

Absolutely — here is the fully reworked, exhaustion-pass version of *captain, with the extra senses and family items already built in so you don't need to ask me to check again afterward.

Your SOP requires the second-pass omission audit, family sweep, compounds, fixed expressions, domain uses, and removal of weak/rare material before finalizing.

Word family: captain / captains / captained / captaining / captaincy

Base word: captain

Plural: captains

Past tense: captained

Past participle: captained

Related forms: captaincy

Useful extensions: vice-captain, co-captain, team captain, club captain, captain of industry, captain's armband, bell captain, captain's chair, captain's bed

Part of speech: noun / verb

Your sentence

> "As captain of my club team, I learned to perform under pressure, communicate with coaches and physiotherapists, and support younger teammates..."

Meaning in this passage

Here, captain means the officially designated leader of a sports team.

The captain is normally one of the players or active team members, but also carries additional responsibility for leadership, communication, representation, and team morale.

繁體中文：

在運動隊伍中被正式指定為隊長，除了本身參與比賽外，亦負責帶領、代表及支援其他隊員的人

中文翻譯：

> 「作為我的俱樂部隊伍隊長，我學會了在壓力下發揮、與教練及物理治療師溝通，並支援較年輕的隊友……」

captain of my club team = 我的俱樂部隊伍中被正式指定為領導成員的隊長

1. captain — leader of a sports or organised team — 隊長

A member of a team who has been formally given leadership responsibility.

This is the meaning used in your passage.

Practice 1 — Original

> “As captain of my club team, I learned to perform under pressure.”

「作為我的俱樂部隊伍隊長，我學會了在壓力下發揮。」

Practice 2

> “The captain spoke to the players before the championship final.”

「隊長在錦標賽決賽前向隊員講話。」

Practice 3

> “She was chosen as captain because the team trusted her leadership.”

「她因為得到全隊信任其領導能力而獲選為隊長。」 captain = 在一個隊伍中被正式指定為領導者、並負責代表及帶領其他成員的人

Contextual branches of this same sense team captain

team captain = 隊長 club captain club captain = 俱樂部隊長

This is directly relevant to your source passage.

school / house captain

A formally appointed student leader of a school team, house, or group.

> “She was elected house captain.”

「她獲選為學社 / 學院隊長。」

These remain the same underlying meaning: designated leader of a team or group.

2. captain — person in command of a ship — 船長；艦長

A person with overall responsibility for commanding a ship or other vessel.

Practice 4

> “The captain ordered the crew to return to port.”

「船長命令船員返回港口。」

Practice 5

> “The ship’s captain was responsible for everyone on board.”

「該船的船長對船上所有人負有責任。」

captain = 對船隻、船員、航行及船上安全負主要指揮責任的人

Important distinction

Being the captain of a ship describes a command role.

It does not automatically mean the person holds the formal naval military rank of Captain.

That distinction matters.

3. captain — pilot in command of an aircraft — 機長

In aviation, the captain is the pilot with ultimate command responsibility for an aircraft.

Practice 6

> “The captain welcomed passengers before take-off.”

「機長在起飛前向乘客致意。」

Practice 7

> “The first officer discussed the weather with the captain.”

「副機師與機長討論天氣情況。」 captain = 對飛機操作、飛行及安全負最終指揮責任的機師

4. captain — army or air-force-type military rank — 上尉

In many armies and comparable military systems, captain is a formal commissioned-officer rank.

Practice 8

> “He was promoted to captain after several years of service.”

「服役數年後，他獲晉升為*上尉*。」

Practice 9

> “Captain Chan was placed in command of the company.”

「陳*上尉*獲委派指揮該連隊。」

captain = 在陸軍或相近軍階制度中屬於正式軍官級別的一種軍階，通常譯作上尉

5. Captain — naval military rank — 海軍 Captain 軍階

In naval systems, Captain is also a formal rank, but it is not equivalent in hierarchy to an army captain.

This is therefore worth separating for learners.

Practice 10

> “She was promoted to Captain in the navy.”

「她獲晉升為海軍的 Captain 軍階。」

Practice 11

> “The officer had held the rank of Captain for three years.”

「該軍官已擔任海軍 Captain 軍階 三年。」

naval Captain = 海軍中的正式高級軍官軍階；與陸軍的 captain 並非同一級別

Important distinction

captain of a ship

= 誰負責指揮這艘船

Captain as a naval rank

= 某人的正式軍階

Those are not automatically the same thing.

6. captain — rank/title in police, fire, or similar services — 隊長；主管級職銜

In some police forces, fire services, and similar organisations, captain is a formal rank or supervisory title.

Practice 12

> “The police captain spoke to reporters after the incident.”

「警隊的*主管級警官 / 隊長級警官*在事件後向記者發言。」

Practice 13

> “The fire captain coordinated the crews at the scene.”

「消防*隊長 / 主管*在現場協調各隊人員。」 captain = 某些紀律或制服組織中帶有管理和指揮責任的正式職級或職銜

This is one broader institutional sense; police and fire uses do not need separate numbered entries.

7. captain — senior service supervisor — 服務主管；領班

In some hospitality and restaurant systems, captain can refer to a senior service employee responsible for supervising part of the service operation.

Practice 14

> “The restaurant captain checked that every table had been served.”

「餐廳*領班 / 服務主管*確認每一桌客人都已獲得服務。」

Practice 15

> “Please speak to the floor captain if you need assistance.”

「如果需要協助，請與樓面主管 / 領班聯絡。」 captain = 在某些服務業環境中負責監督其他員工或特定服務區域的高級服務人員

This is more sector-specific than the core meanings, but still established enough to retain.

8. captain + team/side — serve as captain — 擔任隊長；帶領

As a verb, captain means to act as captain of a team.

Practice 16

> “She captained Hong Kong at the regional championships.”

「她在區域錦標賽中擔任香港隊隊長。」

Practice 17

> “He has captained the club for three seasons.”

「他已經連續三個賽季擔任該俱樂部隊長。」

captain a team = 以隊長身分帶領並代表某支隊伍

9. captain + ship/unit — command as captain — 擔任船長 / 指揮

The verb can also mean serving as the captain or commander of a vessel or organised unit.

Practice 18

> “She captained the research vessel across the Pacific.”

「她擔任船長並指揮研究船橫渡太平洋。」

Practice 19

> “He had previously captained several commercial ships.”

「他此前曾擔任多艘商船的船長。」

captain something = 以船長或最高指揮者身分負責並帶領某艘船或單位

This is the verbal extension of the command sense.

Family-extension note

The manual requires useful related items to be included while clearly distinguishing them from genuine meanings of the base word.

captaincy

The role, position, responsibilities, or period of serving as captain.

Practice 20

> “She accepted the captaincy at the beginning of the season.”

「她在賽季開始時接受了*隊長職務*。」

Practice 21

> “The team improved considerably during his captaincy.”

「在他*擔任隊長期間*，球隊有明顯進步。」

captaincy = 擔任隊長的職位、責任、身分或任期

Useful compounds and extensions

vice-captain

A person officially appointed to assist or substitute for the captain.

vice-captain = 副隊長

> “The vice-captain led the team when the captain was injured.”

「隊長受傷後，由*副隊長*帶領隊伍。」

co-captain

One of two or more people who share captaincy.

co-captain = 共同隊長；聯合隊長

> “The squad appointed two co-captains.”

「隊伍任命了兩名*共同隊長*。」

captain's armband

Especially in football and similar sports:

captain's armband = 隊長臂章

> “She wore the captain's armband for the first time.”

「她首次戴上*隊長臂章*。」

This is a compound, not another meaning of captain.

Fixed expression

captain of industry

A highly influential or powerful business leader.

Practice 22

> “He became one of the country's leading captains of industry.”

「他成為該國其中一位重要的*工商界領袖*。」

Practice 23

> “Several captains of industry attended the economic forum.”

「多位*工商界領袖*出席了經濟論壇。」

captain of industry = 在大型企業或某個產業中具有重大權力、成就或影響力的商界領袖

This is a genuine fixed expression and should be retained.

Additional useful compounds

bell captain

In some hotels, the supervisor responsible for bell staff or luggage attendants.

bell captain = 行李服務主管 / 行李員主管

> “The bell captain arranged for the luggage to be taken upstairs.”

「*行李服務主管*安排把行李送到樓上。」

This is a compound rather than another bare-word sense.

captain's chair

A style of chair, traditionally associated with an armchair having arms and a supportive back.

captain's chair = 船長椅式扶手椅 / 船長椅

> “An old wooden captain's chair stood beside the desk.”

「書桌旁放著一張舊木製*船長椅式扶手椅*。」

Lower priority, but established.

captain's bed

A bed with drawers or storage compartments built underneath it.

captain's bed = 帶內置儲物空間的床 / 船長床

> “The small bedroom has a captain's bed with drawers underneath.”

「這間小睡房有一張下面附有抽屜的*儲物床 / 船長床*。」

Again, a useful lexicalized compound rather than a new sense of bare captain.

Important distinctions

captain vs coach

In sport:

captain

= 隊員中的正式領導者 coach

= 負責訓練、指導、策略和運動員發展的人

A captain is normally part of the playing team; a coach normally supervises and develops the team.

captain vs manager

captain

= designated leader among team members manager

= person with broader organisational, tactical, selection, or administrative responsibility, depending on the sport

They are different roles.

captain vs leader

leader is the general concept.

captain is a formal title used in particular structured settings such as:

- * sports teams

- * ships

- * military units

- * aircraft

- * certain services

captain vs commander

commander is a broader military or operational term.

captain can refer to:

- * a specific rank
- * the person commanding a vessel
- * the leader of a team

So the two overlap but are not interchangeable.

captain vs skipper

skipper is an informal term that can mean:

- * captain of a boat or ship
- * captain of a sports team

> “The skipper praised the younger players.”

= 隊長稱讚了年輕球員。

skipper is generally more informal than captain.

captain vs pilot

pilot

= someone qualified to operate an aircraft

captain

= the pilot in command with ultimate authority and responsibility on that flight

A first officer is also a pilot, but normally not the captain.

ship captain vs naval Captain

This distinction is especially important:

ship captain

= command role

naval Captain

= military rank

A naval officer can hold the rank of Captain without currently commanding a particular ship, and a person commanding a vessel does not necessarily hold the naval rank of Captain.

Master comparison

Form / sense	MCQ-ready Traditional Chinese meaning captain — team leader	在隊伍中被正式指定為領導者，並負責代表及帶領其他成員的人
captain — ship	對船隻、船員、航行及船上安全負主要指揮責任的人
captain — aircraft	對飛機操作、飛行及安全負最終指揮責任的機長
captain — army-type rank	在陸軍或相近軍階制度中的正式軍官軍階，通常譯作上尉
Captain — naval rank	海軍中的正式高級軍官軍階，與陸軍 captain 的階級並不相同
captain — police/fire/service rank	某些紀律或制服組織中帶有管理和指揮責任的正式職級
captain — service supervisor	某些餐飲或服務環境中負責監督員工或服務區域的高級服務人員
captain — verb, team	以隊長身分帶領並代表某支隊伍
captain — verb, vessel/unit	以船長或最高指揮者身分負責和帶領某艘船或單位
captaincy	擔任隊長的職位、責任、身分或任期
vice-captain	協助隊長並在需要時代行其職責的副隊長
co-captain	與其他人共同承擔隊長職責的人
captain of industry	在大型企業或產業中具有重大影響力的工商界領袖
bell captain	負責管理酒店行李服務人員的主管
captain's chair	一種具有扶手和支撐式椅背的船長椅式座椅
captain's bed	床底設有抽屜或儲物空間的床

For your original sentence

> “As captain of my club team, I learned to perform under pressure...”

The exact meaning is:

captain = 在運動隊伍中被正式指定為領導者，除本身參與比賽外，亦承擔帶領、代表、溝通和支援隊友責任的人

So:

captain of my club team = 我的俱樂部隊伍中正式負責帶領和代表其他隊員的隊長

The passage uses Meaning 1 — designated leader of a sports team.