「清楚解釋可以令病人安心。」

25. reassuring medical result = 令人放心的醫療結果

Practice 49

> “The scan was reassuring.”

「掃描結果令人放心。」

Practice 50

> “The blood test provided reassurance.”

「驗血結果帶來了安心感。」

Important:

reassuring does not necessarily mean:

> completely normal / no risk whatsoever.

It means:

> gives reason to worry less.

T. CUSTOMER SERVICE

26. reassure a customer = 安撫顧客；令顧客放心

Practice 51

「我們應避免給人不實的保證 / 虛假安心感。」 false reassurance = 令人覺得完全沒問題，但實際仍可能有風險

AB. EMPTY REASSURANCE

35. empty reassurance = 空洞的安慰；沒有實質根據的保證

Practice 69

> “‘Everything will be fine’ can sound like empty reassurance if there is no evidence.”

「如果沒有根據，『一切都會沒事』可能聽起來只是空洞安慰。」

Practice 70

> “She wanted facts, not empty reassurance.”

「她需要的是事實，而不是沒有根據的安慰。」

AC. REASSURANCE WITHOUT GUARANTEE

36. reassure does not necessarily mean guarantee

Crucial distinction.

> “The doctor reassured her.”

does not necessarily mean:

> “The doctor guaranteed that nothing could go wrong.”

Reassure means:

> reduce worry based on available information.

Guarantee means:

> promise/certify an outcome.

AD. REASSURE VS ENCOURAGE

You just curated encourage.

reassure

= reduce worry/fear.

encourage

= increase confidence, hope, or willingness to act.

Compare:

> “The teacher reassured him that he had prepared enough.”

> = 老師令他安心。

> “The teacher encouraged him to enter the competition.”

> = 老師鼓勵他參賽。

A person may need both.

AE. REASSURE VS COMFORT

37. reassure vs comfort comfort

= reduce sadness/distress emotionally.

reassure

= reduce worry or uncertainty by giving confidence/information.

Example:

- > grieving person → comfort
- > worried patient → reassure

Overlap exists.

AF. REASSURE VS CONSOLE

38. reassure vs console

console

= comfort someone after loss/disappointment.

reassure

= convince someone there is less reason to worry.

> console after failure

> = 失敗後安慰

> reassure before results

> = 結果前讓人放心

AG. REASSURE VS CALM

39. reassure vs calm

calm

= reduce agitation/emotional arousal.

reassure

= specifically reduce worry by giving confidence.

You can calm someone physically without giving any reassurance.

AH. REASSURE VS SOOTHE

40. reassure vs soothe soothe

= calm discomfort, pain, anger, or distress.

reassure

= reduce fear/uncertainty.

> soothing music

> = 舒緩音樂

> reassuring message

> = 令人安心的訊息

AI. REASSURE VS RELIEVE

41. reassure vs relieve relieve

= reduce pain, pressure, anxiety, burden.

reassure

= communication/evidence that causes worry to reduce.

Reassurance may:

> relieve anxiety.

AJ. REASSURE VS VALIDATE

42. reassure vs validate validate

= acknowledge that someone's feelings/experience are legitimate.

reassure

= tell/give evidence that reduces worry.

Example:

> “It makes sense that you feel nervous.”

> = validation

> “You’ve prepared well and you’re ready.”

> = reassurance

Very useful psychological distinction.

AK. REASSURE VS APPROVE

You curated approval.

approval

= positive judgement.

reassurance

= reduced anxiety.

A person may receive approval but still feel worried.

AL. REASSURE VS PRAISE

praise

= say someone has done well.

reassure

= reduce fear/doubt.

> “Great job.”

> = praise

> “One mistake won’t ruin everything.”

> = reassurance

AM. REASSURE VS PROMISE

43. reassure vs promise

promise

= commit to future action/outcome.

reassure

= make someone feel less worried.

> “I promise I’ll call.”

> = 我保證會打電話。

> “I reassured her that I would call.”

> = 我讓她放心，說我會打電話。

The second emphasizes emotional effect.

AN. REASSURE VS ASSURE

44. reassure vs assure

This is a crucial distinction.

assure someone that X

= tell someone confidently that X is true.

reassure someone

= make someone feel less worried, often by assuring them.

Example:

> “I assured her that the file was safe.”

> = 我向她保證檔案安全。

> “That assurance reassured her.”

> = 那個保證令她安心。

So:

> assure = giving confident information/promise

> reassure = emotional result: worry decreases

AO. REASSURE VS ENSURE

45. reassure vs ensure

Classic spelling trap.

reassure

= 使人安心 ensure = 確保某事發生 / 成立

> reassure customers

> = 令客戶放心 > ensure safety

> = 確保安全

Completely different.

AP. REASSURE VS INSURE

46. reassure vs insure

reassure

= 使安心 insure = 為.....投保

> reassure the driver

> = 令司機安心

> insure the car

> = 為汽車投保

AQ. REASSURE VS ASSURE VS ENSURE VS INSURE

High-value four-way contrast:

Word	Core meaning
-----	-----
reassure	令某人安心
assure	向某人保證 / 確信地告知
ensure	確保某事發生
insure	為某人 / 物購買保險

Example:

> “I assured her that the car was insured, which reassured her, and we checked the tyres to ensure a safe journey.”

「我向她*保證*車已*投保*，這令她*安心*；我們亦檢查輪胎以*確保*旅程安全。」

Excellent MCQ set.

AR. REASSURING VS ENCOURAGING

reassuring

= reduces worry.

encouraging

= increases hope/confidence.

Compare:

> “The test result is reassuring.”

= 結果令人放心，沒那麼擔心。

> “The early progress is encouraging.”

= 進展令人對未來更有信心。

They often overlap, but emotional direction differs.

AS. REASSURING VS COMFORTING

reassuring

= gives reason to worry less.

comforting

= emotionally soothing.

> reassuring evidence

> = 令人放心的證據 > comforting hug

> = 安慰人的擁抱

A hug may comfort without providing factual reassurance.

AT. REASSURING VS POSITIVE

positive

= favourable.

reassuring

= favourable specifically because it reduces concern.

A positive result may be encouraging; a reassuring result specifically makes worry decrease.

AU. REASSURING VS PROMISING

promising

= suggests future success.

reassuring

= suggests there is less reason to worry.

> promising research

> = 看來很有前景

> reassuring safety data

> = 令人較安心的安全數據

AV. REASSURED VS RELIEVED

47. reassured vs relieved

reassured

= worry reduced because of information/support.

relieved

= unpleasant worry/problem has ended or reduced.

Reassurance may cause relief.

Example:

> "The doctor reassured me, and I felt relieved."

「醫生令我放心，我也因此鬆了一口氣。」

AW. REASSURED VS CONFIDENT

reassured

= worry has reduced.

confident

= belief in success/ability is strong.

You can be reassured without becoming highly confident.

AX. REASSURANCE VS CERTAINTY

reassurance

= feeling that things are probably okay.

certainty

= absence of doubt.

Reassurance does not require absolute certainty.

AY. REASSURANCE VS GUARANTEE

reassurance

= comfort/confidence.

guarantee

= binding/strong promise of outcome.

This distinction is especially important in:

- * medicine
- * finance
- * customer service
- * safety

AZ. REASSURANCE VS EVIDENCE

evidence

= facts/data supporting a conclusion.

reassurance

= emotional confidence that may be produced by that evidence.

Good evidence can provide reassurance.

But reassurance without evidence may be:

> false reassurance.

BA. REASSURANCE IN ANXIETY LOOP

48. reassurance can become part of a checking cycle

This is highly relevant to your passage's psychology.

A possible pattern:

> uncertainty
> → checking
> → reassurance
> → temporary relief
> → uncertainty returns
> → checking again

Example:

Practice 71

> "Checking the number gave him temporary reassurance."

「查看數字給了他短暫的安心感。」

Practice 72

> "But the reassurance did not last."

「可是，那份安心感沒有維持多久。」

This connects strongly with:

* dependence
* approval
* notification
* response

BB. REASSURE IN YOUR PASSAGE

The full sentence is:

> “A simple video can reassure people that they are not alone in their stress, awkwardness or daily struggles.”

This is more than:

> “make people happy.”

It specifically means:

> reduce people’s sense of isolation and anxiety by showing that someone else experiences the same things.

So the mechanism is:

> recognition / relatability

> → “other people feel this too”

> → reduced isolation

> → reassurance

That is why reassure is the precise verb here.

BC. FAMILY-EXTENSION SWEEP
