

Absolutely — second-hand is a very useful polysemy/family target because your passage uses it here:

> “Unlike petrol cars, whose running costs and second-hand prices are familiar...”

Here second-hand means previously owned or used by someone else, so second-hand prices means the market prices of used vehicles.

Word family: second-hand / secondhand

Adjective: second-hand / secondhand

Adverb: second-hand / secondhand

Noun-related expressions: second-hand goods, second-hand market

Part of speech: adjective ( 形容詞 ) / adverb ( 副詞 )

Major domains:

* used goods

* resale markets

* information obtained indirectly

* experience obtained indirectly

* smoke exposure

* embarrassment / trauma / effects experienced through others

* commercial compounds such as second-hand car, second-hand shop, second-hand market

---

Meaning in your passage: second-hand = previously owned / used — 二手的 ; 中古的

Your phrase:

> “second-hand prices”

means:

> the prices at which previously owned cars are sold on the used-car market.

繁體中文 :

曾被其他人擁有或使用過、之後再出售的 ; 二手的

Natural translation:

> 「不像汽油車那樣，其使用成本和二手車價格早已為人熟悉……」

So here:

> **second-hand = 非全新，而是已有前任車主 / 使用者**

---

# A. SECOND-HAND GOODS

「他會買**二手書 / 舊書**。」

### Practice 12

> “Second-hand clothes are often cheaper.”

「**二手衣物**通常較便宜。」

---

# G. SECOND-HAND EQUIPMENT

7. **second-hand equipment = 二手設備**

### Practice 13

> “The company purchased second-hand machinery.”

「公司購買了**二手機械設備**。」

### Practice 14

> “Second-hand equipment may require more maintenance.”

「二手設備可能需要更多維修。」

# H. SECOND-HAND AS ADVERB

8. **buy/get something second-hand = 買二手的；以二手方式取得**

### Practice 15

> “I bought the laptop **second-hand**.”

「這部手提電腦我是**買二手的**。」

### Practice 16

> “They acquired the equipment second-hand.”

「他們以**二手方式**取得設備。」

Here **second-hand** modifies the manner of acquisition rather than directly modifying a noun.

---

# I. SECOND-HAND INFORMATION

9. **second-hand = obtained from another person rather than directly — 間接得來的；二手的**

A major distinct sense.

### Practice 17

> “The report was based on **second-hand information**.”

「這份報告以**間接得來的資料 / 二手資料**為基礎。」

### Practice 18

> “I only heard the story second-hand.”

「我只是從別人那裡**間接聽說**這件事。」

**second-hand — information = 不是親自觀察 / 直接取得，而是經由其他人轉述而來**

---

# J. HEAR SOMETHING SECOND-HAND

10. **hear something second-hand = 間接聽說**

### Practice 19

> “I heard about the accident second-hand.”

「我是**間接聽說**那宗事故的。」

### Practice 20

> “She knew the details only second-hand.”

「她對細節的了解只是**從別人口中得知**。」

---

# K. SECOND-HAND ACCOUNT

11. **second-hand account = 間接記述；轉述**

### Practice 21

> “The article relies on second-hand accounts.”

「文章依賴**間接記述 / 轉述資料**。」

### Practice 22

> “A second-hand account may be less reliable than direct testimony.”

「**間接記述**可能不如直接證詞可靠。」

# L. FIRST-HAND VS SECOND-HAND

12. **first-hand = 親身 / 直接取得的**

### Practice 23

> “She had **first-hand experience** of the problem.”

「她對這個問題有**親身經驗**。」

### Practice 24

> “The researcher collected first-hand data.”

「研究人員收集了**第一手資料**。」

**second-hand**

= indirect

So:

> first-hand information

> = 第一手資料

> second-hand information

> = 二手 / 間接資料

Excellent MCQ distinction.

---

# M. SECOND-HAND EXPERIENCE

13. **second-hand experience = 間接經驗；透過他人獲得的體驗認知**

Practice 25

> “Most of his knowledge came from second-hand experience.”

「他大部分知識來自**間接經驗**。」

Practice 26

> “Reading about a crisis gives only second-hand experience.”

「閱讀危機事件只能帶來**間接體驗**。」

This is different from:

> personally living through it.

---

# N. SECOND-HAND KNOWLEDGE

14. **second-hand knowledge = 間接知識；從別處聽來的知識**

Practice 27

> “Her knowledge of the industry was largely second-hand.”

「她對這個行業的了解大多是**間接得來的**。」

### Practice 28

> “Second-hand knowledge can still be useful, but it should be checked.”

「間接知識仍可能有用，但應加以核實。」

# O. SECOND-HAND EVIDENCE

15. **second-hand evidence = 間接證據 / 轉述證據**

### Practice 29

> “The claim was supported only by second-hand evidence.”

「這項說法只有**間接證據**支持。」

### Practice 30

> “Second-hand evidence may carry less weight.”

「間接證據的證明力可能較低。」

Legal terminology varies, so do not equate automatically with:

> hearsay

though they can overlap.

---

# P. SECOND-HAND SMOKE

16. **second-hand smoke = 二手煙**

A major fixed expression.

### Practice 31

> “Children should be protected from **second-hand smoke**.”

「兒童應受到保護，避免吸入**二手煙**。」

### Practice 32

> “Second-hand smoke can affect people nearby.”

「二手煙可能影響附近的人。」

**second-hand smoke = 不是本人吸煙，而是吸入其他人產生的煙霧**

---

# Q. PASSIVE SMOKING

17. **passive smoking = 被動吸煙**

Close concept.

**second-hand smoke**

= the smoke/exposure itself

**passive smoking**

= the act/state of breathing it

> second-hand smoke

> = 二手煙

> passive smoking

> = 被動吸煙

# R. SECOND-HAND VAPOUR / AEROSOL

18. **second-hand aerosol/vapour = 二手氣霧 / 他人呼出的氣霧**

Modern public-health extension.

### Practice 33

> “Researchers have studied exposure to second-hand aerosol.”

「研究人員研究過接觸**二手氣霧**的情況。」

### Practice 34

> “Second-hand exposure affects people nearby.”

「二手暴露會影響附近的人。」

Terminology can vary by public-health context.

---

# S. SECOND-HAND EMBARRASSMENT

19. **second-hand embarrassment = 替別人尷尬；二手尷尬**

A major modern conversational expression.

### Practice 35

> “I felt intense **second-hand embarrassment** watching the video.”

「看那段影片時，我尷尬得像是**替他尷尬**。」

### Practice 36

> “The awkward speech gave everyone second-hand embarrassment.”

「那場尷尬的演說令大家都產生**替人尷尬的感覺**。」

**second-hand embarrassment = 自己沒有做尷尬事，卻因看到別人尷尬而替對方感到羞恥 / 不自在**

Closely related to:

> cringe

which you curated earlier.

---

# T. SECOND-HAND CRINGE

20. **second-hand cringe = 替別人覺得尷尬；二手尷尬**

Informal.

### Practice 37

> “The clip gave me serious second-hand cringe.”

「那段影片令我**替當事人尷尬到不行**。」

### Practice 38

> “Second-hand cringe is common in awkward reality-TV scenes.”

「真人騷的尷尬場面很容易令人產生**二手尷尬**。」

Slang/informal.

---

# U. SECOND-HAND TRAUMA

21. **second-hand trauma = 間接創傷；替代性創傷**

A psychological extension, though precise professional terminology may prefer **secondary traumatic stress** or **vicarious trauma** depending on context.

### Practice 39

> “Repeated exposure to disturbing stories can cause second-hand trauma.”

「反覆接觸令人痛苦的故事可能造成**間接創傷**。」

### Practice 40

> “Professionals who hear traumatic accounts may experience emotional effects themselves.”

「經常聽取創傷經歷的專業人士本身也可能受到情緒影響。」

Use carefully:

> second-hand trauma is understandable, but specialist terms may be more precise.

---

# V. SECOND-HAND STRESS

22. **second-hand stress = 受到別人壓力感染而產生的壓力**

Descriptive modern phrase.

### Practice 41

> “Her constant anxiety gave the whole team second-hand stress.”

「她持續的焦慮令整個團隊也感受到一種**被感染的壓力**。」

### Practice 42

> “People can absorb stress from those around them.”

「人可能會受到身邊人的壓力影響。」

Not a rigid clinical term, but semantically productive.

---

# W. SECOND-HAND EFFECT / EXPOSURE

23. **second-hand = affecting someone indirectly through another person — 間接受到的**

Broad productive extension.

### Practice 43

> “Family members may experience second-hand effects of financial stress.”

「家庭成員可能**間接受到財務壓力影響**。」

### Practice 44

> “The problem created second-hand consequences for suppliers.”

「這個問題也對供應商造成了**間接後果**。」

This is productive rather than a separate dictionary core sense.

---

# X. SECOND-HAND NEWS

24. **second-hand news = 轉述消息；間接消息**

### Practice 45

> “Do not rely entirely on second-hand news.”

「不要完全依賴**轉述消息**。」

### Practice 46

> “She wanted direct confirmation rather than second-hand news.”

「她想要直接確認，而不是**從別人聽來的消息**。」

---

# Y. SECOND-HAND SOURCE

25. **second-hand source = 二手來源；間接來源**

### Practice 47

> “The claim came from a second-hand source.”

「這項說法來自**間接來源**。」

### Practice 48

> “Second-hand sources should be checked against primary evidence.”

「二手來源應與第一手證據互相核對。」

---

# Z. SECOND-HAND REPORT

26. **second-hand report = 間接報道；轉述**

### Practice 49

> “The report was based on second-hand descriptions.”

「報告以**間接描述 / 轉述內容**為基礎。」

### Practice 50

> “Direct observation is generally preferable to second-hand reporting.”

「直接觀察通常比**間接轉述**更理想。」

---

# AA. SECOND-HAND MARKET VS RESALE MARKET

## 27. **second-hand market vs resale market**

### **second-hand market**

= market for used goods generally.

### **resale market**

= market where previously purchased goods are sold again.

Very close.

For cars:

- * second-hand car market

- * used-car market

- * resale market

All can occur, with slightly different emphasis.

---

# AB. SECOND-HAND VS USED

## 28. **second-hand vs used**

### **second-hand**

= previously owned/used by another person.

### **used**

= previously used; especially common in AmE and commercial labels.

Compare:

- > second-hand car

- > = very common BrE

- > used car

- > = very common AmE and international automotive English

Both:

> 二手車

---

AC. SECOND-HAND VS PRE-OWNED

29. **second-hand vs pre-owned**

**second-hand**

= neutral/common used item.

**pre-owned**

= marketing euphemism, especially cars/luxury goods.

> second-hand car

> = 二手車

> certified pre-owned car

> = 認證二手車

**pre-owned** often sounds more polished/commercial.

---

AD. CERTIFIED PRE-OWNED

30. **certified pre-owned = 原廠 / 經銷商認證二手的**

Practice 51

> “The dealer sells certified pre-owned vehicles.”

「經銷商出售**認證二手車**。」

Practice 52

> “Certified pre-owned cars may include inspections and warranties.”

「認證二手車可能附有檢查和保養。」

This is a commercial category, not a separate sense of second-hand, but highly relevant to vehicle resale.

---

# AE. SECOND-HAND VS OLD

**second-hand**

= previously owned.

**old**

= has existed for a long time.

A second-hand item can be:

> almost new

An old item can be:

> still owned by its original owner.

So:

> second-hand  $\neq$  old.

Excellent learner distinction.

---

# AF. SECOND-HAND VS VINTAGE

**second-hand**

= previously owned.

**vintage**

= from an earlier period and valued for age/style.

A vintage item is often second-hand, but the concepts differ.

---

# AG. SECOND-HAND VS ANTIQUE

**second-hand**

= simply previously owned.

**antique**

= old item with age/history/collectible status.

Not every second-hand object is an antique.

AH. SECOND-HAND VS REFURBISHED

31. **second-hand vs refurbished**

**second-hand**

= previously owned/used.

**refurbished**

= previously used/returned but restored, tested, repaired, or reconditioned before resale.

A refurbished device is usually second-hand in a broad sense, but has undergone restoration.

AI. SECOND-HAND VS RECONDITIONED

**reconditioned**

= repaired/restored to good working condition.

**second-hand**

= says nothing about restoration quality.

Important for:

- * machinery

- * batteries

- * electronics

---

AJ. SECOND-HAND VS RESALE

**second-hand**

= describes the item.

**resale**

= describes selling it again.

> second-hand car

> = 二手車

> resale value

> = 轉售價值

A car becomes part of the second-hand market when resold.

---

# AK. SECOND-HAND PRICE VS RESALE VALUE

This is directly relevant to your passage.

**second-hand price**

= market price buyers/sellers see for used cars.

**resale value**

= amount an owner expects/obtains when selling their vehicle later.

Same market, different perspective.

> second-hand price

> = 市場二手售價

> resale value

> = 車主未來可回收的轉售價值

---

# AL. SECOND-HAND VS HAND-ME-DOWN

32. **hand-me-down = 別人用過後傳給你的舊物**

Practice 53

> “He wore hand-me-down clothes from his brother.”

「他穿哥哥留下來的**舊衣服 / 傳下來的衣物**。」

### Practice 54

> “A hand-me-down is usually passed on rather than commercially resold.”

「hand-me-down 通常是別人**傳給你使用**，不一定涉及買賣。」

So:

> hand-me-down ≠ second-hand purchase necessarily.

---

# AM. SECOND-HAND VS BORROWED

### **second-hand**

= ownership/use history.

### **borrowed**

= temporarily used but owned by someone else.

Borrowed item has not necessarily been bought second-hand.

---

# AN. SECOND-HAND INFORMATION VS RUMOUR

You have **rumour** as a later candidate.

### **second-hand information**

= information obtained indirectly.

### **rumour**

= unverified information circulating among people.

Second-hand information may be accurate and verified.

Rumour emphasizes:

> lack of confirmation.

Important distinction.

---

# AO. SECOND-HAND INFORMATION VS HEARSAY

## 33. **second-hand information vs hearsay**

### **second-hand information**

= broad indirect information.

### **hearsay**

= information learned from others rather than direct knowledge; also a specific legal evidence concept.

In ordinary English, hearsay often carries:

> unreliable/unverified connotation.

Second-hand is more neutral.

---

# AP. SECOND-HAND EXPERIENCE VS VICARIOUS EXPERIENCE

## 34. **second-hand experience vs vicarious experience**

### **second-hand experience**

= indirect understanding through another person/source.

### **vicarious experience**

= experience/emotion felt through observing or identifying with someone else.

Example:

> read about travel = second-hand experience > feel excitement through someone's adventure = vicarious experience

They overlap but are not identical.

# AQ. SECOND-HAND EMBARRASSMENT VS CRINGE

You curated **cringe** earlier.

**second-hand embarrassment****

= embarrassment felt because someone else is acting embarrassingly.

**cringe****

= recoil/embarrassment reaction itself.

You may:

> cringe because of second-hand embarrassment.

Excellent conceptual connection.

# AR. SECOND-HAND SMOKE VS SMOKE

**smoke****

= airborne material from burning.

**second-hand smoke****

= smoke breathed by someone other than the smoker.

The **second-hand** component indicates:

> indirect exposure.

---

# AS. SECOND-HAND AS “INDIRECT”

The figurative semantic bridge is very consistent:

goods:

> first owner → second owner

information:

> original source → second recipient

smoke:

> smoker → nearby non-smoker

embarrassment:

> embarrassing person → observer

The core metaphor is:

> **something reaches you through another person rather than directly/originally**

This is the major semantic network behind the word.

AT. FIRST-HAND / SECOND-HAND / THIRD-HAND

35. **third-hand = 經過多重轉述的；第三手的**

Less common but useful.

Practice 55

> “The information was third-hand and difficult to verify.”

「這些資料已經過多重轉述，屬於**第三手資料**，很難核實。」

Practice 56

> “By the time the story reached us, it was third-hand.”

「故事傳到我們這裡時，已經是**轉了幾手的消息**。」

Hierarchy:

> first-hand = direct > second-hand = from another source/person > third-hand = passed through more than one intermediary

---

# AU. SECOND-HAND — HYPHENATION

Important writing note:

Before a noun:

> second-hand car ✓

After verb / adverbially:

> “I bought it second-hand.” ✓

secondhand without hyphen is also common, especially AmE.

For consistency in formal BrE-style writing:

> second-hand

is very natural.

---

# AV. SECOND-HAND VS SECOND HAND

Important spelling distinction.

second-hand

= 二手的 / 間接的

second hand

= 時計上的秒針

Example:

> “The second hand moved around the clock.”

「鐘上的秒針轉動。」

Completely different.

Excellent MCQ spelling trap.

---

AW. SECOND HAND — CLOCK

36. **second hand = 秒針**

Practice 57

> “The **second hand** stopped moving.”

「**秒針**停止轉動。」

Practice 58

> “The red hand is the second hand.”

「紅色的指針是**秒針**。」

No hyphen because:

> second modifies hand literally.

---

AX. SECOND-HAND VS HAND

The word does **not** simply mean:

> “第二隻手”.

It is a lexicalized compound.

So:

> second-hand car

> ≠ second hand + car

Always interpret as:

> previously owned.

---

AY. “SECOND-HAND DEALER”

37. **second-hand dealer = 二手貨商；舊貨商**

Practice 59

> “The furniture was sold to a second-hand dealer.”

「傢俬賣給了一名**二手貨商**。」

### Practice 60

> “Second-hand dealers buy and resell used goods.”

「二手貨商會購入再轉售舊貨。」

For cars:

> used-car dealer

> is more idiomatic.

---

# AZ. SECOND-HAND VALUE

38. **second-hand value = 二手價值；二手市場價值**

### Practice 61

> “Good reliability can improve a car’s second-hand value.”

「良好可靠性可以提高汽車的**二手市場價值**。」

### Practice 62

> “Battery condition affects second-hand value.”

「電池狀況會影響**二手價值**。」

Often:

> resale value

> is more natural.

---

# BA. SECOND-HAND DEMAND

39. **second-hand demand = 二手市場需求**

### Practice 63

> “Strong second-hand demand supports resale prices.”

「強勁的**二手市場需求**有助支持轉售價格。」

### Practice 64

> “Second-hand demand varies by model.”

「不同車型的二手需求有所不同。」

---

# BB. SECOND-HAND SUPPLY

40. **second-hand supply = 二手供應；二手貨源**

### Practice 65

> “Second-hand supply remains limited.”

「**二手供應**仍然有限。」

### Practice 66

> “More leased vehicles will eventually enter the second-hand market.”

「更多租賃車輛最終會進入**二手市場**。」

---

# BC. SECOND-HAND ECONOMY

41. **second-hand economy = 二手經濟；二手商品經濟**

### Practice 67

> “Online platforms have expanded the second-hand economy.”

「網上平台擴大了**二手經濟**。」

### Practice 68

> “The second-hand economy encourages reuse.”

「二手經濟鼓勵物品重複使用。」

Modern business/sustainability term.

---

# BD. SECOND-HAND AS SUSTAINABILITY CONCEPT

Second-hand buying can be discussed in sustainability because it may:

- * extend product life
- * reduce demand for new production
- * encourage reuse

But **second-hand itself** simply means:

> previously owned.

It does **not** automatically mean:

> environmentally friendly.

That is a contextual inference, not part of the lexical definition.

---

# BE. "SECOND-HAND" DOES NOT NECESSARILY MEAN LOWER QUALITY

Important learner distinction.

second-hand

= previously owned

It does not necessarily mean:

- * damaged
- * poor-quality
- * very old
- * cheap

A nearly new premium car can still be:

> second-hand.

---

# BF. SECOND-HAND DOES NOT NECESSARILY MEAN CHEAP

Similarly:

A rare:

> second-hand watch

may cost more than many new watches.

So:

> second-hand = ownership history

> cheap = price level

Different concepts.

---

# BG. SECOND-HAND VS DAMAGED

**second-hand**

= previously used/owned.

**damaged**

= physically harmed.

A second-hand item may be in perfect condition.

---

# BH. SECOND-HAND VS WORN-OUT

**worn-out**

= heavily used and no longer in good condition.

**second-hand**

= no necessary condition judgement.

---

# BI. SECOND-HAND VS DEPRECIATED

**depreciated**

= has lost financial/accounting value.

**second-hand**

= previously owned.

Many second-hand cars have depreciated, but the concepts are different.

---

# BJ. SECOND-HAND PRICE VS ORIGINAL PRICE

**original/new-car price**

= amount when bought new.

**second-hand price**

= later used-market selling price.

The difference partly reflects:

- * depreciation
- * age
- * mileage
- * condition
- * demand
- * battery health

Highly relevant to your passage.

---

# BK. SECOND-HAND PRICE VS TRADE-IN VALUE

**second-hand price**

= used-market selling price broadly.

**trade-in value**

= amount dealer credits you when you exchange old vehicle toward another purchase.

Trade-in value is often lower than:

> retail second-hand sale price because dealer needs margin/cost coverage.

---

# BL. SECOND-HAND PRICE VS RESIDUAL VALUE

42. **residual value = 殘值 ; 期末剩餘價值**

**second-hand price**

= actual/current used-market price.

**residual value**

= estimated value remaining at future point, often used in:

* leases

* accounting

* financing

Relevant to EV economics.

---

# BM. SECOND-HAND PRICE VS DEPRECIATION

**second-hand price**

= market outcome.

**depreciation**

= loss of value over time.

Example:

> new price: $300,000

> second-hand price later: $180,000

> depreciation: $120,000

Different but closely connected.

---

# BN. SOURCE-PASSAGE NUANCE

Your passage says:

> “Unlike petrol cars, whose running costs and **second-hand prices** are familiar, electric vehicles are still seen by many as machines with hidden risks.”

The writer means that consumers have:

- * more historical experience
- * more market data
- * more familiarity with used petrol-car values.

For EVs, buyers may be less certain about:

- * battery degradation
- * resale demand
- * future repair costs

So **second-hand prices** here are functioning as a symbol of:

> **resale-market predictability and consumer confidence.****

---

# BO. CORE SEMANTIC MAP

The word has two major core branches:

### 1. Previously owned

- > second-hand car
- > second-hand furniture

### 2. Indirectly obtained/experienced

- > second-hand information
- > second-hand experience
- > second-hand embarrassment

These are connected by one underlying concept:

> **not reaching you from the original source/first owner directly, but through another person first****

Then several fixed extensions develop:

- > second-hand smoke
- > second-hand embarrassment
- > second-hand trauma

So this is a beautiful example where physical resale and abstract indirectness share a strong conceptual core.
