HL. PASSAGE RECAP

“Should the bystander report the incident or stay silent?”

Here:

report

= to formally tell an appropriate person or authority about an incident, problem, or wrongdoing

Best Traditional Chinese:

- 報告
- 通報
- 舉報
- in this cyberbullying context: 向老師／有關人士舉報事件

Natural contextual translation:

旁觀者應該舉報這宗事件，還是保持沉默？

Passage MCQ-ready meaning

report

= to tell a responsible person or authority that an incident or wrongdoing has occurred

通報；報告；舉報

The biggest learner branches are:

report bullying to a teacher

→ 向老師舉報欺凌

report a crime

→ 報案

report someone for misconduct

→ 因不當行為舉報某人

but:

report the findings

→ 報告研究結果

report on the incident

→ 報道這宗事件

As a noun:

news report

→ 新聞報道

research report

→ 研究報告

incident report

→ 事件報告

annual report

→ 年報

Workplace English adds:

I report to the director.

→ 我向主管匯報／隸屬於主管

She has five direct reports.

→ 她有五名直接下屬

Formal work/service language adds:

report for duty

→ 報到執勤

report to reception

→ 到接待處報到

Grammar adds:

reported speech

→ 間接引語

Digital English adds:

report a post

→ 舉報貼文

report a bug

→ 回報程式錯誤

Research adds:

self-reported data

→ 自陳資料

underreporting

→ 漏報／少報

And one less common but genuinely distinct meaning is:

the report of a rifle

→ 步槍的槍響

The unifying core is:

REPORT = transfer information from what happened / what was found to someone who needs to know.

That recipient may be:

- a teacher,
- police,
- management,
- the public,
- a reader,
- a regulator,
- a supervisor,
- or a computer system.

In the passage specifically, the question is ethical and social: whether a bystander should pass information about the cyberbullying to someone capable of responding, rather than remaining silent.
