

Absolutely — golden is a useful secondary polysemy target because your passage uses it in the bakery name:

> “a neighbourhood bakery called Golden Crust”

Here golden is part of a proper name, but the word itself has several strong meanings involving gold colour, valuable/opportune situations, highly successful periods, favourable qualities, and fixed expressions such as golden opportunity / golden age / golden rule.

Word family: gold / golden

Base noun: gold

Adjective: golden

Part of speech: adjective (形容詞) / noun-family form

In your passage, Golden Crust is a business name, so we should not force a literal translation into the sentence. But the adjective golden itself is worth curating.

Meaning in your passage: golden = part of a brand name, suggesting warm golden-brown baked food

In:

> “a bakery called Golden Crust”

Golden is part of the bakery’s proper name. Semantically, it likely evokes:

> the warm golden-brown colour of freshly baked bread crust

繁體中文：

金黃色的；讓人聯想到新鮮烘焙麵包表面金黃酥香的色澤

Natural treatment:

> “Golden Crust”

最好保留品牌名，不直譯。

If explaining the connotation:

> Golden = 金黃、溫暖、烘焙至漂亮金黃色的感覺

1. golden = gold-coloured / yellow-gold — 金黃色的

The core visual meaning.

Practice 1

> “The bread had a golden crust.”

「麵包有一層金黃色的外皮。」

Practice 2

> “The evening light turned the buildings golden.”

「黃昏的光線把建築物映成金黃色。」 golden = 顏色像黃金般偏黃、明亮而溫暖的

This is especially common with:

- * bread
- * pastry
- * sunlight
- * hair
- * autumn leaves

2. golden = made of gold / resembling gold — 金製的；金色的

A material/appearance sense.

Practice 3

> “She wore a golden bracelet.”

「她戴著一條金色 / 金製的手鏈。」

Practice 4

> “The statue has a golden surface.”

「這座雕像有一個金色的表面。」 golden = 由黃金製成，或外觀像黃金般金色

Important nuance:

For actual material, English often prefers:

> gold ring

> rather than > golden ring

So:

* gold ring = 金戒指，材質是金

* golden ring = 金色 / 金光閃閃的戒指，可能強調外觀或文學感

3. golden = excellent / highly favourable — 極好的；難得的

A major figurative meaning.

Practice 5

> “This is a golden opportunity for the business.”

「這對這間公司來說是一個難得的好機會。」

Practice 6

> “She was given a golden chance to expand.”

「她獲得了一個千載難逢的機會去擴展業務。」 golden = 非常有利、珍貴、值得把握的

Common:

* golden opportunity

* golden chance

4. golden opportunity = 千載難逢的好機會；黃金機會

A very high-value fixed expression.

「博物館探討本地電影的*全盛時期*。」 golden age = 某個領域最繁榮、最成功、最有創造力的時期

6. golden years = 黃金歲月；晚年

A common expression with two related uses.

Practice 11

> “He looked back on the golden years of the business.”

「他回顧那間公司的*黃金歲月*。」

Practice 12

> “They moved to the coast for their golden years.”

「他們退休後搬到海邊度過晚年。」 golden years = 美好 / 成功的歲月；也常委婉指退休後的晚年

Context matters.

7. golden rule = 黃金法則；最重要原則

A very common fixed expression.

Practice 13

> “The golden rule is to keep the product simple.”

「最重要的*黃金法則*就是保持產品簡單。」

Practice 14

> “The golden rule of customer service is to listen.”

「顧客服務的*首要原則*是聆聽。」 golden rule = 最重要、最值得遵守的基本原則

8. golden = especially successful / valuable — 成功的；珍貴的

A broader figurative adjective.

Practice 15

> “The bakery entered a golden period of growth.”

「這間麵包店進入了一段業務增長的*黃金時期*。」

Practice 16

> “Those were golden days for the neighbourhood.”

「那些是這個社區的*美好黃金歲月*。」 golden = 某段時間特別成功、幸福、珍貴

This overlaps with golden age, so I would merge conceptually.

9. golden = precious / treasured — 珍貴的；值得珍惜的

A figurative emotional use.

Practice 17

> “She has many golden memories of the old bakery.”

「她對那間舊麵包店有很多珍貴美好的回憶。」

Practice 18

> “Childhood gave him a few golden moments.”

「童年給了他幾個珍貴美好的時刻。」 golden = 美好而值得珍惜的

This is slightly literary.

10. golden = ideal / exemplary — 極佳的；典範式的

A secondary evaluative use.

Practice 19

> “The shop found a golden balance between quality and price.”

「這間店在品質和價格之間找到了一個非常理想的平衡。」

Practice 20

> “They discovered a golden formula for attracting regular customers.”

「他們找到了吸引熟客的理想配方 / 成功模式。」 golden = 非常理想、極具價值或效果極佳的

This is less fixed than golden opportunity, but still productive.

11. gold = precious metal — 黃金

The main related noun.

Practice 21

> “The ring is made of gold.”

「這枚戒指是用黃金製成的。」

Practice 22

> “Gold is valued for its beauty and rarity.”

「黃金因其美感和稀有性而具有價值。」

「對小型麵包店來說，忠實顧客簡直是非常珍貴的資產。」

Practice 26

> “That information is pure gold.”

「那項資訊非常有價值。」

gold — figurative = 非常珍貴、有用或值得重視的人 / 事物

14. as good as gold = 非常乖；表現很好

A common idiom worth flagging.

Practice 27

> “The children were as good as gold.”

「那些孩子非常乖巧。」

Practice 28

> “He behaved like a perfect gentleman—good as gold.”

「他表現得非常有禮，乖巧得不得了。」

as good as gold = 尤指孩子表現非常乖、守規矩

Idiomatic; not literal.

Important distinction: gold vs golden

This is the biggest family distinction.

gold

often identifies:

* material

* colour

* noun

> gold ring

> = 金戒指

> gold lettering

> = 金色字樣

golden often describes:

* gold-like colour

* figurative value

* favourable qualities

> golden bread

> = 金黃色麵包

> golden opportunity

> = 難得良機

So:

> gold opportunity ❌

> golden opportunity ✅

Important distinction: golden vs yellow yellow basic colour.

golden

yellow with a warmer, richer, often attractive gold-like quality.

> yellow bread

> sounds odd/unappealing

> golden bread

> = 烤得金黃漂亮的麵包

For food, golden often has positive connotations.

Important distinction: golden vs brown

For baking:

golden

= attractive light-to-rich yellow-brown colour.

brown

= darker brown colour, neutral description.

> bake until golden

> = 烤至金黄

> dark brown crust

> = 深啡色外皮

This is directly relevant to Golden Crust.

Important distinction: golden vs valuable valuable directly means:

worth money/use/importance.

golden

figuratively suggests:

rare, especially favourable, precious.

> valuable opportunity > possible but unusual

> golden opportunity

> very natural

So golden often adds an emotional sense of rarity and promise.

Important distinction: golden opportunity vs good opportunity good opportunity

= favourable chance.

golden opportunity

= exceptionally favourable and rare chance.

So golden intensifies the value.

Important distinction: golden age vs old age

golden age

= period of exceptional prosperity/success.

old age

= later stage of a person's life.

Do not confuse them.

Important distinction: golden years

Context matters:

> “the company's golden years”

> = 公司最輝煌的歲月

> “enjoy your golden years”

> = 享受退休晚年

Same phrase, different contextual interpretation.

Important distinction: golden rule vs rule

rule

= any principle/instruction.

golden rule

= especially important fundamental principle.

> rule

> = 規則

> golden rule

> = 黃金法則 / 首要原則

Important distinction: golden — literal vs figurative

Literal:

> “golden crust”

= 金黃色外皮

Figurative:

> “golden opportunity”

= 難得良機

Very strong MCQ contrast.

Important distinction: Golden Crust in your passage

Because Golden Crust is a proper business name, we should not automatically translate it as:

> 「金色外皮」 in the passage.

But its connotation likely draws on:

> golden crust = 烘焙食品表面香脆、金黃的外皮

That makes it a semantically fitting bakery name.

Family-extension sweep

After the full audit, the useful modern family includes:

- * golden — colour = 金黃色的

For your original passage

> “a neighbourhood bakery called Golden Crust”

The exact use is:

Golden = 品牌名稱的一部分；語感上令人聯想到麵包、酥點烤至金黃香脆的外皮，帶出新鮮、

溫暖、優質烘焙的形象。 **

Natural translation should usually keep the name:

> 「一間叫 Golden Crust 的社區麵包店」

rather than translating the proper name.

The highest-value contrasts are:

> golden crust → 金黃色外皮

> gold ring → 金戒指 > golden opportunity → 難得良機 > golden age → 黃金時代

> golden years → 黃金歲月 / 晚年

> golden rule → 黃金法則
