

Absolutely — pure is a strong Tier 1 polysemy target because your passage uses it here:

> “Yet the thrill did not last in its pure form for very long.”

Here pure means unchanged, unmixed, and free from other influences. In this sentence, the writer means that the excitement did not remain simply excitement; anxiety, pressure, and dependence soon became mixed into it.

Word family: pure / purely / purity / purify / purified

Base adjective: pure

Adverb: purely

Noun: purity

Verb: purify

Part of speech: adjective (形容詞)

Meaning in your passage: pure = unmixed / unchanged by other feelings — 純粹的；未摻雜的

Your phrase:

> “the thrill did not last in its pure form for very long”

Here pure means:

> existing without being mixed with other emotions or complications.

繁體中文：

沒有摻雜其他感受、問題或因素，保持原本單純狀態的

Natural translation:

> “the thrill did not last in its pure form for very long”

「那份興奮感並沒有以如此純粹的形式維持太久。」

More natural Chinese in context:

「那種單純的興奮感並沒有持續太久。」

So here:

> pure = 沒有混入焦慮、壓力或依賴感的純粹狀態

1. pure = not mixed with other substances — 純的；純淨的

The core physical/material meaning.

Practice 1

> “The ring is made of pure gold.”

「這枚戒指是用純金製成的。」

Practice 2

> “The bottle contains pure water.”

「瓶裡裝的是純水。」

「這個角色被描寫成既年輕又純潔。」

Practice 12

> “The text uses purity as a symbol of chastity.”

「文章把純潔當作貞潔的象徵。」

pure = 傳統上指在性方面保持貞潔 / 未受污染的

This sense is more literary/traditional and lower priority.

7. pure = of a single type/breed/origin — 純種的；純系的

A biological/breeding sense.

Practice 13

> “The dog is a pure breed.”

「這隻狗是純種。」

Practice 14

> “The researchers worked with a pure strain.”

> “The machine uses purified water.”

「這部機器使用純化水 / 淨化水。」

Practice 36

> “The chemical was purified before testing.”

「該化學物質在測試前已經提純。」

Important distinction: pure vs clean clean

= not dirty.

pure

= not mixed/contaminated with other substances.

> clean glass

> = 乾淨的玻璃杯

> pure water

> = 純水

Water can look clean without being chemically pure.

Important distinction: pure vs clear

clear

= transparent / easy to see through / understandable.

pure

= unmixed or uncontaminated.

> clear water

> = 清澈的水

> pure water

> = 純水

Something can be clear but not pure.

Important distinction: pure vs natural natural

= not artificial / comes from nature.

pure

= not mixed with anything else.

> natural honey

> = 天然蜂蜜

> pure honey

> = 沒有混入其他物質的純蜂蜜

Not identical.

Important distinction: pure vs original original

= first/authentic version; not copied.

pure

= unmixed / uncontaminated / single in type.

> original recipe

> = 原始 / 原創配方

> pure ingredient

> = 純正單一成分

Important distinction: pure vs genuine genuine

= real/authentic, not fake.

pure

= unmixed.

> genuine gold jewellery

> = 真金首飾

> pure gold

> = 純金

Something can be genuine gold without being 100% pure gold.

Important distinction: pure vs absolute absolute

= complete, total, unrestricted.

pure

can act as an intensifier meaning “complete”, but usually with a stronger idea of “nothing but”.

> pure luck

> = 完全是運氣

> absolute certainty

> = 絕對肯定

They overlap only in some figurative contexts.

Important distinction: pure vs innocent

innocent

= not guilty / lacking harmful intent or experience.

pure

= morally or spiritually untainted.

> innocent child

> = 天真的 / 無罪的孩子

> pure heart

> = 純潔的心

Close, but not identical.

Important distinction: pure vs simple

This phrase can cause confusion:

> “pure and simple”

means:

> 完全就是；純粹是，沒有其他解釋

Example:

> “It was greed, pure and simple.”

「那純粹就是貪念，沒有別的。」

Here simple does not mean “easy”.

Important distinction: pure — material vs emotion

Material:

> “pure gold”

= 純金

Emotion:

> “pure joy”

= 純粹的喜悅

Same underlying idea:

> nothing else mixed in

This is the central semantic bridge.

Important distinction: pure — source vs academic

Material/source:

> “pure water”

= 純水

Academic:

> “pure mathematics”

= 純數學

In academics, pure means:

> pursued for theoretical knowledge rather than immediate practical application.

Not “clean mathematics”.

Important distinction: pure form in your passage

> “the thrill did not last in its pure form”

does not mean:

- * chemically pure,
- * morally pure,
- * physically clean.

It means:

> the excitement stopped being a simple, unmixed positive feeling because anxiety and pressure became mixed into the experience.

Excellent contextual MCQ contrast.

Family-extension sweep

After the full audit, the useful modern inventory includes:

- * pure — material = 純的 / 無雜質的
- * pure — clean/uncontaminated = 純淨的
- * pure — emotion/state = 純粹 / 未摻雜的
- * pure — intensifier = 完全 / 十足的
- * pure — moral = 純潔的
- * pure — breed/type = 純種 / 純系的
- * pure — academic = 純理論 / 非應用的
- * pure — style/category = 單一風格 / 純.....的
- * pure — sound/colour = 清澈 / 純正的
- * purely = 純粹 / 完全只是
- * purity — material = 純度
- * purity — moral = 純潔
- * purify — physical = 淨化 / 提純
- * purify — figurative = 淨化心靈 / 精神
- * purified = 已淨化 / 已提純的
