Your passage:

> “The trouble with passion is that it can make danger look decorative.”

Meaning in this passage

Here, passion means:

> very strong enthusiasm, emotional commitment, and personal excitement about an activity or ambition.

Kam Chai's passion is his enthusiasm for:

> opening and running a café.

繁體中文：

* 熱情 *

* 熱愛 *

* 強烈興趣 *

* 投入感 *

A natural translation is:

> “The trouble with passion is that it can make danger look decorative.”

「熱情的問題在於，它有時會把風險美化得彷彿只是夢想的一部分。」

The writer is not criticizing passion itself. The point is:

> strong enthusiasm can distort judgment.

Because Kam Chai loves the café idea so much, he may notice:

> freedom + atmosphere + creativity

while underestimating:

> debt + rent + staffing + failure.

A. PASSION = VERY STRONG ENTHUSIASM

1. passion = intense enthusiasm or love for an activity, subject, or cause (熱情 ; 熱愛)

This is the exact passage sense.

> “She has a passion for cooking.”

「她對烹飪充滿熱情。」

> “His passion for coffee led him to open a café.”

「他對咖啡的熱愛促使他開設咖啡店。」

This is one of the dominant modern meanings.

B. PASSION FOR + NOUN

2. have a passion for X = 對 X 非常熱愛

> “He has a passion for design.”

「他非常熱愛設計。」

Common objects:

- * music
- * sport
- * education
- * food
- * art
- * technology
- * coffee
- * travel

C. DEVELOP / DISCOVER A PASSION

3. develop a passion for X = 開始變得非常熱愛 X

「她逐漸愛上烘焙。」

4. discover a passion for X = 發現自己很熱愛 X

> “He discovered a passion for teaching.”

「他發現自己對教學有很大的熱情。」

D. PASSION = THE THING YOU LOVE

5. passion = activity/subject that someone cares deeply about (酷愛的事物)

> “Photography is her passion.”

「攝影是她最熱愛的事情。」

Notice the semantic shift:

“She has a passion for photography.”

passion = feeling

passion = object/activity producing that feeling

E. ONE'S PASSION IN LIFE

6. one's passion in life = 人生中最熱愛的事

> “Food has always been his passion in life.”

「美食一直是他人生中最熱愛的事物。」

Business/entrepreneurial phrase:

> convert strong personal interest into a money-making activity.

Not always positively framed.

H. PASSION PROJECT

11. passion project = primarily personally meaningful project undertaken because someone deeply cares about it (熱愛項目 ; 心血項目)

> “The documentary began as a passion project.”

「這部紀錄片最初是一個導演非常投入的心血項目。」

A passion project may:

- * make money;
- * not make money;
- * exist alongside someone's main job.

The important feature is:

> intrinsic enthusiasm rather than purely commercial necessity.

I. LIFELONG PASSION

12. lifelong passion = 一生的熱愛

> “Jazz was his lifelong passion.”

「爵士樂是他一生的熱愛。」

J. BURNING PASSION

13. burning passion = extremely strong enthusiasm/desire (熾熱的熱情) **

> “She had a burning passion to perform.”

「她對表演有一股熾熱的熱情。」

Can be:

- * ambition;
- * love;
- * cause.

K. CONSUMING PASSION

14. consuming passion = passion so powerful that it dominates someone's attention (強烈到令人全心投入的熱情) **

「她精力充沛，而且對生活充滿熱情。」

Usually positive.

M. DO SOMETHING WITH PASSION

16. with passion = with intense enthusiasm/emotion (充滿熱情地) **

> “He spoke about the café with passion.”

「他充滿熱情地談論那間咖啡店。」

17. bring passion to one's work

> “She brings passion to everything she does.”

「她做任何事情都非常投入。」

N. PASSIONATE ABOUT SOMETHING

18. passionate about X = extremely enthusiastic and committed to X (對.....充滿熱情) **

> “He's passionate about coffee.”

「他對咖啡充滿熱情。」

This is probably the most important adjective construction.

19. passionate about doing X

> “She is passionate about helping young people.”

「她非常熱衷於幫助年輕人。」

O. PASSIONATE = STRONGLY ENTHUSIASTIC

20. passionate = having/showing very strong enthusiasm (熱情洋溢的) **

「他發表了一篇充滿激情的演說。」

26. passionate plea = 強烈而懇切的呼籲

> “She made a passionate plea for help.”

「她作出情辭懇切的求助呼籲。」

S. PASSIONATELY

27. passionately = with intense feeling/enthusiasm (熱情地；強烈地)

> “They argued passionately.”

「他們激烈 / 充滿激情地爭論。」

> “She spoke passionately about music.”

「她充滿熱情地談音樂。」

Translation changes with object/context.

T. PASSION = STRONG EMOTION GENERALLY

Now a broader older/formal branch.

28. passion = very strong emotion of any kind (強烈情感 ; 激情) **

Historically, passion could refer broadly to powerful emotions such as:

- * love;
- * hatred;
- * anger;
- * desire;
- * fear.

> “His speech was full of passion.”

「他的演說充滿強烈情感 / 激情。」

Here passion does not necessarily mean:

> enthusiasm for a hobby.

U. THE PASSIONS

29. the passions = powerful human emotions and desires (七情六慾 ; 強烈情感與欲望) — formal/historical

> “Reason should control the passions.”

「理性應控制人的強烈情感與欲望。」

Common in:

- * philosophy;
- * theology;
- * older literature.

V. CONTROL / MASTER ONE'S PASSIONS

30. control one's passions = 控制強烈情感 / 欲望

「這個議題激起了強烈情緒。」

33. stir passions = 激起情緒

> “The debate stirred passions on both sides.”

「辯論在雙方都激起了強烈情緒。」

34. inflame passions = 激化 / 煽起強烈情緒

Stronger and usually negative.

> “The speech inflamed passions.”

「演說激化了群眾情緒。」

X. PASSIONS RUN HIGH

35. passions run high = people become very emotionally excited/agitated (群情激動) **

> “Passions ran high during the meeting.”

「會議期間大家情緒非常激動。」

Often used when:

* controversy;

* conflict;

* debate

becomes emotionally charged.

Y. PASSION = ROMANTIC / SEXUAL LOVE

A major independent modern branch.

36. passion = intense romantic or sexual desire (激情 ; 情慾) **

> “There was obvious passion between them.”

「兩人之間有明顯的激情 / 情慾吸引。」

This is stronger and more physical/intense than generic:

> affection.

Z. PASSIONATE LOVE

37. passionate love = 熱烈的愛情

> “They had a passionate relationship.”

「他們有一段熱烈的感情關係。」

AA. PASSIONATE RELATIONSHIP

38. passionate relationship = 激情強烈的戀愛關係

Usually suggests:

- * intense attraction;
- * powerful emotion.

It does not necessarily imply:

> stable relationship.

AB. PASSIONATE KISS / EMBRACE

39. passionate kiss = 激情的吻

> “They shared a passionate kiss.”

「他們熱烈地接吻。」

40. passionate embrace = 熱烈擁抱

Can imply romantic/sexual emotion.

AC. A NIGHT OF PASSION

41. a night of passion = 一夜激情

A euphemistic/romantic expression for:

> intense sexual intimacy.

AD. OBJECT OF ONE'S PASSION

42. object of one's passion = person toward whom intense romantic desire is directed Literary.

> “She became the object of his passion.”

「她成為他熱烈愛慕的對象。」

AE. PASSION VS LOVE

love

broader and may be:

- * calm;
- * enduring;
- * familial;
- * romantic.

passion

emphasizes:

- * intensity;
- * excitement;
- * desire.

You can love someone deeply without the relationship always feeling highly passionate.

AF. PASSION VS LUST

passion

can combine:

- * love;
- * emotion;
- * sexual desire.

lust

specifically intense sexual desire.

Therefore:

> passion is broader and often less purely sexual.

AG. PASSION = ANGER — OLDER USAGE

43. passion = intense anger/rage (盛怒 ; 暴怒) — old-fashioned

> “He flew into a passion.”

「他突然勃然大怒。」

This sense is much less common in modern everyday English but survives in fixed expressions and older literature.

AH. FLY INTO A PASSION

44. fly into a passion = suddenly become extremely angry (勃然大怒) **

Old-fashioned/literary.

Modern English more often says:

* fly into a rage;

* lose one's temper.

AI. IN A PASSION

45. in a passion = extremely angry/emotional (盛怒之中) — old-fashioned

> “He stormed out in a passion.”

「他怒氣沖沖地衝了出去。」

AJ. FIT OF PASSION

46. fit of passion = sudden episode of overpowering emotion, often anger (激情 / 盛怒爆發) **

Can occur in:

* older literature;

* legal language.

AK. CRIME OF PASSION

47. crime of passion = violent crime committed under sudden intense emotion, traditionally especially jealousy or rage (激情犯罪) **

Often used journalistically or colloquially for violence committed in an intense emotional state, particularly involving romantic jealousy.

Important:

> crime of passion is not necessarily a precise formal legal offence category in every jurisdiction.

It describes circumstances/motive more than one universally defined crime.

AL. HEAT OF PASSION — LAW

48. heat of passion = intense emotional state potentially relevant to homicide law in some jurisdictions (激情狀態) **

In some common-law/U.S. legal contexts, heat of passion may be relevant when considering whether a killing that would otherwise meet murder requirements is mitigated to voluntary manslaughter, subject to strict legal requirements such as adequate provocation and lack of sufficient cooling time.

The precise doctrine varies by jurisdiction.

繁體中文：

* 激情狀態

* 一時激憤

This is a genuine legal term and should not be treated as merely “being emotional.”

AM. IN THE HEAT OF PASSION

49. in the heat of passion = while overwhelmed by intense emotion

Can be:

- * legal;
- * ordinary dramatic speech.

> “He acted in the heat of passion.”

「他是在一時激憤之下行動。」

AN. PASSION VS EMOTION

emotion

generic category:

- * happiness;
- * sadness;
- * fear;
- * anger.

passion

a particularly strong emotion/desire.

So every passion is broadly emotional, but not every emotion is a passion.

AO. PASSION VS ENTHUSIASM

Especially important for your passage.

enthusiasm

strong interest/excitement.

passion

usually stronger, deeper, more identity-linked.

- > enthusiastic about coffee
- > passionate about coffee.

The second suggests stronger commitment.

AP. PASSION VS INTEREST

interest something attracts attention/curiosity.

passion

deep emotional commitment.

A person can:

> be interested in baking without:

> being passionate about baking.

AQ. PASSION VS HOBBY

hobby

activity done regularly for enjoyment.

passion

emotional intensity toward the activity.

A hobby may become a passion.

AR. PASSION VS CALLING

calling a vocation or strong sense that one is meant to do something.

passion

what one loves strongly.

Someone may feel:

> teaching is both their passion and their calling.

But they are conceptually different.

AS. PASSION VS MOTIVATION

passion

strong emotional enthusiasm.

motivation reason/drive to act.

Passion may create motivation, but one can be motivated by:

- * money;
- * necessity;
- * fear;
- * duty

without passion.

AT. PASSION VS COMMITMENT

passion

intensity of feeling.

commitment willingness to persist/fulfil obligations.

A person can have enormous passion but weak commitment.

Your passage essentially warns about this difference.

AU. PASSION VS DISCIPLINE

Another central contrast in the passage:

passion

makes you want something intensely.

discipline

makes you consistently do the necessary work.

The closing line:

> “Your dream deserves bravery, yes — but it also deserves discipline.”

reinforces the idea:

> passion is not sufficient for successful entrepreneurship.

AV. PASSION VS OBSESSION

passion

strong positive commitment.

obsession

preoccupation so strong that it may become excessive/unhealthy.

A consuming passion can approach obsession, but the terms are not equivalent.

AW. PASSION VS AMBITION

passion

what you deeply enjoy/care about.

ambition

what you strongly want to achieve.

You may be passionate about cooking and ambitious to own ten restaurants.

AX. PASSION VS DRIVE

drive

energy/determination pushing someone toward achievement.

passion

emotional enthusiasm.

Strong entrepreneurs may have:

> passion + drive.

AY. WITH A PASSION

50. with a passion = extremely strongly (非常 ; 強烈地)

Especially common with negative verbs:

> “I hate paperwork with a passion.”

「我非常討厭文書工作。」

Literally:

> with intense feeling.

51. hate/detest X with a passion

A very common construction.

> “She hates dishonesty with a passion.”

「她極之討厭不誠實。」

No romantic or career meaning.

52. love X with a passion

Possible, although less idiomatically striking than:

> hate with a passion.

AZ. SPEAK / ARGUE WITH PASSION

53. speak with passion = 說得充滿激情

> “She spoke with passion about education.”

「她充滿激情地談論教育。」

54. argue with passion

= argue forcefully/emotionally.

Not necessarily angry.

BA. PASSIONATE DEBATE

55. passionate debate = 情緒 / 立場非常強烈的辯論

> “The proposal prompted passionate debate.”

「這項建議引發了激烈而充滿情緒的辯論。」

BB. PASSIONATE RESPONSE

56. passionate response = 強烈而充滿情感的反應

BC. PASSIONATE PERFORMANCE

57. passionate performance = 充滿感情 / 激情的表演

Music/theatre/sport commentary.

> “She gave a passionate performance.”

「她作出了充滿激情的演出。」

BD. PASSIONATE MUSIC / PLAYING

58. passionate music/performance = emotional, intense, expressive

Not necessarily:

> romantic.

BE. PASSIONLESS

59. passionless = lacking strong emotion, enthusiasm, or desire (沒有激情的 ; 冷淡的) **

> “His delivery was passionless.”

「他的演說方式毫無激情。」

60. passionless relationship

= relationship lacking emotional/sexual intensity.

61. passionless performance

= emotionally flat/uninspired performance.

BF. PASSIONLESS VS DISPASSIONATE

Important distinction.

passionless

lacking emotion/enthusiasm.

Can sound negative:

> dull, lifeless.

dispassionate

calm, impartial, not influenced by strong emotion.

Often positive:

> dispassionate analysis.

So:

> passionless judge ❌ potentially sounds emotionally dead > dispassionate judge ✅ impartial.

BG. PASSIONLESS VS APATHETIC

passionless

without intensity.

apathetic

showing little interest, concern, or motivation.

A passionless presentation may still be competent; an apathetic person may not care at all.

BH. THE PASSION — CHRISTIANITY

Now a completely different major historical/religious branch.

62. the Passion = suffering and death of Jesus Christ, especially the events leading to and including the Crucifixion (基督受難) **

Usually capitalized:

> the Passion

繁體中文：

耶穌受難

基督受難

This meaning preserves the older root sense of:

> suffering.

BI. THE PASSION OF CHRIST

63. the Passion of Christ = 基督受難

Refers to Christ's suffering in the final period leading up to the Crucifixion.

BJ. PASSION NARRATIVE

64. Passion narrative = 福音書中的耶穌受難敘事

The portions of the Gospels recounting:

* arrest;

* trial;

* suffering;

* Crucifixion

and surrounding events, depending on definition/tradition.

BK. PASSION PLAY

65. passion play = depicting Christ's Passion (耶穌受難劇)

A dramatic performance representing the events of Christ's Passion.

繁體中文： 受難劇

This is an established religious/theatrical compound.

BL. PASSION MUSIC

66. Passion = musical setting/work depicting the Passion of Christ (受難曲) **

In classical sacred music:

> a Passion

is a work setting/narrating the Gospel Passion story.

Examples as a genre include:

* St Matthew Passion

* St John Passion.

繁體中文：*受難曲

BM. PASSION ORATORIO

67. Passion oratorio = 受難清唱劇

A sacred musical work concerning Christ's Passion.

Specialist music/religious terminology.

BN. PASSION WEEK / PASSIONTIDE

68. Passiontide = some Christian traditions' period focused particularly on Christ's Passion

Historical/liturgical terminology.

Exact calendar usage varies among traditions and periods.

69. Passion Sunday

A liturgical title used in some Christian traditions/calendars, with meaning/date varying historically and denominationally.

Priority: specialist religious.

BO. PASSION = SUFFERING — HISTORICAL ROOT SENSE

70. *passion = suffering, especially martyrdom (受苦 ; 受難) — archaic***

The Christian Passion preserves this older meaning.

Outside religious/historical contexts, modern English generally does not use passion simply to mean suffering.

BP. PASSION = MARTYRDOM / SUFFERING STORY — HISTORICAL

71. *passion = account of a martyr's suffering/death — historical***

In older religious literature, a passion could refer to an account of martyrdom.

Very low priority but historically genuine.

BQ. PHILOSOPHY: PASSIONS VS REASON

72. *passions = emotions/desires viewed as forces affecting human judgment/action***

Especially in:

- * ancient/medieval philosophy in translation;
- * early modern philosophy;
- * ethics;
- * theology.

Traditional contrast:

> reason vs the passions

= 理性 vs 情感 / 欲望

BR. PASSIVE EMOTION — HISTORICAL PHILOSOPHY

The word's history connects passion with:

> something one undergoes/is affected by, contrasting with active agency in some philosophical traditions.

This background explains why older philosophical writing often uses passion far more broadly than modern “enthusiasm.”

BS. PASSIONATE — ROMANTIC/SEXUAL

73. passionate = showing intense romantic/sexual feeling (熱烈的 ; 激情的)

> “They had a passionate affair.”

「他們有一段充滿激情的戀情。」

74. passionate kiss

= 熱吻.

75. passionately in love

> “They were passionately in love.”

「他們愛得非常熱烈。」

BT. PASSIONATELY = INTENSELY

76. passionately = with very strong emotion

Can modify:

* love passionately;

* believe passionately;

* oppose passionately;

* argue passionately.

Chinese translation changes:

- * 熱烈地
- * 熱情地
- * 強烈地
- * 激動地

depending on context.

BU. PASSIONATE HATRED

77. passionate hatred = 極強烈的憎恨

This proves:

> passionate is not always positive.

It fundamentally means:

> emotionally intense.

BV. PASSIONATE OPPOSITION

78. passionate opposition = 強烈反對

> “The plan met passionate opposition.”

「計劃遭到強烈反對。」

BW. PASSIONATE DEFENCE

79. passionate defence = 激烈 / 熱切的辯護

> “She made a passionate defence of the proposal.”

「她對這項建議作出了熱切而有力的辯護。」

BX. PASSIONATE COMMITMENT

80. passionate commitment = 強烈投入 / 熱誠

Combines:

> intense feeling + sustained commitment.

BY. PASSION ECONOMY

81. passion economy = economic model/sector in which individuals monetize specialized interests, skills, knowledge, or audiences

Modern business/creator-economy term.

Examples might include people earning from:

- * courses;
- * memberships;
- * newsletters;
- * specialized content;
- * niche communities.

繁體中文：

* 熱情經濟

* 興趣 / 專長變現經濟

This is a relatively recent business term, so database priority is lower than the main senses.

BZ. PASSION BRANDING / BRAND PASSION

82. brand passion / consumer passion = unusually strong emotional attachment to a brand/activity

Marketing/research terminology.

Usually compositional rather than a wholly independent dictionary sense.

Priority: specialist/low.

CA. PASSION FLOWER

83. passionflower / passion flower = 西番蓮 / 百香花

A botanical name for plants in the genus Passiflora.

Important:

The passion in the plant name historically refers to:

> the Passion of Christ not romantic or emotional passion.

Missionaries associated parts of the flower with symbols of Christ's Passion.

CB. PASSION FRUIT / PASSIONFRUIT

84. passion fruit / passionfruit = 百香果 / 熱情果

Fruit of certain Passiflora species.

Again, historically:

> passion ultimately comes through passionflower → Passion of Christ not:

> because the fruit supposedly causes romantic passion.

This is a useful etymological trap.

CC. PASSION VINE

85. passion vine = 西番蓮藤

Botanical/common-name extension.

Lower priority.

CD. PASSION PROJECT VS SIDE PROJECT

passion project

mainly motivated by deep personal interest.

side project

simply done alongside one's main work.

A side project may not be a passion project, and a passion project can eventually become one's main work.

CE. PASSION PROJECT VS HOBBY

hobby

regular leisure activity.

passion project

defined project/output undertaken because of enthusiasm.

Example:

> enjoying photography = hobby > making a year-long photo documentary = passion project.

CF. PASSION VS PURPOSE

passion

what energizes/excites you.

purpose

what gives your activity meaning/direction.

Career advice often combines them, but they are distinct.

CG. PASSION VS TALENT

passion

how strongly you care.

talent

ability/aptitude.

Strong passion does not guarantee strong skill.

Again highly relevant to the passage.

CH. PASSION VS EXPERTISE

passion

emotional commitment.

expertise

developed knowledge/skill.

Someone may be passionate but inexperienced.

CI. PASSION VS PROFITABILITY

A central business distinction in your passage:

passion

“I love this idea.”

profitability

“The business generates enough revenue relative to costs.”

One does not prove the other.

CJ. PASSION VS DEMAND

passion

owner's enthusiasm.

customer demand

whether enough customers will actually buy.

This explains the passage's line:

> customers must pay for the idea, not merely praise it.

CK. PASSION VS RISK JUDGMENT

Your passage says:

> "The trouble with passion is that it can make danger look decorative."

This is a compressed metaphor for a known decision problem:

> emotional attachment can bias how someone perceives evidence.

Lexically:

passion here does not itself mean:

> irrationality.

The sentence says that passion can sometimes produce it.

CL. IMPORTANT COLLOCATIONS

CM. GRAMMAR

86. passion for + noun

- > passion for music
- > passion for coffee.

87. passion for + -ing

Possible:

> “His passion for teaching...”

「他對教學的熱愛」

88. have a passion for

> “She has a passion for design.”

89. passion about?

Ordinary noun construction usually prefers:

> passion for

rather than:

> passion about.

But adjective:

> passionate about

is extremely common.

So:

> passion for coffee

> passionate about coffee.

Important learner contrast.

90. passionate about + noun/-ing

> passionate about food > passionate about helping people.

91. passionate for?

Possible in literary/less common contexts, but modern everyday English normally prefers:

> passionate about a subject/cause.

92. with passion

> speak with passion.

93. with a passion

Usually idiomatic intensifier:

> hate X with a passion.

This is different from simply:

> speak with passion.

CN. COUNTABILITY

passion = enthusiasm

Both countable and uncountable depending on structure.

uncountable/general

> "Passion is important."

countable/object or particular enthusiasm

> "She has a passion for painting."

passions = interests

> “Music and travel are his two great passions.”

「音樂和旅遊是他兩大熱愛。」

Here passions means:

> activities/things deeply loved.

passions = powerful emotions

Formal:

> “control the passions.”

= 控制情感 / 欲望.

passion = romantic/sexual intensity

Often uncountable:

> “Their relationship lacked passion.”

the Passion

Proper/specialized singular:

> Christ's Passion.

CO. FAMILY MAP

Family member / branch	Main meaning
-----	-----
passion — enthusiasm	very strong interest/love for an activity, subject, cause

For your original passage

> “The trouble with passion is that it can make danger look decorative.”

The exact meaning is:

> passion = Kam Chai's very strong emotional enthusiasm for the café idea.

The metaphor:

> danger look decorative means that strong enthusiasm can make serious risks appear like charming details in the dream.

For example:

> high rent

> becomes “the cost of having a beautiful location.”

> long working hours > become “the exciting life of an entrepreneur.”

> unstable income > becomes “freedom.”

> debt

> becomes “investing in the dream.”

The writer's warning is therefore:

> passion can change how a person interprets evidence without changing the evidence itself.

This connects directly to the essay's overall structure:

> passion gives Kam Chai the motivation to build the café, > but discipline, testing, savings and evidence must determine whether and when he should actually open it.

For your core database, I would keep 6 principal semantic branches:

1. intense enthusiasm or love for an activity, subject, goal, or cause — the passage sense
2. the activity/object a person is deeply devoted to — “music is my passion”
3. intense emotion/desire generally — especially formal “the passions”
4. strong romantic or sexual love/desire
5. anger/rage — mainly older usage, surviving in “fly into a passion” and legal/emotional phrases
6. the Passion — Christ's suffering and Crucifixion, plus the religious/artistic family

Then explicitly index passionate, passionately, passionless, passion project, with a passion, passions run high, crime of passion, heat of passion, passion play, Passion music, passionflower and passion fruit, because those are established enough that reducing the family to simply 「熱情」 would miss several major modern, historical and specialist branches.
