to buy the item initially.

total cost of ownership

= purchase price + maintenance + insurance + energy + repairs + depreciation, etc.

This distinction is central to your passage:

> high initial purchase price

> vs

> later running costs.

BT. PURCHASE PRICE VS RUNNING COST

purchase price

= upfront buying price.

running cost

= cost of using/maintaining something over time.

For cars:

* fuel/electricity

* servicing

* insurance

* repairs

Different cost stages.

BU. PURCHASE PRICE VS RESALE VALUE

purchase price

= amount paid when buying.

resale value

= amount recoverable when selling later.

The passage explicitly contrasts these economically.

BV. PURCHASE PRICE VS DEPOSIT

purchase price

= total agreed price.

deposit

= initial partial payment.

A deposit is only part of the purchase price.

BW. PURCHASE PRICE VS MONTHLY PAYMENT

purchase price

= total acquisition cost.

monthly payment

= periodic repayment under financing.

A car with a high purchase price may still have a manageable monthly payment depending on finance terms—and vice versa.

BX. PURCHASING POWER VS AFFORDABILITY

purchasing power

= how much goods/services a given income or money amount can buy.

affordability

= whether a particular person/group can reasonably pay for something.

Related, but not identical.

BY. PURCHASE INTENTION VS ACTUAL PURCHASE

purchase intention

= says/plans to buy.

actual purchase

= transaction actually happens.

Important marketing/research distinction:

> intention does not always become behaviour.

BZ. PURCHASE DECISION VS PURCHASE INTENTION

purchase intention

= willingness/planning.

purchase decision

= actual choice about whether/what to buy.

The decision is generally closer to action.

CA. PURCHASE ORDER VS INVOICE

purchase order

= buyer tells supplier what it wants to buy.

invoice

= seller requests payment.

Typical flow:

> purchase order

> → delivery

> → invoice

> → payment

Very useful business distinction.

CB. PURCHASE ORDER VS SALES ORDER

purchase order

= buyer's document.

sales order

= seller's internal/order-confirmation document.

Same commercial deal viewed from opposite sides.

CC. PURCHASE AGREEMENT VS RECEIPT

purchase agreement

= sets terms before/during transaction.

receipt

= evidence that payment/purchase occurred.

Different legal/commercial functions.

CD. PURCHASE VS ACQUISITION — COMPANY CONTEXT

In corporate finance:

purchase

= buy something.

acquisition

can specifically mean:

= company takes control of another company/business.

So:

> company acquisition is often much broader/strategic than:

> ordinary purchase.

CE. PURCHASE VS PROCUREMENT — SOURCE-SPECIFIC

For a family buying a car:

> purchase

For a corporation sourcing 500 electric vans:

> procurement

The second implies a structured organizational sourcing process.

CF. PURCHASE VS SHOPPING — SOURCE-SPECIFIC

Buying an EV is:

> a major purchase

not normally described simply as:

> shopping

because:

- * high cost
- * long-term consequences
- * financing
- * insurance
- * resale value
- * technical evaluation

So purchase gives the passage a more formal economic tone.

CG. PURCHASE — REGISTER

purchase is especially common in:

- * formal writing
- * business
- * contracts
- * consumer reports
- * property
- * finance
- * procurement

Everyday conversation prefers:

> buy

Compare:

> “Where did you buy it?”  natural everyday

> “Where did you purchase it?”  formal / customer-service tone

CH. PRONUNCIATION

purchase /'pɜ:tʃəs/ BrE, /'pɜ:tʃəs/ AmE

purchaser /'pɜ:tʃəsə(r)/ purchasing /'pɜ:tʃəsɪŋ/

Important spelling/pronunciation point:

> purchase is not pronounced as if it ended in “chase”.
