

Absolutely — sandwich is a useful Tier 1 polysemy target because your passage uses it here:

> “...balancing a sandwich and revision notes in one hand...”

Here sandwich means food made by placing a filling between slices or pieces of bread. But the word also has a major verb meaning: to squeeze or place something tightly between two other things, plus some useful compounds and figurative extensions.

Word family: sandwich

Base word: sandwich

Part of speech: noun (名詞) / verb (動詞)

Meaning in your passage: sandwich = food with filling between bread — 三文治；夾心麵包

Your phrase:

> “a sandwich and revision notes”

Here sandwich means:

> a food item made by putting meat, cheese, vegetables, or another filling between slices or pieces of bread.

繁體中文：

把肉、芝士、蔬菜等餡料夾在兩片或兩層麵包之間製成的食物；三文治

Natural translation:

> “balancing a sandwich and revision notes in one hand”

「一隻手同時拿著三文治和溫習筆記」

So here:

> sandwich = 三文治這種食物

1. sandwich = food with filling between bread — 三文治

The exact source meaning.

Practice 1 — Original

> “I was carrying a sandwich and revision notes.”

「我拿著一份三文治和溫習筆記。」

Practice 2

> “She made a cheese sandwich for lunch.”

「她午餐做了一份芝士三文治。」

Practice 3

> “I bought a sandwich at the station.”

「我在車站買了一份三文治。」 sandwich = 餡料夾在兩層麵包之間的食物

2. sandwich = food where one thing is placed between two similar layers — 夾心食品

A broader food extension.

Practice 4

> “The dessert is made like an ice-cream sandwich.”

「這款甜品做成了雪糕夾心餅的形式。」

Practice 5

> “Two biscuits form a sandwich around the cream.”

「兩塊餅乾把忌廉夾在中間，形成夾心餅。」 sandwich = 一層材料被夾在兩層相似材料之間的食物形式

This is the core behind compounds like:

* ice-cream sandwich

* sandwich biscuit

3. sandwich = place/squeeze something between two other things — 把.....夾在中間

A major verb sense.

Practice 6

> “I was sandwiched between two people on the bus.”

「我在巴士上被兩個人夾在中間。」

Practice 7

> “The small shop is sandwiched between two restaurants.”

「那間小店夾在兩間餐廳中間。」 sandwich = 把某人 / 某物放在兩個東西之間，通常空間很窄

This is one of the strongest non-food senses.

4. be sandwiched between + A and B — 被夾在.....之間

A very common construction.

Practice 8

> “The school is sandwiched between a park and a shopping centre.”

「學校夾在公園和商場之間。」

Practice 9

> “He was sandwiched between two large bags.”

「他被兩個大袋夾在中間。」 be sandwiched between A and B = 位於 / 困在兩者之間

It can describe:

- * people
- * buildings
- * objects
- * events

* time periods

5. sandwich something between + two things — 把某事安排在兩者之間

A figurative scheduling use.

Practice 10

> “She sandwiched lunch between two meetings.”

「她把午餐安排在兩個會議之間。」

Practice 11

> “I sandwiched a short revision session between classes.”

「我把一小段溫習時間塞在兩堂課之間。」

sandwich X between Y and Z = 把某件事硬塞 / 安排在另外兩件事之間

Very common figurative extension.

6. sandwich = tightly compressed between things — 被擠在中間

A spatial-pressure nuance.

Practice 12

> “Passengers were sandwiched together in the crowded train.”

「乘客在擠迫的列車裡擠成一團 / 互相夾著。」

Practice 13

> “The boxes were sandwiched tightly into the back seat.”

「那些盒子被緊緊塞在後座裡。」 sandwiched = 因空間狹窄而被夾住 / 擠壓在一起

7. sandwich filling = 三文治餡料

A common compound.

Practice 14

> “Egg and mayonnaise is a common sandwich filling.”

「雞蛋加蛋黃醬是常見的三文治餡料。」

Practice 15

> “The shop offers several sandwich fillings.”

「這間店提供幾種不同的三文治餡料。」

8. sandwich bread = 三文治麵包；方包

A common food compound.

Practice 16

> “Use soft sandwich bread for this recipe.”

「這個食譜要用柔軟的三文治麵包 / 方包。」

Practice 17

> “The bakery sells fresh sandwich bread every morning.”

「這間麵包店每天早上都出售新鮮的方包。」 sandwich bread = 特別適合製作三文治的切片麵包

9. sandwich shop = 三文治店

Practice 18

> “A new sandwich shop opened near the school.”

「學校附近新開了一間三文治店。」

Practice 19

> “The sandwich shop gets busy at lunchtime.”

「這間三文治店午飯時間很繁忙。」

10. ice-cream sandwich = 雪糕夾心餅

A highly lexicalized compound.

Practice 20

> “He bought an ice-cream sandwich.”

「他買了一個雪糕夾心餅。」

Practice 21

> “The ice-cream sandwich melted quickly.”

「那個雪糕夾心餅很快就融化了。」 ice-cream sandwich = 雪糕夾在兩塊餅乾 / 蛋糕等之間的甜品

11. sandwich biscuit = 夾心餅乾

Practice 22

> “The children ate chocolate sandwich biscuits.”

「孩子們吃了朱古力夾心餅乾。」

Practice 23

> “The cream sits between two biscuits.”

「忌廉夾在兩塊餅乾之間，形成夾心餅。」

12. sandwich generation = 夾心世代

A major figurative compound.

Practice 24

> “Many people in the sandwich generation care for both children and ageing parents.”

「很多夾心世代的人既要照顧子女，也要照顧年老父母。」

Practice 25

> “Financial pressure can be heavy for the sandwich generation.”

「夾心世代可能承受很大的財務壓力。」

sandwich generation = 同時要照顧下一代和上一代、被兩邊責任夾在中間的一代人

This is a very useful figurative extension.

13. sandwich board = 人形廣告牌 / 雙面立式廣告牌

A lexicalized compound.

Practice 26

> “The café placed a sandwich board outside.”

「咖啡店在門外放了一塊雙面立式廣告牌。」

Practice 27

> “The daily specials were written on a sandwich board.”

「每日特餐寫在一塊A 字形廣告牌上。」 sandwich board = 兩塊板連在一起、通常呈 A 字形擺放的廣告牌

Historically also:

> boards worn front and back by a person

Important distinction: sandwich vs burger

sandwich

usually:

= filling between slices/pieces of bread.

burger

usually:

= patty or other filling in a split bun.

> ham sandwich

> = 火腿三文治

> beef burger

> = 牛肉漢堡

They overlap in broad food classification, but ordinary usage distinguishes them.

Important distinction: sandwich vs toast

sandwich

= filling between bread.

toast

= bread browned by heat.

> toasted sandwich

> = 烘 / 烤三文治

The same bread can be both toasted and used in a sandwich.

Important distinction: sandwich vs wrap

sandwich

= filling between bread.

wrap

= filling rolled inside a flatbread/tortilla.

> chicken sandwich

> = 雞肉三文治

> chicken wrap

> = 雞肉卷

Important distinction: sandwich — noun vs verb

Noun:

> “I ate a sandwich.”

= 我吃了一份三文治。

Verb:

> “I was sandwiched between two passengers.”

= 我被兩名乘客夾在中間。

Completely different grammatical function.

Excellent MCQ contrast.

Important distinction: sandwiched between — physical vs figurative

Physical:

> “The shop is sandwiched between two buildings.”

= 店舖夾在兩座建築物之間。

Figurative:

> “Lunch was sandwiched between two meetings.”

= 午餐硬塞在兩個會議之間。

Same core concept:

> something in the middle of two other things

Important distinction: sandwich vs squeeze

squeeze

= press/compress physically, or force into a small space.

sandwich

= specifically position between two sides/things.

> squeezed into a seat

> = 擠進座位

> sandwiched between two people

> = 被兩個人夾在中間

Important distinction: sandwich vs layer

layer

= one level/sheet in a stack.

sandwich

= middle material held between two outer layers.

So a sandwich structure normally implies:

> outer layer + middle layer + outer layer

This idea extends beyond food.

Important distinction: sandwich generation

This does not literally involve food.

The metaphor is:

> older generation

> ↓
 > middle-aged adult
 > ↓
 > younger generation

The middle person is “sandwiched” between responsibilities to both sides.

Family-extension sweep

After the full audit, the useful modern inventory includes:

* sandwich — food = 三文治
 * sandwich — layered food = 夾心食品
 * sandwich — verb = 把.....夾在中間
 * be sandwiched between = 被夾在兩者之間
 * sandwich X between Y and Z = 把某事安排 / 硬塞在兩件事之間
 * sandwiched together = 被擠在一起
 * sandwich filling = 三文治餡料
 * sandwich bread = 三文治麵包 / 方包
 * sandwich shop = 三文治店
 * ice-cream sandwich = 雪糕夾心餅
 * sandwich biscuit = 夾心餅乾
 * sandwich generation = 夾心世代
 * sandwich board = 雙面立式 / A 字形廣告牌

Master comparison

Form / sense	MCQ-ready Traditional Chinese meaning
-----	-----
sandwich — food	把肉、芝士、蔬菜等餡料夾在兩層麵包之間製成的食物
sandwich — layered food	一層食材被夾在兩層相似食材之間的食物形式
sandwich — verb	把某人 / 某物置於兩個其他東西之間
be sandwiched between	被夾 / 擠在兩個人、物件、地方或事件之間
sandwich X between Y and Z	把某件事情硬塞或安排在另外兩件事之間 sandwich filling	放在三文治麵包之間的餡料
sandwich bread	適合製作三文治的切片麵包 / 方包
sandwich generation	同時肩負照顧上一代和下一代責任的中間世代
sandwich board	兩面相連、通常呈 A 字形放置的廣告牌

For your original sentence

> “I had filmed myself rushing to school, balancing a sandwich and revision notes in one hand...”

The exact meaning is:

*sandwich = 作者趕上學途中拿著的一份三文治，也就是餡料夾在麵包之間的便攜食物。 ****

Natural translation:

> *「我拍下自己匆忙趕去上學，一隻手同時拿著一份三文治和溫習筆記……」 ****

The highest-value contrasts are:

> eat a sandwich → 吃三文治

> sandwich filling → 三文治餡料

> be sandwiched between two people → 被兩個人夾在中間 > sandwich lunch between meetings → 把午飯硬塞在兩個會議之間

> sandwich generation → 夾心世代

> sandwich board → A 字形 / 雙面立式廣告牌